

Duplin Times

PROGRESS SENTINEL

VOLUME XXX NO. 39

KENANSVILLE, N.C.

THURSDAY OCTOBER 3, 1963

PRICE 10C PLUS 1¢ TAX

4-H Poultry Chain Show Held

The Duplin County 4-H Poultry Chain Show and Sale was held at the Agricultural Building in Kenansville on September 25, 1963. The show was held under the supervision of Associate Extension Agent, Shadie E. Wilson and Extension Agent, Marion C. Griffin, with Dr. W.G. Andrews, Extension Poultry Specialist from N.C. State College, serving as Judge. The show was termed as one of the most successful shows and sales held in recent years. All eight entries were awarded blue ribbons by Dr. Andrews. The average price received per bird was $2.93.

According to the Extension Agents, along with the 4-H exhibitors, would like to thank the buyers for making the show and sale a success.

One Entry Made In Tobacco Price

The Sheriff's Office solved a breaking, entering and larceny case this week with the arrest of three boys and the recovery of some of the goods alleged stolen from the J.B. Strickland Store in Calypso on September 11.

Arrested were: Rudy Cashwell, Route 2, Faison; Roby Saunders, Route 4, Clinton, and William Bryant Lee of Mt. Olive, all white.

Ten wrist watches, two knives, a Remington 22 automatic rifle, two transistor radios, dungearees and a cigarette lighter alleged taken from the store were recovered. Some articles missed by Mr. Strickland are still unaccounted for.

Lamont Kornegay, of route 2, Seven Springs, presented a tobacco sales bill from a Goldsboro warehouse, dated September 26, which showed that Jones and Kornegay had sold 2,542 pounds of tobacco for $1,829.06. That figures an average of $72.70 per hundred pounds.

E.L. Sheffield Succumbs At 48

Funeral services for Edwin L. Sheffield, age 48, who died Monday, were conducted Wednesday at 11:00 a.m., from the Warsaw Presbyterian Church by Rev. Norman Flowers, Pastor of the Warsaw Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. James D. Beckwith of Saint Michael's Episcopal Church of Raleigh. Burial followed in Pinecroft cemetery in Warsaw.

Sheffield was a native of Warsaw, a graduate of N.C. State College and was associated with his brother in the firm of Sheffield Motor Company, automobile dealers. He was a member of the Warsaw Masonic Lodge, and a member of the Warsaw Rotary Club. As a member of the Warsaw Presbyterian Church, he served his church as Elder and Clerk of the Session of the Church. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy Kerr Sheffield, three daughters, Allie, Diane and Mary all of the home; his mother, Mrs. E.C. Sheffield, Sr., of Warsaw, and two brothers, E.C. Sheffield, Jr., and Charles J. Sheffield, both of Warsaw.

RALEIGH - The Motor Vehicles Department's summary of traffic deaths through 10:00 Monday, September 30:

Killed To Date 544

Killed To Date Last Year .. 529

Senator John R. Jordan Speaks To Democrats

Democrats, 250 strong attended the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Duplin County Democratic Women's Club on Tuesday evening at East Duplin School.

They enjoyed a delightful supper in the school cafeteria and heard a vigorous and informative speech by Senator John R. Jordan, a young attorney who represents Wake County in the State Senate.

Senator Jordan reminded the Democrats that Roosevelt carried the State in 1936 by a majority of 468,000 and that this majority had been reduced to only 15,000 on the last election, and this small majority was possible only because of the large Democratic vote of Eastern North Carolina. Senator Jordan urged Eastern Carolina to again emerge as the leaders of the Democratic Party and stressed that we are now indispensable for the party in the State.

Mrs. C.B. Penny, President of Democratic Woman's Club of Duplin County, was mistress of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Mrs. Christine W. Williams, Registrar of Deeds, and the welcome given by Mrs. Penny. Mrs. Robert Blackmore, vice-president of the club, recognized the distinguished guests and county officials. Mrs. Avon Sharp presented a certificate of recognition to Mr. Faison McGowen in appreciation for his long years of service in the Democratic Party in Duplin.

Senator Jordan was introduced by Leroy G. Simmons, who represents Duplin in the State Senate.

