The Contest is Settled—Double Tragedy in Georgia—Two Men Killed in Tennessee—Railway Accident on the Illinois Central—Strikes Ended.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 24.—The contest between the two factions of the lower House, which was submitted to the Supreme Court several days ago for settlement, was decided yesterday, the Court rendering an opinion in favor of the combine. This disposes of Speaker Hanna, and the whole House will today commence business in earnest, with Speaker White in the chair. This is in accordance with the agreement entered into that whichever faction was defeated would submit and not attempt to retard legislation.

The matter in dispute is briefly stated as follows: Upon the organization of the House Mr. Hanna, a member of the faction known as the Gang, was chosen Speaker. He appointed his committees, when the anti-Gang members combined with the Democrats and refused to recognize his appointments, and introduced a resolution giving the House power to appoint committees. Speaker Hanna refused to recognize this resolution. The combine, being in the majority, by a vote of 28 to 21 disposed of Speaker Hanna and elected Mr. White instead, and proceeded with the appointment of its committees and the transaction of other business. The Hanna faction claimed that this was illegal, and refused to participate in the proceedings, but called a separate House each day. The question was finally submitted to the Supreme Court, with the above result.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Jan. 24.—Dr. Horace Bates attempted to commit suicide yesterday. His father, Horace Bates, Sr. was found a few days ago with a bullet in his head. He died of his injuries yesterday at 1 o'clock, nobody was with him when the shooting occurred except his son, whose only version of the affair was that his father shot himself accidentally. Dr. Bates finding that his father could not live shot himself in the side and will die.

The double tragedy has created a sensation but the causes leading up to it are likely to forever remain a mystery.

JACKSON, Tenn., Jan. 24.—The north bound cannon ball train on the Illinois Central railway was detached yesterday near Liddleburg about 40 miles South of Jackson by striking a broken rail. The entire train was thrown from the track while running 40 miles an hour, but the coaches were not overturned and no one was hurt beyond a few bruises.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 24.—A terrible tragedy occurred at Glendale, near here, last night. Tom Moore went to Capt. C. E. Dunn's house, called him out, and shot him dead with a shot gun, supposing him to be Capt. Dunn's son, with whom he had had an altercation at a dance.

Young Dunn, who was in the house at the time, then rushed out and shot Moore, who is mortally wounded.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 24.—General Manager Tucker, of the Chicago and Erie, has announced a settlement of the strike on that road. By the terms of agreement, Train Dispatcher Scott is not to be employed, but all the other employees are to be allowed to resume work. One mixer officer, to whom conductors objected, resigned.

Vaulting Ambition of a Church Mouse.

The poet Burns lived just one hundred years ago soon to get the advantage of a number one theme for his pen. He once wrote a sonnet on a mouse, but it was before those little creatures had made the wonderful progress to which they have now attained. Little thought THE WORKMAN reporter when he described the advanced architectural skill of the mouse that had fashioned for himself a house in the heart of a sweet potato, and lined it nicely with paper and straw, that another mouse in the same city was so soon to exhibit a yet higher degree of ambition in the same line. The facts will show many things of which we had not dreamed. We say facts, because it is a true story that we have to tell—and a fresh one, too for the circumstance which we have to relate happened only yesterday.

It was in the Sabbath school of one of our churches. The young Miss who plays the organ was seated at the instrument her fingers busy on the keys, when she felt a rather strange movement in her hat. She was satisfied that some creature was under her hat, but what it was she could not divine. Briefly she persisted in her task until the close of the music service, then she retired to an adjoining room to investigate, when she saw a tiny mouse leap out and run off. This mouse had concealed itself in the hat before the young Miss left home, but whether on the intention of becoming a "church mouse" is not known. Possibly the mouse had been charmed with the music of the wearer of the hat and concluded to go to church for a further hearing, and while the music was going on could not keep still under its inspiration, and so began the movement which indicated to the teacher the presence of an intruder. Was not THE WORKMAN correct in claiming that our mice belong to a progressive stock?

ABOUT THE CITY.

Stray Bits Picked Up by Workman Reporters—News in Brief.

Real estate continues to change hands.

The next thing on docket is the Firemen's Festival, which begins tomorrow night.

Sheriff Thos. F. Rankin of Rockingham carried two prisoners to the penitentiary to-day.

The train from the North yesterday due here at 10:25 a. m. did not arrive until late in the afternoon.

Pastor Wingate announced yesterday morning that on next Thursday night the regular monthly church Conference would be held.

Rev. Dr. J. Henry Smith, who was at Danville yesterday to assist Rev. Dr. Martin, returned home on the 10:30 train this morning.

Rev. Thomas Baine, a local Deacon of the M. E. Church, South, has connected himself by certificate with West Market Street Church.

The committees representing Greensboro and South Greensboro respectively will meet at the Mayor's office tonight on the matter of annexation.

We would suppose that a good many people were surprised when they peeped out yesterday morning and observed that the sun was shining brightly.

THE WORKMAN learns that the attendance on the Centenary Sunday School yesterday was very large, larger than on any previous occasion save one in its history, and that the exercises were highly interesting.

Information Wanted.

MR. EDITOR:—Let us know what the proposed amendments to the street railway are. Are they for the good of all, or for the benefit of individuals?

TAX PAYER.

The Furniture Factory.

THE WORKMAN learns today from good authority that the Furniture Factory is running quite smoothly, and is unable to supply orders. The difficulty has been to provide sufficient kiln dried lumber to work on. Orders in person and by mail for the goods are constantly coming in.

Mr. Ed Kirkpatrick Very Sick.

Mr. Ed Kirkpatrick, we are sorry to know, is extremely ill of typhoid pneumonia at the home of his father, Mr. D. N. Kirkpatrick, two miles north of the city. He has been sick some time, and the typhoid symptoms have been slow of development. Last night, however, indications of heart failure were developed and the patient sank, but with medical aid at hand he rallied, but today his condition is but slightly improved, if any at all.

Senator John L. King.

We were glad to see Senator King in the city on a visit to his family. He came up Saturday night and returned to Raleigh this morning. We regretted however, to see that he was suffering from the effects of deep cold which he contracted, it is presumed, at the Capital, if not the Capitol. Mr. King is a laborious and faithful worker, and is an important member of the State Senate, in a position which he filled with high credit to himself several years ago. We hope to hear that he has fully recovered his health.
