D. A. R. MEETING.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

(By M. L. Shipman.)

Raleigh, N. C., October 19.—The State Fair, with its attendant crowds and exhibits, the verdict in the trial of W. B. Cole for murder; the death of James B. Duke and the annual State—Carolina football game were among the outstanding matters of interest in the Capital City last week. There was little doing in administration circles, the Governor devoting a large portion of his time to the State Fair which he pronounced excellent, especially the agricultural exhibits. However, there was considerable interest in the report that the Salary and Wage Commission had received a number of protests, and would consider them at meeting next month. It is understood that the protests are chiefly against the classification of salaries which many employees hold will cut them off from hope of advancement in the state service.

Mrs. Ernest Hyatt, who had charge of the program for the afternoon, presented in a most pleasing manner the one outlined by the National Board to commemorate the founding of their historical organization.

Mrs. Chas. E. Quinlan read an interesting article relative to the first meeting of a small group of women who fired with the spirit of patriotism organized the Daughters of the American Revolution. The article also outlined brief sketches of some of the founders. The first president general being Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of the President.

Mrs. J. H. Way read from the National Magazine the president general's address which is always full of vision and information to the members.

Mrs. J. W. Seaver gave a list of the president generals and featured the term of office of each one.

A letter was read by the secretary from Miss Elizabeth Fries, National Chairman of Publicity, urging each Daughter to give to the public an account of the splendid things accomplished by the organization.

Several names were presented for membership, including four prospective out of town members. Mrs. Nannie McCracken Persons, chairman of the committee to mark the graves of the Revolutionary soldiers of Haywood county, asked the co-operation of the chapter in locating them and to give the date to her at the next meeting. The government assumes the financial responsibility of this undertaking by historical societies.

The charming guests were Rev. Mr. Mrs. Hardin, the former rector of the Salisbury Episcopal church. Both made delightful talks.

After adjournment the hostess, assisted by her young daughter, Miss Tibbie Hardin and Miss Dorothy Thomas, served a delicious two course luncheon. A happy climax was the presentation of a beautiful decorated birthday cake, significant of the occasion, bearing 35 candles, to the regent with the request that she make a wish and blow out the candles.

MISS BROWN HONORED WITH KITCHEN SHOWER.

The telephone operators honored Miss Harriet Brown, whose marriage to Robert H. Gibson, occurred Wednesday with a delightful kitchen shower last Wednesday at the home of Miss Bessie Weaver, manager of Southern Bell Telephone Company, of Waynesville.

The rooms were decked in autumn foliage and Halloween decorations carrying out the Halloween motif of black and yellow.

During the course of the evening an old witch entered the room ladder with beautiful gifts for the bride-elect's new bungalow.

Delicious refreshments were served to Misses Harriet Brown, Ida Jean Brown, Lavada Palmer, Elizabeth Palmer, Viola Hall, Syble Spencer, Mabel Brown, Jennie Hamilton, Ora Quisenberry, Louise Edwards, Ada Woods and Mary Briggs of Canton, Messrs. Robert H. Gibson and John C. Woodbury of Asheville, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Killian, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Grahm, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Caldwell, Mrs. Fred Boone Medford, and Mr. Arthur Parker of Akron.

The operators at Bryson City, Sylva and Canton that were unable to attend the affair sent lovely gifts to Miss Brown.

WAYNESVILLE DEFEATS WEAVERVILLE 51-0.

Using a strong defense, Waynesville turned in a score of 51 to 0 score, keeping their record for the season clean with four victories and no defeats. Coach Browning announced his first and second teams throughout the entire game.

The brilliant work on the part of Crockett, Campbell and Rotha is responsible for the oversized score.

Waynesville will meet Black Mountain Friday on the Waynesville court. The team needs boosting. Come out and root for your own team. Admission 50 cents.

HON. FRANK W. MILLER.

The Hon. Frank W. Miller is a native of Haywood county, the son of the late W. E. Miller. He was born and reared close to Waynesville and was educated in this township.

Mr. Miller has spent a long and useful life in the service of Haywood county, and has held many offices of importance and a highly responsible character. Among these is his service as Clerk of the Superior Court and other town and county offices. He served for about eight years as postmaster and retired from that in 1923. Since then he has been giving his time and talent to Waynesville as the last president of the Board of Trade and now is one of our most progressive and energetic aldermen.

Mr. Miller is considered by those who know him as being one of all sides there were words of commendation for President Gardner and Manager Walborn, who bore the brunt of arranging for the fair and looked after the mass of detail incident to the occasion. It was fitting that Cleveland county, home of the president, carried off the highest honors for county displays.

