Scout Rededication Is Tradition

Boy Scouts have been rededicating themselves to the Scout Oath and Law for more than fifty years as part of the Scout Week observance, according to B. B. Longest of Rose Hill, chairman of Duplin County Boy Scouts of America.

"Scouts learn that they owe it to themselves, to their country, and to their God to develop their bodies, to train their minds, and to strive to be boys and men of high character," he continued.

"On my honor I will do my best. To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; To help other people at all times; To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

The Scout Law is the foundation on which the whole Scout movement is built. The Scout Law becomes the code of action by which the Scout tries to live.

The Scout Law requires a Scout to be: Trustworthy, Loyal, Helpful, Friendly, Courteous, Kind, Obedient, Cheerful, Thrifty, Brave, Clean and Reverent.

"We feel that by living up to the Scout Oath and Law, a Scout sets a high standard for himself and that he builds himself into the kind of
