Shoulder - Right from the Hisont of Dup

KENANSVILLE, N.C.

FEBRUARY 3, 1966

VOL XXXIII NO. 5

Trial & Error

This past week has been a week of "tall tales." Each person swapping experiences with the other as to how they sur-vived the ordeal of no lights, no heat and no food during the zero weathe

They sound like "tall tales," but they really are not. It is strange how we humans have so much initiative when we need it, and how much hardship we can take when it is forced on

Was talking with Forest Martin who is manager of lines etc., etc. for Carolina Power and Li-ght, and he was saying that he had never seen people as nice about electricity as they had been with this storm. He said that only in a few minor cases had people been ugly. "It seems that everyone understood that we were moving just as fast as we could go, and they were willing to wait it out."

One mother told me that her baby had measles during the ordeal, and had a terrifically high fever. I asked what in the world she did, and she said she just had to stay home from work and stay in bed with the baby to keep her warm. One man told me that milk cows that were used to being milked by electric milkers, milked by electric milkers, would not let you milk them by hand. So some farmers had ta-ken the hose from the wind-shield wipers of their cars for cow milking. Neighbors became more nei-ghood, and shared gas stoves, charcoat grills, washing ma-chines and everything.

....

We of the Duplin Times office and the town of Kenansville were saddened by the death of former co-worker and friend, Margaret Tucker. Margaret, only 51, died in New Orleans of a massive hemorrhage. She was only sick for about an hour. Margaret worked with the Duplin Times for many years

Margaret worked with the Duplin Times for many years, leaving us when she went to live in New Orleans with her husband about 1960. She hand-led correspondence, she worked with the mailing list, she mailed with the mailing list, she mailed the papers, wrote items of news,

The worst ice storm in Ca-rolina Power & Light Com-pany's history left a colossal calling card of personal dis-comfort caused by destruction of electric facilities as it crunched through the Carolinas Tues day and Wednesday.

Ice Storm Brings

The second secon

Cost of the storm to CP&L is expected to exceed $300,000. It was the worst ice storm in the company's history in terms of total area affected, about one-fourth of CP&L's 30,-000-square-mile service area. Over 1,200 personnel were pressed into service in the company's emergency task force, which worked around the clock in many stricken areas to restore service.

Job classifications quickly faded with the urgency of the hour, and suit-and-tie employees donned slickers and boots to help in the emergency. Some crews didn't stop for meals, and were served sandwiches and hot beverages on the spot.

An ordinance was passed to regulate and control the emmis-sion of dense smoke and flying ashes into the atmosphere in the Town of Beulaville, as this was declared a menance to the health, comfort and well-be-ing of the citizens of the town, ing of the clitzens of the town. Therefore, no person, firm or corporation having and main-taining a place of business with-in the corporate limits of the Town of Beulaville shall cause or allow the escape from any stack chimney or open fire stack, chimney or open fire into the open air of such quan-tities of soot, cinders, noxious acide, fumes or gases in such place or manner as to cause injury, detriment or nuisance

med to page 8

Big Damage Bil Ice on trees and limbs was the big villian. Places on CP&L's system which got se-veral inches of soft snow es-caped electric interruptions. The big storm deposited a 60-mile-wide blanket of ice on the CP&L system from below Florence, S. C., to Kinston, N. C. Scores of communities and towns were without power

Continued to page 8

CDAE Graduates 30 Citizens

A total of thirty (30) Duplin County residents completed the 12-hour Civil Defense Adult Education course during the past week. The CDAE course was sponsored by the Warsaw Jay-cees and held Monday through Friday at the National Guard Armory. Bruce Honeycutt, Project Ch-airman for the Warsaw Jaycees, announced that a total of 52 persons participated in the course. Honeycutt was quoted as saying, "The citizens just kept coming. Every night during the week saw more coming for the first time. Even on Fri-day night, four new students enrolled. These persons who enrolled too late to graduate from the course, will be noti-fied when future courses are taught so that they might make missed. We were quite pleased with the number who participated."

