BETWEEN THE DEVIL AND THE DEEP BLUE SEA.

The Kindergarten Peacock in a bad fix

The effort of Mr. Settle, the young Congressional aspirant, to avoid the odium of supporting the Force Bill before the people of this district is too thin to wash. It is entirely transparent. It positively will not work. No well-informed voter can credit Settle with sincere motives in assuming this radically impossible position before the public.

The Force bill is the issue of issues with the Republican party. It is absolutely necessary to the perpetuation of the life of that party and its continued lease of political power. No resolutions can revive its fallen fortunes. The favorite so-called stimulant, "protection," is losing its potency.

"Reciprocity" and the many other purely artificial methods prescribed by gave Republican Doctors will not supply the lost issues and bona fide sinews of debauched energies. The Republican party has "a slowly dying cause" and is passing away by slow degrees with a wasting disease. Desperate malignant types of disease require heroic remedies and those who are determined to see the G. O. P. out live the days of its glory and usefulness have prepared the Force bill as a last resort.

The Republican party from its position which Republican in the leading who holds close to his heart of hearts the love not simply of his party's interests but its very existence, can afford, when the screws are turned on and the crucial test is made, to resist the pressure brought to bear upon him to support the Force bill and save the Republican party from extinction.

The Republican national and state platforms call for it boldly and unequivocally. The tickets put forth on those platforms will unquestionably receive Mr. Settle's support.

Leading Republican in the county have declared themselves to be especially in favor of "what is known as the Force bill." President Harrison support it by suggesting "non-partisan boards." Blaine makes the issue all the more conspicuous by the absence of any allusion to it in his manifesto and his studied, ingenious attempt to draw public attention to other issues. The Republican press to a large extent, by systematically refusing to discuss the question and by pooh-poohing it are convincing the people of the living, hideous reality of the monstrosity. No intelligent student or current political events—no profound prophet of the signs of the times—can fail to recognize the silent, suppressed, but resolutely implied, determination on the part of the Republican rank and file to force this revolutionary measure of intimidation and proscription upon a liberty loving people.—Review.

L. I. BODENHAMER, M. D.,

Father of J. M. Bodenhamer writes The Workman a Letter.

EDITOR WORKMAN:—I wish to give you the facts in regard to the shooting of Lawyer James M. Bodenhamer, by C. B. Hasten, both of this place, as I saw in your paper of Oct. 13th several errors as to the facts in the case, that in justice to both parties should be corrected. A short time ago a suit was commenced against Hasten for embezzlement by a Mr. Whitaker who employed Bodenhamer to prosecute the case and Hasten employed C. B. Watson to defend him and each lawyer was true to his client and sharply went for his opponent as is usual, and Hasten appeared to be perfectly friendly with Bodenhamer after the trial but told him he thought he (Bodenhamer) was rather severe on him but that he knew it was a lawyer's duty to do the best for his client, so things passed off quiet till Wednesday the 12th, when Hasten consulted Bodenhamer about the registration law and Bodenhamer went with him to the registers office. Hasten then told Bodenhamer that he wished to get his Insurance book that he left at Bodenhamer's and they walked together in friendly conversations to Bodenhamer's house, and when they got in the porch, Bodenhamer asked Hasten to walk up stairs where his and little but Hasten the door and handed the book to Hasten who took the book with his right hand and presented the muzzle of his revolver against his neck and shot instantly, without speaking a word. Bodenhamer said, "Banner you have killed me." Hasten turned left the yard and got on the street looked back heard Bodenhamer's wife screaming and shot himself walked some distance and shot another ball into his breast, went some distance further, fell and died in about twenty-five minutes. There was no hot or unkind words used, no quarrel, neither was Hasten drunk. But it was a deliberate attempt to kill Bodenhamer, for prosecuting him as a lawyer. Mr. Bodenhamer is improving and will, it is thought, recover. These are the facts in the case, which I hope you will publish for the benefit of all concerned. State Chronicle please copy.

A fearful snow storm was raging in Wyoming and Colorado yesterday and the day before. In some places the snow was five feet on a level and had drifted eighteen feet in railroad cuts. Many trains are delayed and there are reports of fatal accidents.

Since Senator Daniel of Virginia has declined to make the dedicatory oration at Chicago on the 21st inst. President Palmer is in favor of asking Henry Watterson to do so.

The Dalton boys out in Kansas who were brought to grief a short while ago, became outlaws, their father says, by reading yellow back literature. Many a man has been demoralized by reading the trash sent out by Republican campaign managers.

Your name was put at the bottom of a Democratic ticket.

Thus it was that you were elected Solicitor.

You ought to resign.

Resolutions of Respect.

The following resolutions were passed at a recent meeting of the Woman's Missionary and Parsonage Aid Societies of West Market street M. E. Church, South.

Whereas, In the providence of God one of our number, Mrs. Mary B. Steele, has been removed from the labors of earth to the rewards of Heaven.

Resolved, 1st. That while deeply deploring our loss, and feeling that our sister's presence and ever helpful spirit will be sorely missed in these societies, we humbly bow in submission to the divine dispensation, praying that the voice of God in this sad providence may speak powerfully to our hearts, saying, "Be ye also ready" for that summons which will ere long come to each, as it has to our beloved sister, to leave our work and render account of our stewardship.

Resolved 2nd. That we tender to the bereaved family and friends our warmest sympathy with earnest prayers that God's blessing may rest upon them, and that He may minister consolation in this deep affliction.

Resolved 3rd. That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and that they be sent to the city papers with a request that they be printed in their columns.
