THE BISHOPS ON JOINER.

We give below the resolutions adopted by the Bishops of the M. E. Church North, as published in the New York Christian Advocate.

The first, whereas is correct according to our understanding of the case. It is only deficient in that it fails to tell what was preached and taught by Mr. and Mrs. Joiner. Of the second whereas of course no one but His presiding bishopship can know his feelings, but it is known that Mr. Joiner made Greensboro his home for several weeks before his departure for Ohio and that while here, nothing could be considered cause of fear for his personal safety. Of the third whereas, from what the writer was told by Mr. Joiner about the local authorities in Randolph county, the county where Joiner was assaulted, and from statements in North Carolina papers from Gov. Fowl concerning the matter, we feel sure that all action has been taken by the officers to punish the offenders, that could be expected to be taken on the information they had.

Of the resolution passed, we can say that the majority of North Carolina protest against the treatment of Joiner and would insist upon the interposition of national authority if we had any reason to believe that the local authorities of the State and the Gov. had been negligent of their duties in the matter.

Whereas, The Rev. T. M. Joiner, has been assaulted and wounded by fire-arms at the hands of masked men and in the night, and has been driven from his pastoral charge for no other reason, so far as we can learn, than that he preached to negro congregations, and his wife taught negro children; and

Whereas, His Presiding Bishop, for the preservation of the lives of Brother Joiner and his wife, has felt himself compelled to take him out of the State in which he was injured; and

Whereas, We cannot learn that any adequate effort has been made by the local and State authorities to detect and punish his assailants, or to procure such security in his ministerial work, and for his person and family, as all ought to receive in the United States of America; therefore

Resolved, That we protest against such an invasion of sacred rights as our brother has suffered; against such cruel and barbarous methods as were employed to drive him from his work; against such arrogant indifference to public order; and we demand, for all our people, the unchallenged right to perform their ecclesiastical duties anywhere in the United States of America; and we insist that in the case of the failure of the local authorities to give protection and to administer justice, such cases ought to come within the scope of National investigation and authority.

C., low-rate round-trip, tickets to that point and return June 8th to 11th inclusive, good returning and including June 16th '90. Summer excursion tickets can be purchased to Asheville and return for this occasion from points at which they are on sale and are good to return until and including Oct. 31st '90.

Prof. N. C. English, of Trinity College, who is well remembered for his term of service in the Greensboro Graded school, was here on a flying trip this morning, hurrying back on account of commencement which will be introduced to-night.

Pennsylvania Law.

We clip this morning an editorial from the New York Star on the recent decision of the Supreme court in Pennsylvania which is to the effect that a guest at a hotel is entitled to all the food that is set before him, and if he does not eat it all at the time, he has a right to take it with him. This suggests the stuffing of hand bags and carpet sacks, which calls to mind the case of the traveler who stopped at an inn and put his carpet sack on the chair beside him while at dinner. The style of this boarding house was to put the whole bill of fare on the table and not be bothered with orders. When the traveler asked his bill, he was told that he would have to pay for two as his carpet sack had occupied a chair at the table. Very well, he said, and he opened his loose sided carpet sack and filled it up, paid his fare and left entirely satisfied that he had got the most of his money.

EXPLOSION ON A SHIP.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—An explosion occurred in the tank steamer Hans and Kurt, lying at the Atlantic Oil Refinery Company's dock at Point Breeze, about 4 o'clock this afternoon. The vessel was ruined and 800,000 gallons of oil, together with considerable wharf property, including a brick storage building, were destroyed by the fire which resulted from the explosion.

There had been no fire aboard the vessel, and no cause for the explosion is known, unless it be spontaneous combustion.

The force of the explosion was tremendous. The crew ran from the ship as soon as it occurred, but the members of the city Fire Department who responded to two alarms sent in, went aboard the burning steamer and threw lines to the tugs which came to her assistance. The lines were quickly made fast, and as the tugs towed the doomed steamer out into the stream heavy streams of water were thrown on her from their pumps.

After getting her clear of the surrounding shipping, the steamer, now a mass of flames, was towed a distance of about a mile down the Delaware, where she was run aground. Here for four hours water was poured on her from all sides by the tugs which surrounded her.

The vessel is almost completely burned out. Her side and deck plates are warped out of shape, and she will virtually have to be rebuilt.

The Mystery Explained.

It is an open secret now that the business on which Mr. Jas. Yates was bent a morning or two ago, which he characterized as "worse than fishing," related to his farm some distance out in the country. He was seen again early this morning, accompanied by Mr. Cobb, making his way to the same destination, but on account of the prospect of a rainy day the two returned, Mr. Cobb was set down at home and Mr. Yates pursued his way, determined to run all risks. The interests of the farm require one sometimes not only to take the chances, but to take the rain also.

Bicycles, Bicycles.

If you want to buy a straw hat cheap go to Fishplate's. They are closing them out at cost.

Had to be Done Over Again.

The man who did the foundation work for the residence of Rev. R. H. Wills on Worth Street miscalculated to such an extent that when the work was completed it failed to answer the purpose and had to be thrown down and done over again at a cost of $25.00 to Mr. Sam Brown the contractor. When it was inspected the wall was found to be 3 inches out of square in one place, 1 1/2 inches too short in one place and 4 inches too short in another; 4 inches too large and 9 inches out of level. No wonder it had to be taken down.

The Ice Factory.

The new Greensboro Ice Company, Wharton, Jackson & Co., proprietors, are now engaged in putting up their machinery, and expect to be turning out blocks of solid comfort by about the 10th of June. The machinery is of the most approved style, and has a capacity of 7 1/2 tons per day. It was manufactured by the York Manufacturing Company, York, Pa. It consists of a 50 horse boiler, with an elegant patent flue cleaner, or blower, and a perpendicular condenser tank, 16 feet high, with 1000 feet of coil, also single action compression pumps. The machinery is being fitted for running by Mr. Stuart St Clair, who represents the York manufacturing company.

Railroad Construction.

Mr Tilden, who is in the city just from Mexico says, that there is a great deal of railroad construction going on in that country. The roads are all being built by foreign capital.

The Mexican government admits the material used in construction free of duty and also exempts the lands of the roads from taxes. The cost of construction per mile in Mexico is greater than it is in the United States.

Died in His Home.

A man who had been an engineer on board the Steamer Baldwin, of the Romer Line, New York, from the time the ship was launched in 1861, died in his bunk on that ship the other day, aged 74 years.

Something About the Fruit Trade.

One of our fruit dealers has received a letter from one of the largest wholesale fruit dealers of N. Y., of the 31st May which he quotes, viz:

"California will have a big crop of peaches, apricots, prunes, &c., enough to supply all. Blackberries 3 1/2 ts, with one million five hundred thousand pounds carried into next season, almost enough to do for an entire season."

Homing Birds.

Thirteen carrier pigeons were received here to-day from 114 D. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., directed to Capt. Potts, with instructions to liberate them to-morrow morning, if the weather permit, and telegraph to Washington what time they leave Greensboro.
