

Goodson Reports On State Wildlife Conference

By: Bobby Goodson
Duplin County Representative

This year I was fortunate in being selected as one of the two delegates from my county to attend State Wildlife Conference at Camp Millstone. On Monday morning we had orientation and introduction of staff and instructors.

At assembly on Tuesday morning, Miss Barber, Educational Representative of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, spoke on "Conservation and Your Future."

Mr. Howard Ellis, Agriculture Engineering Specialist spoke to our group on "Conservation Engineering."

Tuesday afternoon all Wildlife Campers were divided into four groups and assigned to conservation task forces with each group assuming a different task. Our group, under the direction of Hugh Fields, Wildlife specialist, constructed wood duck.

At assembly Miss Barber told the campers about her Alaskan adventure. This was interesting as well as educational.

At assembly on Wednesday morning, we heard the winning Wildlife demonstration which was on How To Trap Muskrats For Profits.

On Wednesday morning our class heard a discussion on "Plants and Nature Study" by Mr. Conley Moffett, Chief Naturalist, Division of State Parks. We discussed plants that were growing out of their natural habitat.

That afternoon we had a demonstration of Forest Management by Mr. Whitfield, Forest Management Specialist.

Thursday morning we had a demonstration on Preparing a Conservation Article by Mr. Arrington. He showed the group how he took pictures of Wildlife for the Wildlife magazine.

Following assembly we went to our daily classes. Our group had Water Biology. The instructor was Mr. Hammett, Curator, North Carolina State Museum of Natural History.

In the afternoon we had a small craft and water safety demonstration. This was presented by Mr. Lineberry, Wildlife Protection Supervisor; Thomas M. Daniels, Wildlife Patrolman; and E. R. Jarrett. All three men were from the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission.

Friday morning at assembly we had representatives of each group to tell the group what each individual had Tuesday at their Task Force Meetings.

Following assembly our group had Wildlife Management by Mr. Hugh Fields, Wildlife Specialist.

That afternoon we had a Fishing and Tackle demonstration by Mr. Hugh Fields and Mr. Hammett.

Saturday morning we packed and headed home.

IT WAS FOGGY WHEN THE CADILLAC MET THE TRUCK. Physical damage totaling $7,000 resulted Thursday morning when a 1964 Cadillac operated by Noland R. Mattocks of Rose Hill and a 1963 Chevrolet truck operated by William Murphy of Rocky Point were involved in an accident 2 mi. north of Rose Hill on Hwy 117. The truck was passing another automobile when it met Mr. Mattocks, who suffered bruises and minor cuts. The truck driver was charged with careless and reckless driving.

Jasper Traces Broiler Industry Growth

The amazing development of the U. S. broiler industrial was graphically traced recently by an American Farm Bureau poultry specialist.

Dr. A. William Jasper, addressing a broiler industry gathering in Atlanta, cited these and other giant efficiency strides:

Broiler production has leaped from about 34 million in 1942 to over two billion last year. This is roughly 60 times what it was 30 years ago.

Chick mortality has been cut in half over the past fifteen years. During the same period, chick-costs have declined by about one-third. Better feed and improved chicks have brought this about.

Total production costs have been slashed by more than 40 per cent over the past fifteen years. Prices paid to growers, meanwhile, have declined by some 50 per cent.

"Lower prices to consumers, particularly since 1954," said Jasper, "have resulted in chicken becoming an everyday

Producing a broiler of just over three pounds live weight in 1948 took over twelve weeks and over 3.5 pounds of feed for each pound of gain. Now it takes just a bit over eight weeks and only some 2.2 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

In 1950-51 producing 100 pounds of broiler required 3.1 man-hours of labor. In 1960-62, the labor requirement had shrunk to less than one hour for the same production, or a drop of about two-thirds.

Chick mortality has been cut in half over the past fifteen years. During the same period, chick-costs have declined by about one-third. Better feed and improved chicks have brought this about.

Total production costs have been slashed by more than 40 per cent over the past fifteen years. Prices paid to growers, meanwhile, have declined by some 50 per cent.

"Lower prices to consumers, particularly since 1954," said Jasper, "have resulted in chicken becoming an everyday menu item in America, both in the home and away from home."

Per capita consumption of broiler meat, on a ready-to-cook basis, soared from 5.5 pounds in 1948 to 25.8 pounds last year.

The best-fed folks in the world (at the best price) are having a fowl ball.

ITEM: Carpet beetles and clothes moths have proven to be household pests from way back. USDA specialists suggest that you spray a 5-per cent DDT oil solution on rugs and carpets every 12 to 18 months to guard against insect damage. Use 1-1/2 to 2 quarts of spray on a 9-by-12 rug of average weight, if you spray the en-

Dress Up Everyday Foods

Does that pizza look a little less than luscious? Before placing in oven add some wedges of mozzarella cheese and ripe olive halves to make a pretty design on top.

A can of tomato soup will make a nice sauce for hamburgers prepared for supper. Top with dabs of sour cream and chives before they come to the table.

Any meat platter can be dressed up with cling peach halves into which you've put a spoonful of marshmallow creme and a half a pecan meat.

Whip together softened butter with 1/4 cup of frozen orange juice concentrate and a bit of confectioners' sugar. Whip and serve fluffy mounds on pancakes or waffles.

Slivered fresh mushrooms and pimiento strips will dress up chicken or turkey heated in its own gravy.

Looking for something new in stew? Small onions, potato balls and Italian green beans change the picture.

Helen's Favorite:
Glazed Leftover Meat (Serves 6)
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons molasses
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 cup chopped onion
12 slices leftover meat (from roast)
Combine oil, soy sauce, molasses, vinegar and onion. Heat to boiling, then cover and simmer 10 minutes. Arrange meat slices in shallow pan and brush with 1/2 of the sauce. Bake in a hot (400°F.) oven for 25 minutes, brushing occasionally.

tire rug. Fluoride solutions are also satisfactory for protecting rugs and carpets. Follow the manufacturer's directions for applying.

ITEM: Shrubs and evergreens planted too close to white or light-colored houses cringe from reflection of intense summer sunlight. They bend or lean away. But after a time the parts exposed to hot bouncing sunlight becomes "cooked" and often the entire plant dies.

ITEM: Here's an easy way to erase light furniture scratches. Simply rub them with equal parts of boiled linseed oil, turpentine and white vinegar. Or, you can purchase proprietary materials to do this job from your local, reputable paint dealer.

FAST TOWN — On the lane dividing the campus and the playground of the Rose Hill School the State has placed signs reading 35 mph. It may be right, but it looks odd right on the schoolyard. At the swimming pool, where there is always a scramble of children, bicycles and dogs, they have raised the speed limit to 55 mph. The restricted area at Ramsey's Mill, Road 1102, has been raised from 25 mph to 35 mph. Speed may be part of progress, but it also begets death.
