TRYON NEWS.

The following is clipped from the Tryon Bee:—
Stedman Chubb, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Chubb, of Winter Park, Fla., but who has been living in Tryon for the past year, died last Saturday and the body was sent to Fla. for burial. Deceased was about 26 years old and was spending the summer here. He went on a long tramping and camping trip to Hogback Mountain and either the long jaunt or the high altitude developed heart trouble from which he finally died.

It is rumored that R. L. Wilson and Bro. have sold their livery interest in Tryon to Lindsey weaver, Cam Livingston and Moat Roach.

Vice presidential nominee Kern went through Tryon Sunday. He made an impromptu address in Spartanburg in the afternoon while waiting for his train and was much pleased with the beautiful bouquets presented by Florest C. A. Moss. Monday evening he spoke in Asheville.

Miss Andrews has returned from Asheville and resumed the kindergarten class at the Box Factory Mission with increased attendance.

Macadamizing around the station is well underway. A great improvement to the looks and it will also do away with a very muddy spot.

On Sunday funeral services were held at the Cemetery over the remains of the late Mrs. Gus Lankford, formerly of Tryon, but who has recently been living at Greer, S. C., where she died of typhoid fever.

Lincoln's "Boss" Trade.

When Lincoln was practicing law in Illinois, he agreed with a certain judge that they should make a horse trade at 9 o'clock the next morning, neither to see the other's horse until the time of the trade, and the one who backed out to lose $25.

The judge was on time, leading the sorriest-looking nag ever seen in those parts. In a few minutes Lincoln arrived, carrying a wooden saw-horse on his shoulder. The crowd laughed uproariously, but it was nothing like the cin that went up when Lincoln sat down his saw-horse, walked solemnly around the sorry nag produced by the judge, and exclaimed pathetically, "well judge, the first time I ever got the worst of it in a horse trade!"

PAPOOSE POPCORN A New Seed Discovery for FORAGE, POULTRY, FOPPING

A subscriber to the Southern Agriculturist secured the original seed from an old Indian in Northwest Texas. After experimenting with it seven years he wrote that paper: "With good ground and care it will make from 50 to 100 bushels to the acre, and planted thick and cut stalk and all it will make more feed and better feed than anything I ever saw. The old Indian said poultry fed on it would never have the cholera. I have not lost a fowl with cholera since I have been raising it. It also pops beautifully." This article brought hundreds of requests for seed, and now only a few bushels are left. Send 10c for a 3 months' trial subscription to Southern Agriculturist, 39 C. P. Bldg., Nashville, Tenn., and you will get 100 seed by return mail, also details of $50 prize seed-growing contest.
