GREENSBORO, N. C., TUESDAY AFTERNOON, SEP 13 1892

IN THE COURT HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

Quite a crowd gathered in the Court House last night, the object of which was to organize the Central Democratic Club of Greensboro.

Mr. S. C. Dodson was called to the chair, and Mr. Jos. M. Keece was made secretary.

Judge David Schenck being called out made an able and rousing speech, although he said he had made no preparation, which gave occasion to the remark made by Mr. J. V. Jordan further on, that if the Judge could make such a speech without preparation what could he not do without preparation?

The Judge said that there was a crisis upon us and that it was no time to indulge in jokes and anecdotes. What he should say would be the ebullition of Democracy rising up in him. The Judge sketched rapidly the events of the past twenty-five years, the carpet bag and negro Legislature and the county government under which the citizens of the State were insulted and humiliated; adding that this was his first political effort since 1874.

The Judge mentioned the Third party as being a menace to the country, and contributing to put the State back to its condition of 1868, provided that party should hold the balance of power and wield it in the interest of the Republican party. The speech was cheered loudly and continuously throughout.

Hon. J. A. Barringer also made an able speech, in which he expressed his gratification that Judge Schenck had returned to the rostrum of politics. He alluded to the side shows whose influence was in aid of the Republican party, but expressed the belief that enough Democrats would be on hand at the election to secure victory against the enemy.

"Who is Dr. Eum?" said Mr. Barringer, "and who is Grover Cleveland?" Every mention of Cleveland's name was heartily applauded.

Col. Morehead was to have spoken, but the time was found too short after the organization matters of the club had been set on foot.

Mr. Geo. S. Sergeant having declined to act as Pres't of the Club on account of pressing business duties—Mr. J. W. Forbis was prevailed on to act as President; S. C. Dodson, Vice President; H. W. Wharton and J. F. Jordan, secretaries; W. E. Bevil, Treasurer.

On motion a committee was appointed to fill the blanks as to names, places, dates, etc., of the Constitution and By Laws of the Club, and on further motion the officers of the Club were constituted that committee.

W. E. Bevil, G. S. Sergeant, D. Schenck, Jr., Mr. McKinney and R. M. Rees were made soliciting committee.

On motion of J. S. Michaux a committee was ordered to take action relative to the reception of Mr. Stevenson next Monday night—a committee of ten, who will appoint sub-committees if necessary. The committee to be appointed by the officers of the Club.

The list of 227 names reported to the Club was increased by quite a number of others.

A very determined, enthusiastic meeting in the direction of pure Democracy with Grover Cleveland at the head.

One of the strangest runaway affairs is reported to THE WORKMAN from near Richmond on the C. F. & Y. V. railroad.

A man calling his name Chatham, and claiming to be from Atlanta, turned up recently rather mysteriously near Richmond, and hired from Mr. Watson a horse and buggy, taking a boy with him.

Chatham drove to the house of Wesley Phillips, where he dropped the boy and took up a fourteen year old daughter of Phillip's.

Whether Cheatham had ever seen the girl previously or whether he had some rare love powders which just took the girl and lifted her into the buggy, is not known; at any rate the girl took passage with Chatham and they drove on South.

After about a week the runaways were heard from. By means of dispatches sent on ahead they were captured in Darlington, S. C., and on Sunday last parties started to S. C. to bring the runaways back—the man Chatham, it is hoped, to justice. It is said that the fellow had no money, and begged food along the way from any cabin he might light upon. When last heard from the girl, Miss Phillips, was deeply distressed, and was having spasms.

The mystery of the affair, it is hoped, will be cleared up shortly, and the public will know if a man who is an entire stranger can exert such a charm over a young girl as to induce her, on first sight, to jump up into a buggy and ride away with him to parts unknown.

A humane and intelligent reader of this paper, after seeing our comments on the prize fight at New Orleans and the able criticisms of the editor of the Richmond Times on the same subject, expresses a desire to have a list of the newspapers that came out and denounced the prize fighting iniquity.

It is time that every decent newspaper had put itself on record in favor of stringent laws by Congress to prevent both the lottery and the prize fight.

The eastbound passenger train that passes Durham about 1 o'clock Sunday morning killed Abram Kennedy, an old colored wood chopper. The accident occurred near East Durham. Kennedy was addicted to drinking and the cause of his death is due to the fact that he fell asleep on the track while under the influence of liquor.—Durham Sun.

A Reporter Who is Given to Lying.

The New York Herald continues to make sport of Charlotte. Its Sunday edition has a column of stuff about "Big Sam," solicitor Brown, the police, the drug stores, etc., all of a most untruthful and disgusting character. The man the Herald sent out with Corbett evidently intended to be funny, regardless of consequences. The correspondent says that when his party sent down to the hotel office for beer on Sunday, the waiter came back bearing a Bible on a silver salver. Again he says that at a drug store he could buy a drink of soda water, but no cigars. Then the reporter goes on to ridicule solicitor Brown and the police force. Col. Brown knew nothing whatever about any effort to arrest Corbett. He issued no warrant and no warrant was attempted to be served by the police. Had the Charlotte police been given a warrant for Corbett's arrest, it is safe to say that there would have been a serious break in the programme at New Orleans.—Charlotte News

The Circus Girl's Condition.

Minnie Merrick, the circus girl who was attacked by the lioness here Saturday, was resting quietly at eleven o'clock Saturday night when the show train pulled out for Wilkesboro. Dr. Lot visited the injured woman three times after she was hurt. She was suffering considerable pain from the gash on the back of her head, made by the claws of the lioness, which place nearly two inches.

Makes and mends shoes in the latest style, and at prices lower than that the same work is charged for elsewhere. This is plain talk, but if you try it, you will find it true. Economy is a great thing and a thing that can be practised in shoes as well as in anything else.
