

Community Development Members Attend Sewing Class

Thirteen ladies in the Deep Bottom Community, Route 2, Wallace met recently at the home of Mrs. Lottie Brown to participate in a local sewing class. The class was organized on January 15, following a show of interest from women in the community development club who felt that home sewing was one way to supplement adequate family income.

MICHAEL COSTIN IS SEVEN

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Costin honored their youngest son, Michael, on his 7th birthday Sunday with a dinner at the home of Michael's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Costin near Warsaw.

A delicious dinner consisting of fried chicken, potato salad, butter beans, savory cabbage, relishes, hot rolls, coffee and tea, and birthday cake was served.

Those helping Michael celebrate the happy occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Todd and Susan, Mrs. Polly Costin, Pat, Johnny, Doug, and Debbie of Kenansville, Frank Costin of Goldsboro, and Michael's brothers, Nathan and Charles.

At the organizational meeting, instruction was centered around a discussion on "Ways to Make Old Garments Fashionable" which inspired three women to re-style old coats.

"What you can learn from your printed pattern," was discussed in detail for the benefit of the women who are inexperienced in clothing construction. Individual measurements, pattern size, and directions found on the guide sheet and pattern pieces were among

Excellent Display of Genealogical Resources Shown To Colonial Dames

Mrs. C. B. Williams of Beaufort and Mrs. A. T. St. Amand of Wilmington were hostesses to the Lord Craven Chapter Colonial Dames XVII Century, which met at Fergus Ark, Wilmington, on Saturday, February 22 at 11:00 a.m. with the president, Mrs. St. Amand, presiding.

At the morning business session, Mrs. B. R. Morrison of Wilmington, Corresponding Secretary, gave a report of the 40th National Conference to be held in Washington, D.C. April 15-17. Mrs. St. Amand and Mrs. Wm. H. Andrews, III of Elizabethtown, were elected as delegates to this conference. Attention was called to the state meeting in Raleigh on May 2.

A coat of arms, the correct size for the frieze at National Headquarters in Washington, was exhibited. Mrs. St. Amand urged members to have the arms of the ancestor on whom they joined the society emblazoned accordingly and sent in to become a part of the frieze.

After a delicious smorgasbord luncheon, Mrs. R. G. Hodkin of Wilmington introduced the speaker, Mrs. Sam C. Kellam of Wilmington, who is First Vice President of the North Carolina Society Colonial Dames XVII Century, as well as Registrar of the Lord Craven Chapter. Mrs. Kellam spoke on sources of tracing family lines. She began by quoting from Edmund Burke that a man who is not proud of his ancestry will never leave after him anything for which his posterity may be proud of him. And as the honors of Heraldry have almost exclusively been the rewards of genius, valor, patriotism, and industry, they should be a continued stimulus to the descendants of those who bore them, to impart to the names additional lustre, and to the symbols the virtue and worth with which they are so largely imbued. She explained the correct and best procedure to find information on one's ancestors, such as the use of published records, which include genealogical books, rosters, marriage and death notices in newspapers, as well as records of wills, deeds, land grants, court minutes, found in court-houses; also, the vast sources of unpublished records such as gravestones, church registers, church rolls, pension records, depositions in court cases, and others. She had on display an array of published and unpublished records. Of particular interest were the genealogical charts and diagrams showing names of those who occupied the pews in some of the old churches. Of interesting books, she called attention to "The First Register of St. James Episcopal Church," "The Barons of South Carolina," "Land Grants of Virginia," "Cavaliers & Pioneers" bound mimeographed records of family histories and others.

Her talk was not only interesting but gave much valuable information to all present.

At the close of the meeting the officers for the next two years were elected, said officers to be installed at the May meeting.

Those from Duplin attending were: Miss Sallie Bowden, Warsaw, Mrs. Gardner Edwards, Beaufort, and the hostess Mrs. Williams.

MRS. TORRANS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Bruce Torrans was hostess to the Baltic Bridge Club Thursday evening at her home. Those enjoying bridge were Mrs. James Sutton, Mrs. Thurman Gaster, Mrs. Woodrow Smith, Mrs. Clinton Rouse, Mrs. Bob Blanchard, Mrs. Winnie Davis and Mrs. Mattie Torrans.

During progressions, the hostess served Cokes and pretzels and at the end of the second progression, cherry refrigerator dessert and coffee was enjoyed.

When the scores were compiled for the evening, a box of candy was presented to Mrs. Sutton for high, a thread box to Mrs. Gaster for second high and Mrs. Smith received an apron for traveling prize with Mrs. Rouse receiving candy for consolation prize.

Miss Peeler of N C State Nurses Asso. In Kenansville March 13

Miss Helen E. Peeler, R.N., associate executive secretary and counselor for the North Carolina State Nurses' Association, will be in Kenansville at the hospital in the afternoon of March 13, to confer with graduate, student and prospective nurses and employers of nurses in this area on professional problems and job placement.

The NCSNA counseling and placement service is designed to aid student, graduate, professional and practical nurses in guidance and placement, and to help senior student nurses plan their career in professional nursing.

THE LANGUAGE OF DERMOTOLOGISTS

Impetigo, ecthyma, sycosis vulgaris and paronychia are not words that you would ordinarily hear during your average day. But, they are part of the everyday language of a physician. These particular words refer to specific skin conditions that must have a certain type of treatment.

There are many products a dermatologist can prescribe to help a person with a skin condition. We carry them in our pharmacy. On many occasions we compound a special formula at the request of the physician.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?