The Warsaw Jaycees sponsored the course as part of a State-wide project being spon-sored by the Jaycees. The Jaycees want to encourage citi-zens to gain this basic know-ledge that would help to pro-tect themselves and their families during a nuclear attack or natural disaster.

The course was taught by Lewis Lane, Associate, Civil Defense Adult Education, State Department of Public Instruc-tion in Raleigh, Lane, who is aed to page 8

OFFICERS OF SCOTT AND JONES, INC. AND SUTTON ELECTRIC AND SUPPLY COMPANY AND OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES looking over the site at Calypso of the two companys' new home. These two companies will consolidate their operations from Scott's Store Community and Mount Olive to Calypso. Pictured (L to R) Glanton Barwick, secretary and treasurer Calypso Development Corporation; J. B. "Junie" Strickland, one of the property owners making the site available:

Benjamin Swalin,

Director

ber Little Symphony will pre-sent a total of 64 performan-ces this year of which 44 will be special educational matinees for school children. During

April and May the 65-member

Full Symphony will give 28 chil-dren's concerts and 21 evening

In all, the two units of the North Carolina Symphony will play 113 concerts during 1966's

EDA MEETING

ON MONDAY

An important meeting will be held in the Courthouse at Ke-hansville, on Monday, February 7, at 3:30 p.m. The subject to be discussed is of impor-performances.

21st Annual Tour.

John H. Holliday and Tipp Scott, officers in Scott and Jones, Inc.; Buddy Sutton, owner of Sutton Electric and Supply Company: Elwood Jones, officer in Scott and Jones, Inc.; B. C. Albritton, Mayor and president of Calypso Development Corporation and one of the property owners making the site available; and P. B. Raiford, Director Industrial Development Commission

Calypso will be the proud home of two new businesses, Scott and Jones, Inc. and Sutton Electric and Supply Company. This announcement was made wednesday through the Indus-trial Development Commission of Duplin County. P. B. Ratford Executive Director, handled details for the two companies in getting proper locations and site. Raiford states that he gives full credit to the Calypso Industrial Corporation in secur-ing this location.

PRICE 10¢ PLUS TAX

Scott and Jones, Inc. has a metal fabrication plant--they manufacture and install feed mill equipment and machinery. Sutton Electric and Supply Company, is an electrical contract business and will install the equipment manufactured by Scott and Jones, Inc. Scott and Jones, Inc. has been in operation for several years with their fabrication plant in the Scott's Store Community and office and warehouse in Mount Olive. They are now consolidating the operation on one site and Sutton Electric Company will build adjacent to them, as a matter of convenience to both firms.

The 10-acre site is located on by-pass 117 and road 1006 which is the main intersection at Calypso. Scott and Jones, Inc. are building a 120 x 140 ft. building and Sutton a 60 x 120 foot building. The two companies employ more than 50 pdsons. John H. Holliday of Mount Olive is president of Scott and Jones, Inc., O. W. "Tipp" Scott of Scott's Store Community is vice president and Elwood Jones of Mount Olive is treasurer. Mr. joine stated hat when the fa-brication plant is moved additional equipment will be added. He feels that this move will be more efficient for all concerned and that their manufacturing, delivery and repair ser-vice will be much better. Officials of Scott and Jones Stated that they will continue to operate their present plant at Scotts Store in certain phases of their operations.

Continued to Page 8

and when necessary swept the floor, washed the windows and did anything to be done--way beyond the call of duty. She was even "boss" part of the time. Margaret was smart as could be and could not tolerate laziness in anybody. Her favorite experession for someone who was lazy was: "He wants a job with the work picked out,"

Mrs. Susan Turner of Beu-laville who is 87 years of age, had an emergency operation for hor mursday night. She is get-ting along fine, and has been up and walking about. I went to see her the other day and she is as spry as anyone I have seen in a long time. She is in such good spirits that I felt real good when I left her, but she is anxious to get home to take care of her hogs, chickens and everything else.

