AAUW Hears Robert Humber; Presents Check

Speaking before the October meeting of the Chapel Hill Branch of AAUW, Robert Humber of the executive committee of the North Carolina Art Society, reported that the art collection purchased with funds appropriated by the General Assembly consists of originals by old masters with all eight schools being generously represented. He also reported that the State Museum has the greatest collection of Rubens in North America.

During the meeting Mrs. Earl Wynn, president of the local branch, presented a check from the Carrie Heath Schwenning Scholarship fund to Miss Bryan Bowman, who is working toward the M.A. degree in Zoology. This scholarship is awarded annually to a woman graduate student at UNC.

Special guests of the evening were members of the North Carolina Art Society and the Chapel Hill Art Guild.

Public Invited To See New Ledbetter-Pickard

A number of valuable merchandise gifts will be given away by Ledbetter-Pickard Company this Saturday noon when a drawing will be held as the climax of the store's "Get Acquainted Days" this week to show off the new store to their friends here.

The public is invited to inspect the newly-remodeled store on East Franklin Street this week and to register in the drawing for the many free gifts which are on display at the front of the sales floor. Ledbetter-Pickard has been in continuous operation here since 1932.

Tar Heel beef cattlemen will have the opportunity to sell fat cattle at 13 fat cattle sales next year.

Calvander Notes

Those recovering from recent colds are Mrs. Russell Lloyd, Mrs. Everett Blackwood and Brodie Lloyd.

Mrs. Henry Hogan visited Sunday with her 86-year-old uncle Fank Baldwin who lives near Apex.

Friends of Mrs. Lizzie Blackwood will be sorry to hear that she has been ill for the past several days.

Mrs. Arthur Lloyd's father, Carl Edwards, who is still confined to Memorial Hospital, was feeling better at last report.

Mrs. Margaret Tatum of Sanford was a guest of Mrs. Floyd Siler on Sunday.

Out-of-town visitors to Mrs. Lizzie Blackwood on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Blackwood, Mrs. Regie Collier, Miss Ruth Collier and Mrs. Minnie Collier, all of Durham, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Myers of Hillsboro.

Several from the community visited the State Fair at Raleigh and found it most enjoyable because of the wonderful weather that prevailed.
