How The Village Cooks

By MRS. MARK HANNA

What could be more friendly or more in the Christmas spirit than to have your neighbors in for a morning coffee or coke party? Here, in the second of our "Come to a Party" series, we have the perfect menu for such an occasion.

Mrs. Crowell Little has compiled some delicious ideas and helpful hints in the Carolina Cooking. And speaking of the cookbook, have you thought of what a fine Christmas gift it will make? It is on sale at many local stores and may be obtained from any Junior Service League member for $1.50.

Menu: Chicken salad toast cups, or chicken salad sandwiches, cheese dates, or cheese straws, party-rye sandwiches, butter-nut cookies, thin chocolate mints, coffee or coca-colas.

Hints: "I try to keep the food simple and in small pieces. This facilitates both serving and eating," says Mrs. Little.

Butter-nut Cookies

1/2 cup butter 1 egg separated
1 cup sugar 2 tsp. vanilla
2 cups flour 1 cup pecans

Cream butter well, add sugar and mix well, add sifted flour, add egg yolk which has been broken and the vanilla. Divide dough in half. Spread as thinly as possible on two sheet pans, Sprinkle finely cut nuts onto over the top with egg white. dough and press down with hand. Bake at 325 degrees 25 to 30 minutes. Cut at once into squares. Makes four to five dozen cookies.
