The Daily Workman.

Vol. 6. Greensboro, N. C., Tuesday, June 26, 1888. No. 25.

The Wilmington Star quotes in full what the Daily Workman said of Capt. Baldy Williams but credits it to the Patriot.

Mr. Millis, of High Point, one of the county Commissioners, and Mr. Harper Johnson, of Jamestown, was here this morning.

Prof. R. A. Ford, Superintendent of the Greensboro White Graduated School, went down to Morehead City on yesterday morning.

Mrs. Cator, who accompanied Mrs. Holt to Mount Airy last Saturday, did not return until this morning. Mrs. Holt returned yesterday.

Our young friend John W. Merritt, gave us a call this morning. He is getting ready to start in a few days on his regular visit to his customers.

Morehead Gray and a Miss Jones from Virginia were among the passengers from Mt Airy yesterday whose names we omitted from the list published.

Do not fail to attend the Gypsy Quartette concert on next Thursday night. It is under the same management as the Boston Star Concert Co., and is, no doubt, a company of great merit. The press speak in terms of praise of the performers.

Time was when we were admonished to say "warm," not "hot," weather, but the time has come when the word hot is, needed to do justice to the subject. O for a sprinkle planted at the North pole and with capacity to reach and refresh us all.

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.—The convention which adjourned at Chicago yesterday evening was similar as to length to the Republican Convention of 1880, which was in session six whole days. Considering the greatness of the heat, and the excited condition of delegates' minds, the session must have been an immense burden on its members.

The July ECLECTIC, which is now on our book-table, presents many features of interest. The place of honor is held by an article, written by Mr. Gladstone, on the great novel "Robert Elsmere," now exciting so much controversy. The battle of belief finds in the great English statesman a most sturdy upholder of religious orthodoxy. W. H. Mallock contributes a paper entitled "Conservatism and the Diffusion of Property," discussing the land and labor question of Great Britain. Mr. E. W. H. Myers contributes an appreciative paper on "Matthew Arnold." A pleasant sketch of a great painter and his surroundings is found in "In the Studio of Carolus Duran," and all readers will be interested in the article entitled "Prince Bismarck and the German Reichstag." There is a capital paper, racy and instructive, on "The English Gentry" from Blackwood's, and the discussion of a very interesting question is found under the head of "Gentlemen Emigrants." One of the most suggestive articles in the number is that on "The Dislocations of Industry," by William Smart, in which the reader will find a clear and searching study of the dangers of our modern industrial system. Rev. Dr. William Wright makes known to us a curious chapter in the history of religious bigotry in the story of "Las-erre's Version of the Bible" and how it was suppressed. Among other specially interesting articles attention may be called to those entitled "On Dates," "In the Dark Continent," and "Gluck;" the latter being a sketch of the great musical composer who anticipated in his opera most of the important reforms claimed for Wagner. A very noteworthy article, too, is that on "Heinrich Heine," the material for which is largely autobiographical, drawn from posthumous papers of the great poet-critic-humorist. "Leghorn," as a frontispiece. As this number is the commencement of a new volume, it is a good time to subscribe for this excellent periodical.

Published by E. R. Patton, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single numbers, 45 cents; trial subscription for 3 months $1. ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine, $8.
