

Weekend In Review—The Community In Pictures

UNC HOMECOMING DISPLAY—The Kappa Delta Sorority provided a traffic stopper on East Franklin Street on Saturday morning with their Homecoming display featuring a two-story cut-out of Little Lulu and her traditional playmate, Tubby—in this case typifying the Maryland team under the caption "Wipe 'Em Out!" News Leader Photo

WINNING DISPLAY—Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity's $64,000 quiz program display, a layout featuring a terrapin (in booth) quizzing the Carolina ram contestant, and accompanied by a sound recording, won first place in the fraternities division of the Homecoming display contest.

AT SMITH DORMITORY—Winner in the women's dormitory division of the UNC Homecoming contest was the unique get-up in front of Smith, featuring Carolina's Ram on the playing field and his fill of Terrapin Soup from the upturned vessel of the Maryland mascot. News Leader Photo

MARILYN AND MARYLAND—The boys in Old West dormitory provided an eye-catching Homecoming display with this layout of Marilyn Monroe and the old Tar Heel, Terrapin in hand, bound to "Strip Marilyn." Winner of the display competition for the men's dormitories was Cobb. News Leader Photo

BUSY PI PHIS—Coeds at the Pi Beta Phi sorority on Hillsboro Street were busy all day Friday setting up their Homecoming display, featuring a comic terrapin and Carolina's ram on a miniature playing field. Their pains paid off as the set-up won first place in the sorority division of the display contest. Photo by R. B. Henley

A NEW MASCOT—Bushy Coelt turned up with a new member of the Carolina team when he arrived at the Carolina Mall on Saturday. It was his nephew, shown above astride Ram. Photo by R. B. Henley

HOSS CHASER AND HOSS—Albert Williams, 12-year-old pursuer of Pete Farrar's runaway horse, gingerly gives the steed a pat. The animal bolted from his barn on Main Street Thursday afternoon and led his owner on a spirited chase down West Rosemary and through Sunset before he would be taken. News Leader Photo

GETTING THAT HOMECOMING SPIRIT—A goodly crowd of Tar Heel student rooters started off the Homecoming weekend in a noisy manner on Friday night with a parade downtown (above) around to the "Y" Court on the campus. Head Cheerleader Collie Collison and his assistants are shown (right) leading cheers on the

ledge of the "Y" building. Carolina students believe the boys from Duke slipped into the campus early Friday evening and set off their pep rally bonfire early. Following their rally here a throng from UNC drove over to Duke where they put on a cheering exhibition in front of the Duke Chapel. Photos by R. B. Henley

COMBINED AMERICAN AND BRITISH forces plane Scottish waters in an operation at the time of the Sicilian of World War II. The watercolor painting is part of a series of works which Navy artists drew during combat and will be on display at the Morehead Building this Friday and Saturday.

IN LINCOLN HOMECOMING PARADE—Peggy Vickers graced the music department float in the Lincoln High School Homecoming parade on Friday afternoon. The float was a runner-up in the parade competition. Three bands and 17 floats were entered in the parade, which had a two-and-one-half mile route through Chapel Hill and Carrboro. News Leader Photo

PARADE DOWNTOWN—Friday afternoon's Lincoln High School homecoming parade, consisting of three bands and 17 floats, is shown rounding the main corner in downtown Chapel Hill, heading out West Franklin Street. In the foreground is the float entry of Northside Elementary School, followed by the convertible in which Miss Lincoln High is riding, and the Lincoln marching band. News Leader Photo

QUEEN ON HER FLOAT—Parthenia Sellers, Miss Junior High, is shown on the Junior High float in Friday afternoon's Lincoln High Homecoming parade. Her attendants, shown above, are Barbara Marshall (left), and Kozi Pendergraft (center.) News Leader Photo