Movement For Employment Of Physically Handicapped Shows Gains In 10 Years

(Contributed)

Ten years is not a particularly long time in the life of a Nation. Yet, in the last 10 years the movement for employment of the physically handicapped has gained such impetus that generations of Americans yet unborn will someday reap the benefits of the pioneering work of the past decade.

From October 3 to 9 this year we will observe the 10th celebration of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, a week set aside annually since 1945 by the Congress in a truly American manner and given Presidential endorsement through an appropriate Proclamation.

As good citizens we are generally agreed that employment of the Handicapped is a good thing. But, as busy men and women, we use modern promotional and educational means to dramatize the cause for which we all work the year-round, hence the "Week" and the existence of Governors' and community committees.

As with most noble objectives, being in favor of hiring the handicapped is not sufficient; we must also do something about it. This Program Guide suggests certain ways in which individuals and groups can do something about rehabilitation and employment of the physically handicapped.

Unfortunately, these 10 years have added heavily to the ranks of the handicapped. Modern man, who has increased our life span through medical science and the control or cure of diseases and disabilities once considered fatal, has not been able to prevent the wounds of World War II and Korea or the industrial, highway and home accidents of a 60 mile-an-hour civilization. As our population increases, so, too, does the total number of handicapped men, women and children in our country.

These men, women and children are our most priceless assets, and, should a major armed conflict be forced upon us, our citizen-power will become even more vital. The handicapped might well mean the difference between survival or defeat in a conflict with a foe numerically far superior to us and our allies.

To a communist, the individual means nothing. To a free man, the individual is possessed of dignity and an eternal destiny. For this reason, aside from the economic and social realities involved, it is incumbent upon all good citizens to strive to increase employment opportunities for those qualified handicapped men and women among us who seek only work and a chance to play their part in the drama of life.

A picnic dinner was served under the big trees in the front yard a three tiered birthday cake occupying the center of the table. After dinner music was furnished by the Harmony Quartet, consisting of Russell Lockman, Loy McConnell, Ralph McConnell and Gaither Lawing.

Children of the couple present, with their families, were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McAlister, Sherrill's Ford; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McConnell, Lincolnton county, Mr. and Mrs. Yates McConnell, Boger City; Mr. and Mrs. Loy McConnell, City; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McConnell, Lincolnton; and Mrs. Eugene McConnell, Crouse.

Relatives and friends present included Mr. and Mrs. Grier Jenkins and family, Gastonia; Mr. and Mrs. Loy McConnell, Cornelius; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. White, Boger City; Mr. and Mrs. Abner McConnell, Mooresville; Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Little, Charlotte; Mrs. Debbie McConnell, Cornelius; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Combs, City; Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Link, Iron Station; Gaither Lawing, Lincolnton; Rev. and Mrs. N. L. Oliver, Lincolnton; Rev. and Mrs. Rayle, Boger City; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Self, Lincolnton; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Saunders, Miss Gladys Saunders, Boger City; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Weathers, Lincolnton; Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Little, Boger City; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Hall Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Webster, Mrs. Jake Avery, Crouse; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lockman.

DON'T DO IT! ... With cooler weather in the offing (calendar says Fall began Tuesday), local folk will be having their oil drums filled up as a precaution against an unexpected cold snap which induces this reminder: Don't be as careless as that Burlington citizen, who used a paper torch in searching for a leak around one of his oil drums—an explosion resulting later, setting fire to his home. Luckily, the man wasn't beside the drum at the time ... but inside his house.

POLITICS ... You can hear more politics talked around the town corners and county areas now than the rival Democrats and Republicans plot their vote-soliciting strategy for the stretch month—October ... How well the two parties have brought together the split factions within their ranks isn't being publicized, but the politicians know the harmony they desire hasn't been what they'd like it to be—so, there's a lot of wooing of the "strays" back into the fold ... Baptists To Report On Sunday School Enrollment Drive At Annual Sessions Oct. 7, 8

A campaign to reach a total enrollment of 20,000 Sunday School pupils throughout the South Fork Baptist Association came to a close August 31. The Association holds her 76th annual session October 7 and 8 at Mountain View and Amity churches, respectively. At these meetings a report will be made on the results of this campaign. Church statistics and directories already are coming in to the associational clerk. Rev. Fritz D. Hemphill of Hickory, provided in letter form from each of the churches. From these he will prepare a mimeographed digest to be distributed among the messengers the first morning.

The overall goal for the entire Southern Baptist Convention is a net gain of one million Sunday School pupils. This represents about a twenty per cent increase. The South Fork goal is about the same proportion. Housing this increase has prompted a new wave of building though many of these churches have done extensive building in the last five years.

In this year subject to report, the following churches have built anew, renovated their buildings, built annexes, or otherwise arranged for more teaching space, or they are either in the process of doing this or they are actively planning such work: in or near Hickory—the First Church, West Hickory, Viewmont, Highland, Penelope, Calvary, Temple, Sandy Ridge, Mountain Grove, and Warlick's; in or near Newton—the First Church, North Newton, and Claremont;

In Lincoln county—Reepsville, Gainsville, Craig Memorial, Mount Zion, and Boger City.

The Conover Church has a mission at Startown and the Sandy Ridge mission has been organized into Orama Church. Highland Church also has a mission.

The expansion of Sunday School enrollment leads the way for the 1955 evangelistic drive which is another subject to be featured in the annual meetings at Mountain View and Amity churches. This matter will be presented by Rev. R. K. Benfield, pastor of the First Church in Hickory, and chairman of the evangelistic steering committee. He will direct the 1955 evangelistic crusade which is hoped to include all the Baptist churches in Catawba and Lincoln counties. At the close of his report Rev. Mr. Benfield will present Rev. C. C. Holland of Statesville, former pastor of Viewmont Church, who will bring a message on evangelism. Dr. J. C. Canipe, State superintendent of evangelism, will be present also.

Other divisions of work to be reported of outstanding concern are: stewardship, as reflected in the financial reports; the training program of the churches with anticipated new high records for textbooks studied in schools of five days each; mission and benevolent activities of the convention which are supported through churches; Christian education, publications, and other subjects. It appears that many new records will be set in the various reports of combined church activities.

Rev. L. A. McClure, pastor of Mountain View Church, and Rev. Harvey Laughter, pastor of Amity Church, are leading their congregations in thorough preparation to entertain the sixty-four churches of this Association and perhaps the three new churches seeking admittance.

Machines certainly help a man turn out more work

"Look, Joe, I'm making these lamps in my spare time."
"Swell job, Jim. But these tools must have cost you plenty."
"Yes, I've put over $800 into them, but soon my hobby will be paying me a good profit."
"I guess those machines we have at the plant cost a lot of money, too."
"Right, I've read that it costs a manufacturer about $12,000 per worker for tools and equipment to provide jobs like ours."
"That's quite an investment, isn't it?"
"You bet it is! But these modern machines help us turn out our product at less cost per piece—that means our company can sell at lower prices and more people can buy from us."
"And when the company does more business and makes a profit, our jobs are more secure, aren't they?"
"Right again, Joe. It takes sales and profits to provide new machinery, higher wages for us, and more jobs for other people. The better we produce the more all of us benefit—and modern machinery helps us to increase our output."
