HOME FOR CHRISTMAS
 Remember last summer when the temperature stayed stubbornly high for several sweltering weeks?
 Karen Anne does. She felt especially hot, tired and listless almost all summer, even on the occasional days when the rest of us were enjoying a breather of relief.
 Now most of us are buttoning up against December's chilly winds, but Karen is looking out her window with excitement and anticipation. It's a hospital window, and Karen doesn't need to "button up" against the chill. Her skimpy hospital gown is all she needs—right now.
 But she's been promised she'll be home for Christmas. Back with her family. Snug in the nest.
 All the good year-long remembered smells. Evergreens, spicy cookies from the oven, the wine heady odor of fruit cake, and soon, the fragrant and crackling reminder that the turkey is "coming along nicely," as her mother always says.
 She will be home for Christmas—and the memories of last summer—truly a long, hot one for Karen, will be whisked away in the snowy crispness of December, the holiday season. It is a "holiday" indeed for this particular little girl. Her TB, diagnosed last summer when her symptoms persisted longer than the heat might account for, is now under control.
 With continued care, she will see—and enjoy—a full life of Christmases-to-come.
 Your Christmas Seal Campaign starts now. You will receive your stamps some time this week. Support this campaign for it insures happy holidays for many others.

TOBACCO REFERENDUM

Flue-cured tobacco farmers throughout the flue-cured area will vote in a referendum in December. Their vote will determine if quotas will be in effect for the 1965, 1966, and 1967 crops of flue-cured tobacco. If they approve quotas by at least a 2/3 majority, marketing quotas will be in effect and price support available to tobacco farmers for the next three years. If farmers do not approve quotas, there would be no price support available on tobacco.

This year's referendum is on quotas and price support only. Any major changes in the present program would require new legislation and approval by tobacco growers in another referendum.

The outcome of this referendum is vitally important to North Carolina. Tobacco produces over 45% of the cash farm income in the State. Tobacco manufacturing is also one of the major industries. Over 200,000 farm families get a major portion of their income from tobacco. Another 40,000 persons are employed in the manufacturing of tobacco products.

Mufus Elks, Jr., County Office Manager, entered Duplin General Hospital in Kenansville on Sunday, November 22 for an operation. Mr. Elks is doing real well, and we all hope he will soon be up and well.
