The Funeral of Judge Thomas Settle.

The largest concourse of people that has ever assembled in Greensboro on a funeral occasion met yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Baptist church to witness the last sad rites over the remains of the late Judge Thomas Settle.

The funeral cortege left the late residence of the deceased at 2:15 and arrived at the church at 2:30 in the following order:

Carrriage containing officiating clergymen; Members of Bar on foot; Hearse containing casket, accompanied by the following members of the Bar, who acted as pall bearers: Col. Jas. T. Morehead, Messrs. John A. Barringer, W. S. Hill, R. R. King, Jos. M. Morehead, Jas. W. Forbes, L. A. Bailey, John N. Wilson, C. G. Wright and John S. Michaux.

Carrriages containing members of family and relatives; carrriages containing citizens.

On arriving at the church and as the remains were being borne down the aisle, Prot. Sullivan, of G. F. College, who presided at the organ, played Chopin's Funeral March.

The opening prayer was offered by Rev. W. R. Gwaltney. Rev. E. W. Smith, who conducted the services, gave out the hymn, "Rock of Ages," which was sung by the choir, composed of Miss Hackelton, Miss Alice Jones and Messrs. C. H. Ireland and A. G. Robinson, in a touching manner, after which Rev. Dr. Smith read the burial service, and Rev. E. W. Smith offered prayer. Miss Hackelton then sang as a solo, "Oh! for the wings of a dove," from Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer."

Rev. E. W. Smith made some very appropriate and feeling remarks on the life and character of the deceased and read a well-prepared sketch of his career, the data of which he announced had been furnished him by one of Judge Settle's most intimate personal friends.

Although only 59 years of age, Judge Settle had filled many positions of trust, and all of them he filled with honor to himself and with credit to his country. He had been a member and Speaker of the Senate of North Carolina, an officer in the Confederate army, Solicitor of the 7th Judicial District, an associate justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, and was up to the time of his death District Judge of the U. S. Court for the Northern District of Florida. He was the foremost man of his party in the South, and it was expected that he would be called to a position in Mr. Harrison's cabinet.

At the close of Rev. E. W. Smith's address the choir sang, "Asleep in Jesus," and then the procession took up the line of march to Greene Hill Cemetery, where the concluding services were conducted by Rev. W. R. Gwaltney, and the last remains of Judge Thomas Settle were laid to rest until the resurrection morn.