The verdict of "Not guilty" in the Cole case, in which W. B. Cole was charged with the murder of W. W. Ormond, was universally denounced in Raleigh. On all sides there were expressions of regret at the miscarriage of justice and from editorials carried in the State papers the feeling prevailing in Raleigh was general throughout the state. Many deplored the fact that verdict may be bad precedent and that the laws of the state were so disregarded by the jury in its verdict. While few believed that Cole would be declared guilty of first degree murder, a majority held he should be punished for his crime, now being conducted in rented quarters. So says W. B. Blalock in a recent statement to the press in reply that the rich can escape from my to a suggestion from Commissioner of Agriculture, that it might be the part of wisdom for the association to wait awhile before launching a building program. In his statement the commissioner let it be known that he is in sympathy with the principle of co-operative marketing.

The Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association plans the construction of a building, in the not distant future, in which to transact the business of the association. So says W. B. Blalock in a recent statement to the press in reply that the rich can escape from my to a suggestion from Commissioner of Agriculture, that it might be the part of wisdom for the association to wait awhile before launching a building program. In his statement the commissioner let it be known that he is in sympathy with the principle of co-operative marketing.

Answering the complaint in the civil action charging them with having a monopoly operating in restraint of trade the four Raleigh ice manufacturers involved declare that the great good that he has done for the State. On all sides one heard regret expressed that he had died when the fruits of his gifts were beginning to manifest. However the great good that he has done for Western North Carolina in water brought and is being conducted by power development which has made that a great industrial center, and the accreting good which his educational plans will bring marks him as one of the outstanding benefactors of the Tar Heel state and his memory will live forever in the works which he has provided will go on after death.

The week was quiet in Capitol politics. The Governor spent a large portion of time at the fair and on several occasions had with him parties of distinguished visitors who pronounced the fair a wonderful exhibit.

The Executive will appear before the House Ways and Means Committee of Congress on Friday to argue for elimination of the tax on inheritances.

The Salary and Wage Commission has received a number of complaints from those affected by the recent report of the commission. These complaints for the most part, it is said, are confined to charges that the classification will cut off hope of promotion for employees who wish their classifications changed. Very few expressions have been heard concerning the hunting and root for your own team. Admission 50 cents.

The State Board of Assessment recently decided that individual bequests do not thwart the inheritance tax. In his will Mr. D. Rich, deceased, of Winston-Salem, left $100,000 to a Miss Brenanger, with the condition that if she dies within three years before attaining the age of thirty the money will go to Buies Creek Academy. The donor made the bequest not subject to taxation, but inheritance taxes on his estate were computed, with due allowance that Miss Brenanger, who is now nineteen, will live to be thirty.

Dr. C. D. Crimell, of the University of Minnesota, succeeds Verner M. Williams in charge of research work in dairyland at the Agricultural Experiment Station of State College, who is leaving to take up the work of assistant dean of students at the Minnesota institution. His resignation became effective October 1st.

16,625 automobile license plates were issued by the license department of the State during the past month which brings the total in the State to 389,975.

GIBSON-BROWN.

The Presbyterian church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Harriet Brown became the bride of Mr. Robert H. Gibson.

The church was simply, but beautifully decorated for the occasion with huge baskets white chrysanthemums behind banks of drooping ferns, all of which made a beautiful setting for the bridal party as they stood in the mellow light of the October sun, which filtered through the colored windows.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Nan Killian sang in her most charming manner "All For You" by Bert and Brown, accompanied at the piano by Miss Fredericka Quinlan. At the appointed hour the strains of Lobergrin's wedding march heralded the approach of the bridal party.

The groomsmen, Messrs. Mark Kilian and Will Harbeck, entered from opposite aisles and took their places at the altar. Miss Ida Jean Brown, her sister's only attendant, was charming in a powder blue crepe coat with silver lace trimming and black jeté bat, carrying a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums tied with a bow of white tulle.

Upon arrival each person was asked to record his name in the memory book provided for that purpose. Refreshments were then liberally served consisting of frappe, delicious cake and mints. The hour was spent informally in social entertainment and general merriment. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Lynch's special friends of the community and members of the Normal School faculty. Special guests of honor were Mr. Fred Martin, brother of Mrs. Lynch, and wife of Waynesville. The guests left expressing their enjoyment during the evening and extending hearty wishes for continued happiness to the host and hostess.

Mr. Lynch has served the last two years as pastor of the Cullowhee Methodist church and it is sincerely hoped that he may be assigned to Cullowhee at the next conference so that he and his wife may continue the noble work they are doing in our town and community.

WOMAN'S CLUB.

The meeting adjourned to meet on Oct. 22nd with Mrs. Grover C. Davis, Subject Great Women of America.
