Raleigh.

The Senate killed the Muse bill designed to break up the state policy of airing the construction of railroads in undeveloped territory by working convicts in exchange for stock; and this ,with the action of the house more than a week ago in defeating the Page bills to repeal the acts that authized the convict work now in progress, is taken to mean that the 1915 Legislature has now fixed this state aid policy at least to the extent of carrying out the compacts that the state has wih railroad companies for his co-operative construction work.

It was a lively debate on the Muse bill with Senator Muse and Senator McLeod arguing strenuously for the bill and Senators Chatham, Ballou, Thompson of Iredell and others makin gthe fight for the continuance of the convict work as at present. The Muse bill would have required the state treasurer to credit the state's prison with the actual expense of the state's prison in maintaining the convicts at work on the roads, instead of with the par value of the stock taken in exchange for the work. The bill was killed 34 to 7.

No Child Labor Legislation Now.

Lacy Replies to Critica. State treasurer B. R. Lacy made a detailed answer before the Finance Committee to the recent sensational criticisms of the management of the of the treasury by the State Board of Internal Improvement. His statement was to the effect that the report of the board did him great injustice in representing that while he had large sums of state funds in the treasury he needlessly borrowed other large sums. It was made to appear that he had $391,000 in bank and borrowed $300,000 more at 6 per cent, the bank re-loaning it at 6 per cent more, making 12 per cent, "some velvet for the bank." He said he did nothing of the sort, but the real fact was that the balance in bank at that time was $391,973, of which $300,600 was bor-

Big Flood of Petitions.

In the house there was another big flood of petitions for the State Anti-Saloon League legislation. They included petitions from Forsyth, Wake, Alamance, Mitchell, Surry, Hyde, Cherokee, Columbus, Iredell, Davie, Davidson, Guilford, Caswell, Union, Northampton, Halifax, Henderson, Greene, Gaston, Pender, Randolph, Bertie, Harnett, Duplin, Haywood, Richmond, Onslow and other counties. There came also a petition for woman's suffrage sent forward by Representative Mayo of Beaufort. He stirred much merriment among the members by covering his face with his bands feigning blushing embarrassment as the petition was being read to the house.

Bills Passed Final Reading as Follows

To amend the charter of High Point; to authorize a special tax in Alexander DR. ANNA HOWARD SHAW.

throughout, while Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Suffrage Association, expounded the principles of a complete democracy, perfect freedom, and thorough representation. They not only listened; they applauded, the logic, they laughted with the ridicule, and they drank in the wisdom of the leader of the cause. With sharp analysis, with sound reasoning, pounding straight to the fundamental principles of government, she floyed custom, she laid prejudice in ing a balance of $14,818.24 to be apthe shade, and hanged the chivalry that represses rather than frees.

Other Speakers.

She was not the only one either. Mrs. Archibald Henderson, president of the Equal Suffrage League in North Carolina; Mrs. T. W. Lingle, of Davidson; Mrs, T. Adelaide Goodno, of Raleigh; Mrs. Al Fairbrother, of Greensboro; Mrs. Eugene Reilly, of Charlotte,-all of them spoke and in full fearlessness, cutting away the non-essentials with the keen edges of their discernment, and attacking the problem with earnestness to convince, and to achieve what they believe to be their just rights.

Long time before the hour of the meeting came practically all the seats in the hall of the House had been occupied. When the hour had approached and even passed for the hearing to begin, ladies had to turn the tables of courtesy, and resign chairs that the committee before whom they were supposed to appear, should have seats. This kept many legislators who would otherwise have been present from gracing the hall in person.

Men in Minority.

"I wasn't afraid to go in," said a legislator who passed by the door with a mere look. But I was in such a hopeless minority I was discouraged."

The committee seemed to be in a minority too, at first. With the resounding applause which greeted the address of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the committee was almost swept off its combined feet by a motion to re-

The joint session resolved into executive sessions of each committee. Behind closed doors the vote was taken, the die cast, and the fate of the equalsuffrage bill for this session of the General Assembly at least, was determined.

In the Senate committee the, vote was as follows: Cohoon, Gardner, Hobgood for the favorable report; and McNeely, Giles, Chatham, and Gilliam against.

The House committee voted as follows: Eure, Thomas, Long for favorable report; and Page, Allen, Roberts, Vann, Winburne, Bynum against it. This doesn't end the discussion of the bill by any means. Although, it is judged to be the lest by which the fate for the bill this session will be judged there is to be further and perhaps more heated debates.
