

GREENSBORO DAILY WORKMAN.

Vol. X. - No. 32

GREENSBORO, N. C., TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 19 1892

Price $3.00 Per Year.

HOMESTEAD.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 18.—At 6 o'clock this morning the watchmen threw open the main gate in the two miles of fence that surrounds the great steel mills of the Carnegie Company and waited patiently for the appearance of the five or six hundred mechanics who were notified to report for duty this morning and begin repairs preliminary to the starting of the mills. A United Press reporter also waited patiently. A few minutes before seven one man arrived and was admitted without a question. Then came another and another until twelve men had passed within the gates. They were not the mechanics who were summoned. They were not former employes returning to make individual application for their old positions. They were the watchmen and foremen who have remained loyal to the company and have been on duty since the mills shut down. And thus did the week open. Not one of the skilled mechanics reported at the office, and despite the official notices of Superintendent Potter, work did not commence at the usual time today.

All night long the strikers' pickets patrolled the river front and not a man was smuggled into the works. The unanimous decision of all the employes of the Carnegie Works, who are not members of the Amalgamated Association and who number some 2,000, at their meeting yesterday, to stand out with the steel workers to the end, has made the entire force of the Homestead mills a unit.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—A large number of the mechanics and laborers of the Upper and Lower Union Carnegie Mills at Lawrenceville, who went out last week when the members of the Amalgamated Association inaugurated their sympathetic strike, returned to work this morning. These men are employed in finishing up the work of the skilled employes, a large quantity of which is on hand. They do not belong to the Association.

Confession to Three Murders.

Charlotte News.
On the Fourth of July, 1886, the negroes at Hasty, Richmond county, had a big celebration. There was a row, and a negro named Henry Harris, shot and killed the negro he was fighting with. Harris fled, and nothing had since been heard of him until yesterday. The murder itself was almost forgotten. When the train stopped at Rockingham yesterday morning an officer got off and went to the jail with a negro in chains. The negro was the long missing Harris, and the officer was Deputy Sheriff Ladd, of Henry county, Alabama, who had captured Harris there. The rewards for Harris' capture aggregate $300. The captured negro, on being locked in jail at Rockingham, confessed to the murder at Hasty's, but said he did it in self defence. Further than that, he confessed to having killed two other men, one in Georgia and one in Alabama. All three murders were committed at frolics, and according to Harris' claims, in self defence.

In a difficulty between Lewis Shufford, a school trustee, and James Isbell, who desired his son to be employed as a teacher, in Caldwell county, Isbell assaulted Shufford with a knife and inflicted wounds which were thought to be fatal.

Fresh Cucumbers Healthy.

"Cucumbers are a greatly maligned vegetable," said a man who insists upon having vegetables freshly picked every day from his own garden in the summer. "They are considered by the majority of people to be unhealthy; whereas if eaten within a few hours of being gathered, and, on the contrary, very wholesome—quite as much so in my estimation as lettuce. My family are all fond of them, and partake of them freely throughout the season; but I should not allow them to eat at all, unless I was sure of their freshness.

It is just that that makes all the difference. My great grand-father was hale and hearty at ninety-two, and I remember being told that his diet chiefly consisted of cucumbers and tobacco.

This menu I could not recommend to old gentlemen as a rule. I only cite it to show that my favorite vegetable has its sanitary value in some cases"—N. Y. Tribune.

A Cautious Hero.

'Twas at the Sabbath School picnic. Two maidens of uncertain age were struggling in the water, almost drowning.

"Merciful heavens," cried the pastor. "Will no one save them? Is there no swimmer among 'us to save them?"

"Is there a justice of peace in the crowd?" asked Tattered Stuyvesant, the tramp, suddenly emerging from the bushes.

"I hold that office," answered a gentleman. "But will—"

"Well then, ladies," shouted Tattered Stuyvesant to the struggling maidens, "hold up your hands and let the justice swear ye that I don't have to marry either of 'ys and I'll plunge in. I'm heroic, but not foolhardy. This is leap year!"—Ex.

John Wood Dead.

We have already published the fact that John Wood, of this place, a member of the police force of Durham, fell from the excursion train going to Norfolk Thursday last, when it was running, we are told, about a mile a minute. He slipped and fell, and it was one of those sudden accidents it is hard to get a straight account of, but he sustained injuries about the head from which he died, in Norfolk, Sunday afternoon at 3:35 o'clock.—Durham Sun.

A Live Old Man.

Old Mr. Christy Hullender, who lives near Fancy in this county, is 86 years of age, but is more active than many men not half his age. On one of the hottest days in June this year he cut 40 dozen bundles of wheat, which is a pretty good day's work for a young man.—Shelby Review.

Strikers to be Prosecuted.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—The men who resisted the landing of the Pinkertons and who participated in their maltreatment after their surrender are to be prosecuted to the bitter end. Over 200 names of such men are now in the possession of Knox & Reed, the attorneys for the company, and to whom the entire matter has been referred for action. The specific charges to be brought against the men who have been spotted is that of accessory to murder in the first degree.

