Judge Webb Refers Case To Draft Board For Consideration

(Shelby Star) Glenn Richard Self, of Gastonia who claims to be a member of the sect Jehovah's Witnesses, scheduled for trial today before Judge E. Yates Webb in United States District Court for evading orders of his selective service board, was in conference with his attorneys, court officials and members of the Lincoln county draft board looking towards a possible re-classification, this afternoon.

Judge Webb, after the case had been called for trial this morning, ordered the district attorney to have the Lincoln draft board review a re cent order of General J. Van B Metts, which tends to give members of this religious sect advantage of a reclassification even if they are not listed as ministers by members of the church. District Attorney Lamar Caudle insisted on trial, saying that the case has been threshed out nu merous times by the draft board that this board has already classed
