Interment followed in Devotional Gardens near Warsaw.
In addition to her husband she is survived by one son, Willie James Trott of Beulaville; two daughters, Mrs. Zannie Mae Cottle of the home and Mrs. Kathleen Whaley of Beulaville; four brothers, I. S. Hunter of Laredo, Texas, Willie Hunter of Warsaw, John Hunter of Beulaville, Lawson Hunter of Richlands, two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Radford of Kinston and Mrs. Alma Whaley of Beulaville; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
Mrs. Jackson was assisted by Wanda Blizard.

All proceeds of the admission charge to the Salvador Dall "Art-in-Jewels" exhibit at the Pavilion of Spain at the New York World's Fair are going to the American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, and New York University Medical Center's Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

"Hope for Hearts" has been selected as the general theme of the 1965 Heart Fund campaign in North Carolina. It's appropriate to note that the old Anglo-Saxon word for "help," still used in parts of the state, is "hope," the North Carolina Heart Association points out, urging Tar Heels to "hope" the Heart Fund help their hearts.
