S. D. ADAMS, P. E.

PHUNNY PHELPER. — A correspondent of the News-Observer, writing of a picnic held at Sasstas Fork, Granville county, recently, pulls the harness, bridle, halter and everything off of his imagination, in a description of the affair, as follows: "Empire gowns and Kate Greenway dresses with some directories in brilliant and attractive colors were worn by the blithesome bonny belles, whose elixir graces and fairy faces enchained the admiring gaze of the enchanted spectators."

Is it any wonder that the writer expressed the hope that ere long he may be "so fortunate as to be favored with its like again?"

—It is important that the holders of the Knitting Mill, any shall hold a meeting some tomorrow p. m. to consider questions of business, and with this view a notice of the place and the hour will be made in the Workman tomorrow.
