Garments of stretch fabrics are becoming popular in the state. Hints on sewing, cutting, pressing and fitting the new fabric have been discussed at club meetings in Duplin County.

Mrs. Mae Spicer, home economics agent, says homemakers are also interested in how to care for the new fabrics. With many new fabrics on the market, it is important that homemakers learn to sew and care for the fabrics in the proper way.

New Golf Pro At Club - Accident Led To Career

Marvin Watson came to Duplin Country Club about two weeks ago as Golf Pro from Bolling Spring Lakes Country Club near Southport. He went to Southport a few years ago from Wilmington where he started his golf career at the Municipal Golf Course under Lawrence Cook.

A native of Wilmington, he was a football-baseball player on the New Hanover High School team when a serious football injury received in a high school game in 1952 completely altered his athletic career and resulted in his becoming a golf pro.

When he was 16 years of age, he weighed 170 pound and was fast on the football field. In baseball he was just as great, for in successive years as the American Legion second baseman in Wilmington he had compiled batting averages of .370 and .375.

All of this bright career was wiped out in one blinding flash when Watson was knocked cold early in the first period of the Chowan Junior College game that fall. He spent the next several weeks in the hospital, and when the doctor finally gave him the news, it was bad: His career in contact sports was over. There would be no more baseball or football for him to play.

The doctor suggested to Watson that he try his hand at golf. This didn't sound like much of a substitute for his first athletic loves, but a short time later he decided to go out to the course with some of his friends to give the game a try.

It was a case of love at first sight. The first day he started playing at 8 a. m. and only darkness drove him off the course. He had three rounds for the day and they showed 90, 60 and 49. Watson was on his way.

Watson practiced every spare moment that he was not working. One of his early golfing friends was Clyde King, who gave him some important tips and checked his swing until Watson had a 38 for 9 holes and a 79 for eighteen. Five years later he became assistant pro to Lawrence Cook at the Municipal Golf Course in Wilmington. He applied for his membership card in the Carolinas PGA and said it was one of the happiest days of his life when his credentials arrived.

When the new golf course opened at Bolling Spring Lakes Country Club, Watson was offered the job. He accepted and counts his time and experience there among the most pleasant things that have ever happened to him. He and his family lived at Southport for the past year and a half, until he moved to Duplin.

His wife is from Supply, N. C. which is about 30 miles from Wilmington. They have a young daughter, Joy, who is two years of age.

Junior Seal Sale Chairman

BY: ANNA LEE HAWES
 Health, a "state of complete physical, mental, and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity," is important in the life of every individual. I work toward this goal each day.

My interest in health work has grown in the last five years while working on my 4-H health project. As I work on this project, I learn that one cannot have good personal health without promoting better community health. If one does not try to prevent contagious diseases, others will get them. Also, a person cannot be socially healthy and not keep up with the news of the community.

By working hard on personal, family, and community health, I was crowned Duplin County health queen in 4-H last year. I have grown to love health work and I'm considering a career in health.

Following are some of the activities I have done to promote better health in my community.

Candystriper at Duplin General Hospital.

Collected money for different health agencies.

Helped with blood clinic. Distributed health pamphlets. Had a fire prevention campaign.
