as his bigger playmates, and must come in the same "grown-up" crew-neck, turtle-neck or V-neck-pull-over or cardigan model. Miss Martha Ann Hurt, clothing specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service at N. C. State, says that Junior will also probably want a ski parka, complete with hood and a warm but lightweight lining. However, there should be a way of making these youngsters look different and younger. And Miss Hurt says that this can be done through color. The smaller boy is not nearly so conservative as the bigger one. So this will be the time to give him a red blazer jacket instead of a black or olive; or a brighter plaid on his shirt or a bolder color on his sport coat or sweater. The small lad likes color and brightness. Because of the rough and tumble way the youngsters get around, Mothers should be aware of the newest man-made fibers and finishes. These are the "miracle" agents that make for more retention, water and stain repellency and wash and wear or easy care. The mother should read the labels and handtags that come with the clothes so that she will know how to take care of the garments. EVERYONE READS DUPLIN TIMES CLASSIFIED ADS.

Weiner Roast

Robert Mills of Jacksonville entertained friends with a weiner roast Tuesday night at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Dossie Lanier of the Cedar Fork Community. Those attending were Paul Wilkins and Ava Mills of Jacksonville, Patricia Lanier, Lola Sloan Lanier, Jo Ann Raynor, Gale Edwards and Bobby Lewis.

Fashion Goes To Grade School

If there is anything that the young, irrepressible grade school boy will not stand for this fall, it is being made to "dress like a baby."

Mother will do well to see that Junior has shirts that have the big-boy stripes and checks and plaids—even the same sort of button-down collar or short neat "spread" that the teen-ager wears. And he will want his suits and sport coats to have the simple yet masculine traditional, natural-shoulder lines that sophisticated grown-ups are wearing.

His sweaters must have the same colorful ski look or soft shaggy look
