

THE GREENSBORO DAILY WORKMAN!
DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

W. S. ROBERSON.

REFERRED AT THE POST-OFFICE IN GREENSBORO AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

NOTICE OF SALE.

We have today closed a contract with Messrs. Reese & Elam, editors and proprietors of the Daily Record, transferring to them the name and good will of the GREENSBORO DAILY WORKMAN together with the unexpired subscription and advertising list, to take effect Nov. 26th 1892.

W. S. ROBERSON.

George T. Kibling, of Norwich, Vermont, is serving a term of sixty-seven years imprisonment for selling liquor to Dartmouth students. But as the town didn't want to board him for so long, it compromised by enlarging the jail limits to include the corporation, so he reports every morning, swaps a few cigars and yarns with the jailor, and then meanders around town and attends to business.—Star.

John Hill, a New York car-driver, suddenly tumbled into the ownership of $5,900 and started out to have a good time. He did, and wound up in jail.

Four years ago, it is said, General Harrison went to bed on the night of election before he knew the result. The wife of General Hancock declared that the latter went to bed at 7 o'clock in the evening on election day, 1880, being too tired to await news. Next morning he awoke at dawn and asked if there were any definite tidings. Upon her reply: "Yes you are beaten," he turned over and went to sleep again.

A FLYING SERPENT.

The Calcutta Indian Gentleman relates the following most remarkable story: A few days ago Atkama Yatzry, a Bengalese gentleman residing on a flat seven miles north of Shutte-zat, saw, as he affirms, an enormous serpent floating along in a fleecy white "tezar" of "wind cloud." The cloud and its scaly passenger floated directly over Mr. Yatzry's farm and bore off in the direction of the Great Blue Jungle and disappeared from view. Over a score of men, women and boys who were working along the flat at the time of the phenomenal occurrence, attest that they plainly saw the same hideous monster in his ethereal flight. One witness describes the serpent as being at least four "tonghs" (200 feet) in length and as big around as a man's body. All witnesses concur in saying that the head and foreparts of the creature resembled an alligator more than anything else. It was yellow and black striped, according to all witnesses, and kept its body in continued motion as long as it remained in sight. The natives are said to be much excited over the matter.

Richmond Times: Mr. Carnegie has, true to his original programme, started in to cut down wages unmercifully. His boiler men, who before the strike got $2.25 a day, have been notified that hereafter their pay will be $1.80, while the assistant boiler men on turns, who formerly received $9 a day, will now only get $4. In making these radical reductions the Carnegies are not only doing what they started to do, but are probably laying something like a war indemnity on the defeated strikers.

The plan of having a North Carolina building at the World's Fair has been abandoned. The ladies who undertook the task of raising the money found they could not do so. That is the story in a few words—the people of the State would not contribute $9,000.

The ladies will go on with their plan to raise funds with which to build a "Virginia Dare" memorial building. The funds for this are to come not from North Carolina alone, but from the women of the nation, in memory of the first white child born in the United States.

The abandonment of the State building does not in the least interfere with the State's exhibit at the World's Fair. That will be made in the various buildings already erected. The last Legislature caused a great deal of trouble by its miserable fiasco of an appropriation for the World's Fair, an act which will long make it a laughing-stock. There is the best reason for the belief that the next Legislature will know how to show public spirit.—Charlotte Observer.

A story is going the rounds of Harvard, and the joke is on the professor. He is a very forgetful man, and in calling the roll, although his class is small, still has to rely on a printed list. The other day he found to his dismay that he had forgotten his list. What should he do? The office required a report of the attendance at the lecture. He could not remember the faces or names. Ah! a happy thought. "Gentlemen, there is one seat empty," said he. "Will the gentleman who is absent kindly tell me his name."—Boston News.
