over satin was fashioned with long sleeves pointed over the hands and an appliqued neckline of lace wedding bells. The full skirt ended in a chapel train. Her tulle veil was attached to a lace Juliet cap embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a white orchid with sprays of stephanotis on a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. James C. Pope of Charlotte, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore light blue net over matching taffeta and carried a colonial nosegay of red carnations. Miss Irene Covington of Fayetteville, wearing gown identical to that of the matron of honor, was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids, both of whom wore dresses like those of the honor attendants, were Mrs. David Covington, sister-in-law of the bride, of Rockingham, and Miss Jean Beber of Charlotte.

Daniel Ruff, Jr., of Columbia, South Carolina, was his brother's best man.

The bride's mother wore a costume of light pink lace, navy accessories and a corsage of white roses. For her son's wedding Mrs. Ruff wore a dress of light blue lace with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

For the wedding trip, the bride was wearing a blue suit, navy and red accessories and the orchid lifted from her bridal flowers.

A cake cutting given by the bride's parents was held immediately after the wedding rehearsal Saturday night in the church social hall. Miss Ballew Becomes Bride Of Dental Student At UNC

In an afternoon wedding held yesterday at 4 o'clock in the Tryon Baptist Church, Miss Sarah Jane Ballew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Gillette Ballew, of Tryon, became the bride of Walter Samuel O'Berry, son of George Otis O'Berry, of Harrellsville, and the late Mrs. O'Berry. The Rev. Henry O. Hearn officiated at the double-ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Melvin Higgs, organist, and Miss Louise Knight, vocalist.

After December 26 the couple will make their home at 412 Westwood Drive, Chapel Hill, where Mr. O'Berry, a graduate of Elon College, is a second year dental student.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin bodice, designed with long sleeves tapering to points over the hands, mandarin neckline and accordion pleated tulle yoke. The skirt of tulle and lace ended in a chapel train. The fingertip veil was attached to a lace half-hat embro-dered with sequins and seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with an orchid.

Mrs. J. A. Moore, of Westfield, Massachusetts, sister of the bride and only attendant wore a ballerina length dress of dark green luminous velveteen, a green bandeau of velveteen leaves and white muff with attached pointsettia.

Robert F. O'Berry of Ahsokie was his brother's best man. Ushers were Philip R. Mann of Cypress of Harrellsville, James Forrest Ballew, cousin of the bride, of Tryon, and James Stephen Ballew, brother of the bride, of Tryon.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ballew wore an afternoon dress of blue faille and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. O'Berry, stepmother of the bridegroom, was wearing Dior blue lace over taffeta. Her flowers were gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony the parents of the bride en-

Christmas Seal Sales Started By Danes Half-Century Ago

For years we have been putting Christmas Seals on our holiday cards and packages. The design changes every year, but the purpose is the same ... to fight TB! Have you ever wondered about the origin of these seals? The first Christmas Seal was the inspiration of Einar Holboell, a postal clerk in Copenhagen. The first seals appeared in 1904. The seals found their way to America and attracted the attention of Jacob Riis who wrote an article about them. Few people, however, were interested in them. In 1907, Emily Bissell, a public health worker, concerned about the fate of a small sanatorium, recalled the article and sat down to sketch America's first Christmas Seal. She was aided by a columnist on a Philadelphia newspaper in promoting them and the idea became successful.

Today, sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association, the seals are sold to promote education, research and case-finding in the fight against tuberculosis. Remember to buy and use your seals this year!

Give The Home A Festive Air With Greenery

You don't have to spend any money to make your home festive for the Christmas season. Give your home a seasonal decor by using evergreens, berries, seed pods and pine cones, recommends Pauline Gordon, State College extension house furnishings specialist.

Use sprays for making table arrangements or for decorating your mantel. To make sprays all you need are evergreens, short lengths of wire, berries, balls bows or bells. Arrange pieces of evergreen in a desirable position, wire in place, add other pieces and wire. When the evergreens are arranged in a satisfactory spray, add the decorations.

Magnolia leaves sprinkled with artificial snow also make effective Christmas arrangements. Put a little vegetable oil on a cloth and rub each leaf. According to Miss Gordon, the oil will give a lovely sheen to the leaf. To make artificial snow stick to a magnolia leaf, put liquid white shoe polish down the center vein and on the edges of the leaf. Then sprinkle artificial snow over the leaf while the polish is wet. To make artificial snow stick on a Christmas tree, Miss Gordon suggests brushing the branches with a starch paste and sprinkling the tree with snow while the paste is still wet.

To make a wreath, use a wire hoop or coat hanger which has been bent into a circle. Wire pine needles to the hoop with short pieces of wire. Keep adding pine needles until you have a foundation wreath that's at least two inches in diameter.

maintained at a reception in the church parlor.

Mrs. O'Berry, who was graduated from Tryon High School and the X-Ray Technology School of Greenville General Hospital, South Carolina, is employed as a technician in Durham. He is a member of Psi Omega dental fraternity.
