

Pianist Open Tuesday Series Tomorrow

WILSON NEWMAN WILTON MASON

The University Music Department opens its Tuesday Evening Series tomorrow with a joint recital by faculty pianists William S. Newman and Wilton Mason.

The program which is open to the public at no charge will be in Hill Hall on the campus at 8 p.m.

Although two-piano recitals are often heard in the music world there has been no such program of this sort in Chapel Hill during the past 12 years. For this reason the artists are playing three of the main masterworks originally composed for two pianos.

The program will open with Brahms' Variation on a Theme by Joseph Haydn. This is a work which Brahms made a favorite in an orchestral setting, the theme being the familiar Saint Anthony Chorale.

Second on the program is Mozart's three-movement Sonata in D, one of his most sparkling piano works. Last is Rachmaninoff's Suite No. 2, written about the time and with much of the flavor of his popular Second Piano Concerto.

Professor Newman, nationally known pianist, teacher, and author, has appeared in main centers throughout the country as recitalist and soloist with orchestras. He is chairman of piano instruction and gives courses in music appreciation and graduate musicology at the University.

Professor Mason, well known as pianist and composer, teaches music history and directs the University Chorus. He has produced numerous operas and musical comedies. Frequently he has served as accompanist on tour with singers of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Chapter Party Is Scheduled By Sorority

Plans for a Chapter Party and a Guest Day were made in last week's meeting of Beta Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

The Chapter Party is planned for tomorrow, and Guest Day will be held next Tuesday, Oct. 7. Both functions are for the purpose of introducing young women of the community to Beta Sigma Phi, an international organization for business women and homemakers.

The organization has cultural interests as well as community service and social functions. Its membership totals 135,000, with 6,000 chapters over the world.

Officers for this year are Mrs. George Tracy, president; Miss Mary Calloway, vice president; Mrs. Charles Hodson, treasurer; Miss Mary Dryden, recording secretary; and Miss Eva Mae Hill, corresponding secretary.

The couple is making their home on the Durham Rd.

Annual Fashion Show Tuesday Said 'Practically A Sellout'

Fall fashions will take the spotlight tomorrow at the School Art Guild's fashion show-luncheon to be held at the Carolina Inn at noon.

Tickets have been "practically a sell-out," according to Mrs. John Thibaut, Guild member.

Proceeds from the show will go to further the art program in Chapel Hill schools. Since 1950 the Guild has contributed over $6500 to this program.

Furs, coats, suits, dresses and accessories, all from Montaldo's of Durham, will be featured. Eleven Chapel Hill models, with Mrs. William Sprunt as commentator, will present the current styles.

Lawrence W. Newman is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Kay Kyser is liaison chairman of the models.

Modeling will be Miss Margaret Carmichael, Mrs. Orville Campbell, Mrs. J. L. Connors, Mrs. Robert Harriss, Mrs. Roy Holsten, Mrs. Carter Burns, Mrs. William Noland, Mrs. Marvin Evans, Ms. Fitzgerald Hudson, Mrs. Rolfe Glover and Mrs. William Stagg.

How The Village Cooks

By EDITH MacKINNON

MRS. PEACOCK

Now that cool days are here—we hope to stay—ideas for menus can turn to something for crisp fall days. And around this football-conscious town, what about something special for after the game? For a dish that's always a favorite, Mrs. Erle Peacock Sr. has a recipe which she says is "just a little different." Barbecued chicken is not only easy to fix, but guaranteed to satisfy those big appetites whetted by "fighting out" that game.

- 2 large fryers (cut)
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 2 tbs. flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 to 1 tsp. chili powder
- 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 2 tbs. Worcestershire dash tobasco
- 3 tbs. hot water

Broiler-Barbecued Chicken

Heat oven to 300 degrees. Place chicken in broiler pan, with meat side up. Sprinkle with 1 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. pepper. Cover tightly with aluminum foil.

Bake two hours. Don't peek, Mrs. Peacock warns.

Meanwhile, in double boiler, melt butter. Stir in sugar mixed with next five ingredients, then vinegar and next three ingredients. Cook, stirring until thickened. Keep hot.

About 15 minutes before serving, start heating broiler. In the last five minutes brush chicken with thick coat of sauce. Broil two or three minutes, or until glazed.

During the dinner, extra sauce may be passed. Makes eight servings.

And the results are an ever-popular favorite, with a slightly different flavor.