He warned that the opposition was getting to the new voter and was able to create great financial support for their cause, and warned that the Democrats must not only make every effort to get the voter to the polls but support the party with our means too.

To get to the people and keep North Carolina Democratic, he suggested that the

Management Course

Offered Business Men

The Goldsboro Industrial Education Center will offer an administrative management institute for owners and managers in cooperation with the distributive education service and the Wallace-Rose Hill High School in Teachey. Sponsors of the institute are the small business administration and the Wallace Chamber of Commerce.

The institute will include eight sessions on Thursday nights from 7:30-9:30 beginning October 3, 1963, with the last session on November 21, 1963. Meetings will be held in room 8 at the Wallace-Rose Hill High School. The following topics will be discussed: Analyzing functions of management, interpreting financial records and reports, credit and collections management, training and supervision, controlling expenses for increased profits, sales promotion management, business insurance, and personnel development.

The management program is designed to help owners and managers of business increase their understanding and abilities in management functions and assist assistant managers who are training to become trainers and managers.

Through this training, the business man achieves the following: 1. The knowledge of systematic approach to solving everyday problems; 2. An opportunity to meet and discuss problems with other business men; 3. An introduction to the sources of information available to the business operator; 4. An opportunity to increase individual management skills that may be used as a tool to leaders should give the people what they have the right to expect from good leadership. He advocated three changes: (1) Raise the State income tax personal exemption from $300 to $600. (2) Allow the deduction of part or all of federal income tax paid from the state schedule. (3) Reduce power rates by changing the law on which power companies base their profits.

Senator Jordan urged Eastern Carolina to again emerge as the leaders of the Democratic Party and stressed that we are now indispensable for the party in the State.

Mrs. C.B. Penny, President of Democratic Woman's Club of Duplin County, was mistress of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Mrs. Christine W. Williams, Registrar of Deeds, and the welcome given by Mrs. Penny. Mrs. Robert Blackmore, vice-president of the club, recognized the distinguished guests and county officials. Mrs. Avon Sharp presented a certificate of recognition to Mr. Faison McGowen in appreciation for his long years of service in the Democratic Party in Duplin.

Senator Jordan was introduced by Leroy G. Simmons, who represents Duplin in the State Senate.

He warned that the opposition was getting to the new voter and was able to create great financial support for their cause, and warned that the Democrats must not only make every effort to get the voter to the polls but support the party with our means too.

To get to the people and keep North Carolina Democratic, he suggested that the

Management Course

Offered Business Men

improve operations.

Registrations will be accepted in the order in which received. The fee for the entire institute will be only $15.00 since part of the cost is borne by the North Carolina Distributive Education Service. Interested persons are invited to contact the Wallace Chamber of Commerce for registration applications and further information.

Instructors for the institute will be: Dr. Richard I. Levin, professor, School of Business Administration, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; W.G. Slattery, teacher-educator, Distributive Education Service, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, North Carolina; Dr. E.A. Fails, professor of marketing, State College, Falls & Sheppard, accountants, Raleigh, North Carolina; Dr. C.H. McGregor, professor, School of Business Administration, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; J.H. Borst, General Manager, Prudential Insurance Company, Winston, North Carolina; Dixon Hall, Coordinator, Distributive Education, Goldsboro Industrial Education Center; Carl Whitehurst, Assistant State Supervisor, Distributive Education, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Local advisors to the institute are: L.M. Whaley, Wallace Drug Company; W.N. Taylor, First National Bank, Vincent Lowe, Branch Banking & Trust Company, all of Wallace, North Carolina; and D.D. Abernathy, Principal, Wallace-Rose Hill High School, Teachey, North Carolina.

In Raleigh, they visited the Department of Water Resources; Dr. Stucky, State Geologist, and Russell Hanson, Lewis Dunn, Allison D. Allison and Albert Calloway of the Department of Conservation and Development.

CLEARING PLACE---For Poultry Jubilee dinner where world's largest frying pan will be used. (STAFF PHOTO BY GENE PIERCE)

Poultry Jubilee

World's Largest Frying Pan Nears Completion

Rose Hill- Fried chicken cooked in the world's largest frying pan will be one of the many exciting events in store for South-eastern North Carolina folks attending the Poultry Jubilee in Rose Hill, October 19th.

