

THE DAILY WORKMAN.

J. S. MICHAUX, Local Editor

A paper for all people, but especially to meet the desire which many are known to entertain for a non-political sheet, the WORKMAN will strive to go into every house, leaving to other papers the scene of politics, giving the news in brief and holding itself responsible to the moral sense of the community for its utterances.

For the DAILY WORKMAN.

OUR INSTITUTE.

(CONCLUDED FROM SATURDAY.)

Some of us have prided ourselves upon our oral spelling, and the facility with which our pupils could spell difficult words. Now we are told this is no spelling at all, that writing the word is alone spelling. Here again we are fundamentally wrong. What are we to do? We must do something; the foundations are removed. Are we to use the battering-ram and by a rapid use of it destroy and lay in the dust all we have done and begin all anew? Won't the school house soon be put out the window at this rate and the teacher with it? Will commissioners and parents and friendly advisers submit to this levelling process? No, it will not do. We must improve but not destroy "festina lente," hasten slowly; little by little we must inaugurate these changes and very carefully and judiciously then, or we will have the community about our ears—a spelling book regiment that would soon snow us under. As teachers of Guilford the question is before us and must be met. Let us think the matter over and conclude and go to work. Other schools in our own State have radically changed, and we must, sooner or later. The very persons who fight the system now, will be fighting us next year if we do not prepare the way to adopt it. "The world do move;" times change and we must change with them. Therefore I advise that we as an institute start in each of our schools the "new education." Another thing we must do is to attend to the subject of Physiology and Hygiene in our schools. We have no option in this. It is a branch of study, and the teachers are doing well to attend carefully Prof. Holt's lectures. All the books on teaching recommend judicious physical culture, wholesome exercise of the body along with the mind. Do we see to this? Is it habitual in my school to have calisthenic exercises and proper out-door sports? If not let this be attended to. Prof. Holt gave us a lecture on how to secure prompt attendance at our schools, and the most efficient way was by marking the pupil on each recitation.

Let us try too. We want our pupils to attend. There is no marked progress without prompt attendance, unless we put into practice in our individual schools the best things we hear from those who are considered our best teachers, unless we "learn to do a thing by doing it." our institute is worthless—we had better be at home. Certainly every teacher who has attended this institute ought to be a far better teacher next year than he ever was before. We have two practical teachers as our leaders in this institute whose success as teachers is the school each has built up. For a week steadily they have given us their way of doing things, and still for another week this opportunity will be offered the teachers of Guilford county to gain from the living teacher what they can not get in any other way. Let us improve these privileges, let us go on to perfection. So much for the work to be done. Who are the make up of our Institute. Well we have 44 members on the roll and some eight or ten who roll so much we can't get them on. You call to mind the sheep counting, and the active black one, if we could poll the rollers we would number over 50. That leaves over 50 teachers in Guilford who have no part nor lot in this matter. I would recommend one of our leaders to take hold of this matter. We have a "Bachelor" who is not a bachelor but a maid, and if the grammar teacher can explain this paradox by "Read and Kellogg" we will follow his lead, otherwise we call for the "new education," and more light.

"But, good my brother, Do not, as some ungracious pastors do, Show me the steep and thorny way to heaven;

Himself the primrose path of dalliance treads, And recks not his own read."

—Hamlet-Shakespeare.
Some persons are of value in one particular and not in another. Some in head, some in physical development. Our Institute presents with pride a "perfect woman nobly planned," who is all Worth, and worth all. She denies that there are 108 bones in the human skeleton and affirms that there are 208, and we say her answer is worthy of her and is the naked truth.

We have Scales to keep us well balanced. Caldwell, which is very well, as hot as it is sometimes; this member will act as a sort of check upon our July Thermometer climbing high among the nineties and endeavoring to boil over. Then we have "Anthony," not "anthony over"—"take her," but Miss Anthony don't mistake her. Further down Sherwood and Woody fuel, to keep up to "White heat," as recommended by Prof. Holt in conducting recitations, and if these two don't make the fire hot, we will add three or four Smiths, who are always good at blowing up a fire at somebody else's expense. And now we have partially photographed "Our Institute." Look on this side then on that of the picture. Don't fall out by the way. Keep as cool as you can. Worry kills more people than work, therefore work harder and worry softer. An old experienced teacher said, when he found himself getting worried and excited at a pupil he just dropped into his chair and laughed a half a minute as hard and loud as he could, and it cured him. Try it. I suspect it will cure you. Think of our work and we have no time for worry; the time is short. "Whatever you do, do with your might." I recall one of our number last year who is with us to-day. He was my friend and associate. Let me lay a wreath upon his grave. Mature, cultured and scholarly, he came among us to help in the great work in which we are engaged. He entered with zeal into the work. He was affable and kind, and cordial, and sympathizing with his teachers. He was fast leading his own special department up to higher plains and broader views, and this influence was reacting upon all the departments. Superadded to all these influences, his humble, faithful, earnest life as a Christian worker, harmonized and moulded and mellowed all his attainments into the one great effort to serve his Lord and do good. Such a life is a constant preparation and the only fitting preparation for death. And our friend and brother in the midst of life, in the midst of usefulness, right in his room before his school and classes, with armor on, is stricken down and passes out from his work to a bed of weakness, and then away to the "rest that remaineth." I have called to your minds and memory our friend and brother, Prof. W. C. Doub. "Be ye also ready."

"Servant of God, well done!
Rest from thy love I employ:
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy."

"The pains of death are past;
Labor and sorrow cease:
And life's long warfare closed at last,
His soul is found in peace."

"Soldier of Christ, will done!
Praise be thy new employ:
And while eternal ages run,
Rest in thy Saviour's joy!"

Talking Rock is the name of a Georgia Post-Office. The name is said to have originated in this way:—Some one discovered in the vicinity a large stone upon which had been painted the words "Turn me over." It required considerable strength to accomplish this, and when it was done the command, "Now turn me back, and let me fool some one else," was found painted on the under side of the stone.

Many a man put in the seed who never saw the harvest, just as many another brought home ripe sheaves on which he bestowed no labor save that of the sickle. The worker for Christ, therefore, is to work in faith, expecting the divine hand to secure the result. He has abundant reason to believe that good is done of which he has no knowledge, and will have none until that great day.—J. W. Chambers.

Hold fast to the present. Every position, every moment of life, is of unspeakable value as the representative of a whole eternity.—Goethe.