SPEAKING OF YOU

Mr. Ed Steele, of High Point, went to Raleigh this morning.

Miss Ida Meroney, of Salisbury, who has been visiting Miss Mienne Brown, left last night for her home.

Miss Gaddy, of Kinston, who has been here for some time on a visit returned home, via Raleigh, this morning.

Miss Cowles, of Statesville, who has been visiting Miss Abbie Caldwell, returned to her home this morning.

Miss Irving and Katie Scales and Carrie Settle, who have been away on quite an extended trip, returned home last night.

Misses Reid, who have been visiting the family of Capt. Neil Ellington, returned this morning to their home in Wentworth.

Miss de Rossett, of Wilmington, spent last night here with Mrs. Harry Martin and went down to Burlington this morning to visit her sister, Mrs. Walter Holt.

W. W. Fuller, of Durham, who has been to New York, and Lee Overman, of Salisbury, were on the train going east this morning.

Rev. Jno. N. Garret was here this morning on his return from visiting his family at Yadkin College to his pastoral work in Alamance county.

Mr. C. W. Bain, of Randleman, who has been on a visit to friends at Salisbury and at Greensboro, after spending a few days in this city, returned to his home this morning.

Mrs. Jas. White, formerly of Jamestown, but now of Oxford, accompanied by his wife and little boy, was here this morning on the way back to Oxford after visiting her parents for a time.

Hon. Kope Elias, and Col. Paul B. Means passed through here last night going north. Mr. Elias is a member of the committee to notify Mr. Cleveland of his nomination. The committee meets in New York tomorrow.

B. F. Long, Esqr., Solicitor of the Statesville judicial district, accompanied by his little daughter, was here this morning on his way back to Statesville from a visit to his venerable parents who live near Graham. He reports the health of the old people as reasonably good.

Mr. John A. Willis and family, of Columbia S. C., who have been here on a visit to the family of R. S. Vernon, went up to Winston on a brief visit today, and will be here again before returning to their home at Columbia.

Mr. Chas. Landis, who had become quite a figure in the social world of our city, and who is well known here, has found it necessary to spend some time in the soldiers' home at Raleigh, and accordingly went down this morning. THE WORKMAN hopes he may find some improvement in his health which has become quite delicate.

Miss Winnie McCaull, of Baltimore, who has been some time in this city on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. Harry Martin, and who has made many and lasting friends during her stay here by her graces of mind and heart, left last night for her home. Quite a delegation of young ladies and gentlemen accompanied her to the depot to bid her farewell. To those who sorrow most over her departure, we can encourage them with the hope that she will come again, as she has promised.

Mr. R. T. Gray, of Raleigh, came up on the 10 o'clock train this morning. He says that this train, which leaves Raleigh at 7 o'clock, with baggage car, a first and a second class coach, is a most admirable thing and couldn't be beaten, coming right through as it does with little or no stopping on the way. The same, he says, is true of the train which leaves here at mid night and reaches Raleigh at 3 a. m.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

The Teachers' Institute opened in the Court House here at 10 o'clock, with an increased number in attendance and with more interest evidenced.

Rev. Dr. J. Henry Smith led in devotional exercises and then short talks were made. The morning hours were devoted to talks on how to teach reading.

This afternoon the subject of government was taken up and discussed. During the week between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, Prof. Aldorman will deliver special talks, which will be of interest to the laity as well as to the teachers.

The institute promises to be one of great interest and usefulness. We hope the people generally will turn out.

There were about one hundred teachers in attendance today. We say it to the credit of the ladies that they are more numerous than the men. It seems to take a deeper interest.

Thos. Cole, a farmer of Rutherford county, was struck by lightning and killed, last Saturday.

Removal.

The office of the DAILY WORKMAN has been removed from its old quarters under Benbow Hall to the Yates building, corner of South Elm and Sycamore streets, entrance in front at No. 123.

THE WORKMAN will be obliged to its friends if they will communicate at the office any items of news that may come into their possession.

NEWS NOTES.

Four saloons and a barber shop were burned in Alliance, Ohio, yesterday. Loss $60,000. Alliance is a prohibition town.

The House committee on ways and means yesterday reported a resolution providing for the adjournment of the first session of this Congress on next Monday.

Hon Wm C. Whitney and E. S. Benedict were the visitors of Cleveland day before yesterday. They took dinner at Gray Gables and later went on board the yacht. It cannot be ascertained whether the visit had any special significance.

Ladies' Auction.

There will be an auction sale of goods exclusively for ladies at the Boston Racket Store, tomorrow, (Wednesday) afternoon, beginning at 5 o'clock.

Dress goods, laces, trimmings, gloves, hosiery, prints, lawns, &c., &c., will be put up and sold without reserve, to the highest bidder.

This is something new for Greensboro. All ladies invited; no gentlemen wanted on this occasion. 11.