The frying pan, now under construction, will be fifteen feet in diameter. This exceeds the largest known, located in Delaware, by some fourteen inches. It is being constructed of sheet steel and being built by employees of Ramsey Feed Company of Rose Hill, local poultry firm, just for the occasion.

Plans now call for it to be heated by gas while local chefs will serve the individual plates directly from the frying pan where the chicken has been cooked.

Guided tours, another major attraction, will be held at intervals by shuttle service on trucks prepared especially for the event. Visitors to the area may see firsthand the various phases of the industry where trained personnel will explain each operation. Plans now call for a complete roundtrip where each pace will see the bird progress from an egg to the table.

Officers of such firms as Nash Johnson & Son Farms Inc., Ramsey Feed Co. Inc., Rose Hill Poultry Corp., and Raleigh Hatcheries of Rose Hill have become influential in the poultry industry while the names of their firms are synonymous with the poultry growth, both chickens and turkeys, in North Carolina.

The Poultry Jubilee is being sponsored by the Jaycees, the Chamber of Commerce and interested business men of the area. Leo Lanier is over-all chairman. Dennis Ramsey is planning for the tours, Horace Fussell, Jr. has charge of the dinner plans, and Leo Jones is arranging for the entertainment. Cecil Rhodes is responsible for the advertisement of the event.

Dignitaries connected with the poultry industry, and other well-known personalities, are slated to be at the Jubilee to help salute the occasion.

Officials of the Jubilee in Rose Hill, point to this town as center of the poultry industry in the Southeastern part of the state and to the phe-

Criminal Court Begins Monday

The October term of Superior Court convenes Monday with Judge Howard H. Hubbard presiding, and Solicitor Walter T. Britt.

The docket includes two murder cases, a manslaughter case, crime against nature and rape, peeping Tom, and a number of assault with deadly weapon and breaking and entering cases.

Horace Chambers and James Henry Robinson will be tried for murder; Theodore Roosevelt Boney for manslaughter;

Officers Visit Raleigh

Preston B. Raiford, Director, and C.W. Surratt, President of the Duplin County Industrial and Agricultural Council, Inc., spent Thursday in Raleigh with various State officials.

The purpose of the visit was to get acquainted with the various officials, to request assistance in developing Duplin County and to secure reference materials to be used in the work of the newly formed council.

Mr. Preston became director of the council September 23, after having had wide experience in development work. For the past 14 years, he has been executive vice-president of the Tuscaloosa Chamber of Commerce. He worked in Winston-Salem for ten years and has demonstrated his ability to get things done in numerous projects.

In Raleigh, they visited the Department of Water Resources; Dr. Stucky, State Geologist, and Russell Hanson, Lewis Dunn, Allison D. Allison and Albert Calloway of the Department of Conservation and Development.

Chloe Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.O. Johnson, of Rose Hill, was riding her saddle horse Sunday afternoon in the vicinity of the Nash Johnson & Sons Farms feed mill when the horse struck an electric wire and was instantly killed.

The mill has two large floodlights in the mill yard powered by electric cables run underground. Chloe rode her horse between these two light poles and the horse mired in the ground over one of the cables. Her foot evidently broke the conductive wire to make contact there in the ground softened by heavy rain. Death for the horse was instantaneous.

Chloe escaped serious injury perhaps because she could have been insulated from the electricity by the saddle and stirrups made of wood. She received some shock and was, needless to say, frightened by the narrow brush with death.

Ice Cream Truck Overturns

laville Monday evening.

Atroymen A.S. Butler, the investigating officer, said that the ice cream truck overturned on top of the Mercury. Clifton Murray, operator of the Mercury, gave a left-hand turn signal then whipped back across the ground over one of the cables. His foot evidently broke the conductive wire to make contact there in the ground softened by heavy rain. Death for the horse was instantaneous.

Chloe escaped serious injury perhaps because she could have been insulated from the electricity by the saddle and stirrups made of wood. She received some shock and was, needless to say, frightened by the narrow brush with death.