A DAY'S EVENTS.

WHAT OUR REPORTERS SEE AND HEAR

And What Other People Tell Them—News Briefly Noted, Personal Notes &c.

Wait for the sunshine.

The trains were late today.

Never mind the wind, rain and mud, but go to the Armory tonight.

Dr. B. F. Dixon, at Centenary M. E. Church tomorrow night. Go.

The travelling band is still here, much to the delight of the small boy, as well as many of the older people.

The Tom Thumb Family took their departure for Durham this morning, where they are billed for tonight.

We publish today the programme of the Guilford county Sunday School Convention, which will be held in this city on Monday, March 23rd.

Weather indications: For North Carolina rain in the western portion; increasing cloudiness and rain in eastern portion; no change in temperature; easterly winds.

The Entertainment Tonight.

The young ladies who are preparing the novel entertainment for tonight, request us to announce that the entertainment will certainly be given, regardless of the weather.

Don't forget this, but go to the novel entertainment at the armory to-night.

Scarcity of Wood.

Wood is in great demand just now, and is a scarce article in these parts. The roads are in such a condition as to make it next to impossible for some of the farmers to get to town with anything like a respectable load; but the worst of it is, they don't seem to get here at all, and today there is only one dealer in the place who has any wood in stock.

The Meeting Postponed.

Rev. E. L. Stamey, pastor of Centenary M. E. church, stated to his congregation at the prayer-meeting last night that owing to the unsettled state of the weather he had decided to postpone the series of meetings that had been announced would commence next Sunday, until the weather modified. Due notice will be given later.

Guilford Battle Ground Co.

The usual pleasant occasion of the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Guilford Battle Ground Company will be held on the Company's Grounds at 11 o'clock Saturday. The C. F. & Y. V. R. R. will take all persons who wish to attend for one fare both ways.

As the Meeting will be of unusual interest it is hoped that there will be a good turnout of Stockholders and visitors.

What He Owed His Father.

On last Sunday night, March 8th, when Walter Donnell, the son of Thomas Donnell, was dying, a near relative who was present seeing a smile playing over his features, asked if he was happy. At this he broke forth into expressions of exceeding great joy. Presently, while the family were around him, he bade them all a most affectionate farewell, and throwing his arms around his father's neck and tenderly embracing him, he said, "I owe this to your prayers and pious example."

ABOUT FOLKS YOU KNOW.

Personal Notes of Interest Caught on the Fly.

Master Sam Tate, of THE WORKMAN's force of carriers, is on the sick list, we are sorry to note.

Mrs. Dr. Wakefield left for Henderson this morning on a visit to her brother, Mr. George Adams.

Miss Shearin, of Brinkleyville, who reached this place yesterday and remained with the family of Rev. R. H. Wills, until this morning, took the South bound train for Chattanooga.

Stronger Places.

Commenting on the fact that the Farmers' Alliance of Mississippi has addressed a letter to Senator George of that state of the same nature as that addressed to Vance by the Alliance in North Carolina, and that George had made the same reply that Vance had made, that the sub treasury bill is unconstitutional and that he cannot support it, the editor of the Charlotte Chronicle hopes that "if Senator George has matured his opinion that he will go down with flying colors if necessary," and concludes with this pure gold sentiment:

"There are stronger places in this country than a seat in the United States Senate. One of them is that in which a brave, honest man tells a brave and honest people that he will stay at home rather than change his matured and honest conviction on any question of principle: That man occupies a lonesome position very probably at first, but one that men will clamor to reach if right, even in politics. May Senator George stand by his higher and better self."

Rates State S. S. Convention.

Gen John M. Palmer was elected U. S. Senator yesterday by the Illinois Legislature as a Democrat, after over a month of balloting. His election was effected by the desertion of their candidate by two Alliance men. The contest had been long and determined, but without the bitterness which generally attends such contests.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

TWO ENGINES DITCHED AND A FIREMAN

Instantly Killed—Others Slightly Hurt in the Wreck Yesterday Near Danville.

DANVILLE, Va., March 11.—The report here today that two trains had collided on the R. & D. railroad three miles from the city, and thirty persons killed, created considerable excitement.

The Register's reporters rode at once to the scene of the wreck, but found that the accident was nothing like so bad as had been reported. Indeed there was no collision at all, the train left the track and was badly wrecked, but only one man was killed. The train was a heavy one and was being pulled up the grade by two engines, the assisting engine being in front. The tender of this engine jumped the track and the engine behind soon followed.

The front engine was not damaged, but the second was ditched and badly wrecked. The baggage and mail cars were also ditched and badly smashed, but the passenger cars were not much injured and the sleepers did not leave the track. Fireman G. M. Robertson, of the front engine, either jumped or was thrown from the cab. He was caught under the rear engine and instantly killed.

Engineer L. Bryant and fireman W. H. Jackson, of the rear engine, were caught under the wreck and their escape was seemingly miraculous, as neither was seriously hurt. The baggage master, mail agent and express messenger were slightly hurt, but the wonder is that they were not killed. Not a single passenger received a scratch, and those in the sleeper did not know there had been an accident, when the train stopped.

A temporary track was built around the wreck and trains went through to-night.

Love Works Wonders.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 10.—A sudden conversion from the Catholic to the Protestant religion, and the unexpected elopement of Miss Kate Dawson and Mr. Joseph Lambert, is causing considerable gossip in this city. Miss Dawson is the daughter of Mr. John Dawson, of the Sneed Iron Works, and Mr. Lambert is a well-known mechanic. The young people were both Catholics, but on last Sunday night they concluded it would be easier to be married according to the Protestant formula than under the Catholic creed in case of an elopement. They were accordingly baptized in the Christian Church, at Fifteenth and Jefferson streets, last Sunday night, and last night they crossed over to Jeffersonville, Ind., the "Kentucky Lovers' Paradise," and were married.

Rates to Y. M. C. A. Convention.

For above occasion the Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell tickets to Durham, N. C. and return at the following rates for the round trip, from points named. Tickets on sale March 17th to 21st inclusive, limited good returning March 25th '91:

From Charlotte, $6.75; Winston-Salem, $4.30; Greensboro, $2.95; Henderson, $2.45; Raleigh, $1.65; Selma, $2.95; Goldsboro, $3.85.

Rates from intermediate points in same proportion.

Carried to Pittsboro.

The body of Mr. G. M. Robertson the fireman who was killed in the wreck near Danville yesterday morning, passed through this morning to Pittsboro, where it will be interred.
