

THE DAILY WORKMAN.

J. S. MICHAUX, Local Editor.

A paper for all people, but espe ally to meet the desire which ma re known to entertain for a non-political sheet, the WORKMAN will strive to go into every house, leaving to other papers the science of politics, giving the news in brief and holding itself responsible to the moral sense of the community for its utterances.

the farmer works hard all day hauling wood to town, and gets a fair price for his wood the amount is only what is paid for a team for the same time, and leaves not a cent for the wood! And we would like to know what farmer would not in process of time give away all his wood and have nothing to show for it? If the Farmers' Alliance can institute and carry out a system of good roads through the country, the way of success for them in any just or reasonable undertaking will be fairly open. We invite their attention to this great question.

MARRIED.—At New Garden, N. C., on March 15th, Mr. J. A. Wyrick to Miss Mollie Melyin. Rev. Albert Peele, officiating, both of Pomona, Guilford county, N. C.

Mrs. T. H. Thompson of New Orleans, who was among the wounded in the Hurricane Creek disaster, died at Waycross, Ga., last Friday night. This makes a total of twenty two deaths.

The period of teething is the most dangerous to young children. They should then have extra attendance and occasional doses of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup.

The purity of the ingredients and the accuracy of the combination in Laxador, coupled with the important fact that it is free from any deleterious substance, is a strong argument for its adoption as the remedy for all diseases of the liver. Price 25 cents.

Worth Knowing. Mr. W. H. Morgan, merchant, Lake City, Fla., was taken with a severe cold attended with a distressing cough and running into consumption in its first stages. He tried many so called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse. And he was reduced in flesh, had difficulty in breathing and was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using about a half dozen bottles found himself well and has had no return of the disease. No other remedy can show so grand a record of cures as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which is guaranteed to do just what is claimed for it. Trial bottle free at Hunter & Michaux's Drug Store.

The Greatest Passion. (Anonymous.) "They talk of avarice, lust, ambition, as great passions. It is a mistake. They are little passions. Vanity is the great commanding passion of them all. This excites the most heroic deeds and impels to the most dreadful crimes. Save me from this passion, and I can defy the others. "They are mere ur-chins; but this is a giant," Sheridan said. In other words, selfishness, the root of vanity, is the parent of all sin. If by some magic touch-stone this greatest passion could be made to appear in its own true character in the lives of men, what a stripping of laurels there would be! Too often the hero would seem a selfish monster, slaying to achieve glory and fame; the philanthropist would become a cunning schemer, sacrificing to be advertised; the Christian would be revealed as serving God to win the praise of men. How many eloquent sermons, thrilling testimonies and fervid prayers this passion inspires! It is the devil's most delusive weapon with which to ruin souls. Piety which is not devoid of vanity is impiety. Sincerity and selfishness are the primal principles of the Christian life. He who seeks to conquer every passion will daily offer the prayer: "Remove far from me vanity and lies, and make me unselfish and true."

Noticing the inadequacy of the punishment meted out to certain classes of offenders, particularly wife beaters, the New York Herald pathetically says: "Sometimes we have a longing for the whipping post of our fathers. The sole objection to this mode of punishment, which is admitted to be effectual is a sentimental one, and it is about time that the sentimentality which is so often displayed in favor of criminals was severely set down upon.—Norfolk Ledger.

Renews Her Youth. Mrs. Phoebe Chesby, Patterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouchsafed for by the residents of the town: "I am 78 years old and have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years, could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from pain and weakness, and am able to do all my own household work. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all diseases and pain." Try a bottle, only 25c and $1, to be at Hunter & Michaux's Drug Store.

If any person makes a proposition to hold a fair, or festival, or bazaar, or broom-drill, or any other worldly device for getting money for the church this winter, move to amend by substituting a protracted meeting for the preaching of the gospel to sinners.—G. F. Pentecost.

It is not generally known that the co-education of the sexes is carried on without limitation in the University of Texas. The young men and young women are admitted to the same classes in every department, and are eligible to degrees and honors without exception.

ONLY

a small number of the great army of buyers can take time to keep thoroughly posted as to the prices and values of the many lines of goods sold by the big mercantile establishments of this progressive age, and the great majority of buyers must depend more or less upon what the merchant tells them about the value and wearing qualities of the goods he sells. And this is great reason why people prefer to trade with a house which charges everybody exactly the same price and guarantees every article sold to be exactly what it is represented to be. Those who are not posted as to prices at least have the satisfaction of knowing that they buy goods as low as anybody else can, and children or servants can be sent for goods without any fears that advantage will be taken of their inexperience. The

we mark on our goods in plain figures is made as low as possible and we take the greatest care to secure goods which we can recommend and guarantee to our customers. To meet the demands of the trade we are obliged to carry a certain quantity of low grade goods, but our advice to customers is always to buy good goods, the lowest priced goods are not always the cheapest in the long run. Our facilities for buying goods in large quantities from manufacturers and importers enable us to place good and reliable goods within reach of at very reasonable prices. The sum total of our sales is so great that we can afford to sell goods for very short profits, and we do substantially a cash business and do not have to put on an extra profit to make up for the loss of a lot of bad debts every year. These are facts worth taking into consideration in deciding where to make your purchases for the Spring and Summer.

FOR