Ruth

Mrs. Tucker Funeral Friday

Mrs. Margaret Shaffer Tuc-ker, 51, died Saturday in New Orleans, La. She is survived by her husband, James L. Tuc-ker; four sisters, Mrs. Har-vey E. Blake, Mrs. Mary Rouse and Miss Lila Shaffer, all of Burgast and Mrs. Juwa Beader Burgaw, and Mrs. Ivey Bowden meral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3 p.m. from the Grove Presbyterian Church in Kenansville, Rev. Troy D. Mullis and Rev. Lauren A. Sharpe will conduct the ser-vices. Burial will be in Golden ve Cometery in Kenansville rs. Tucker was an employee moving to New Orchestra In Kenansville mphony Symphony is under the sponsor-ship of the James Sprunt In-Dr. Benjamin Swalin and the North Carolina Little Symphony North Carolina Little Symphony will present soprano Ann Grey Darden as soloist with the Or-chestra at its first appearance in Kenansville at the High School Auditorium on Wednesday, Feb-ruary 9th at 8:30 p.m. The Kenansville concert by the 25-member unit of our State stitute. Admission to the concert is one dollar. Miss Darden was chosen to appear with the Orchestra thappear with the Orchestra th-rough the North Carolina Sym-phony's annual Young Artist Auditions last fall, She will sing "If God Be for Us" from

HERRING, First place winner in the Rose Hill Cub "Pine-wood Derby Race."

Handel's Messiah; the recitative, "At Last the Moment Has Come," and aris, "O Come, Come," and aris, "O Come, Tarry Not," from the opera The Marriage of Figaro by Mo-zart; and "Farewell Forests" from Tachaikowsky's opera Joan of Arc.

A native North Carolinian, Miss Darden was born in Wil-son but grew up near William-ston. After graduatin g from Williamston High School, Miss Darden earned her B. S. Degree from East Carolina and a Master of Music from the University of Texas where she has also undertaken additional studies.

Vocal teachers with whom she has studied include Paul Nickfang, Wills Stewart, and Gladys White.

Miss Darden now teaches plahome in williamston and is continuing her own study of voice with Mrs. White, Dr. Swalin and the 25-memof Duplin County. (Photo by R. P. Grady)

TELEPHONE SERVICE BEING RESTORED

KENANSVILLE - According to Street Richardson, Manager here, telephone engineer's estimates indicate that damage caused by the snow and sleet storm was the worst in many years. The storm temporarily knocked out all toll telephone service and about 1,100 local service telephones.

Additional crews were directed in the area to assist in the restoration work of broken poles, telephone lines and other equipment that was demolished by the sleet storm.

There will be some delay in completing new service instal-lations since all efforts are being directed toward repairing

KENANSVILLE WILL HAVE ABC STORE Town officials stated to the Duplin Times-Progress Senti-nel reply to questions concern-ing the local whiskey store, it would be opened in the near future. An ABC Board, composed of F. F. Oakley, J. C. Nethercutt and Stokes Westbrook, has been appointed.

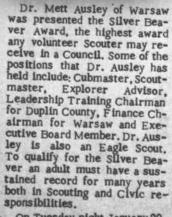

The officials also stated that when a suitable location is obobtained the town is prepared to proceed. The town is attempting to keep from building a store or renting an inappropriate or inaccessible place.

BLOODSHED BOXSCORE

tance to Duplin County and the various towns within its boun-RALEIGH -- The Motor vedary. The meeting in Kenansville, is one of a series of meetings for the purpose of explaining the Continued to page 8 hicles Department's summary of deaths through 10 a.m. Mon-day, January 31; killed to Date, Killed to Date Last Year 106 and restoring service at an expenditure of approximately $70,000.

Richardson asks your con-tinued patience and understanding since every effort is being made to get "out of service" telephones restored.

On Tuesday night January 20, over 200 Scouters and their wives attended the annual recognition banquet held at the Southern Wayne High School at which time this honor was bestowed on Dr. Ausley.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whaley of Kenansville were burned out on Monday night, January 31. They live about two miles from Kenansville.

They were away from home when the house burned destroy-ing all of their clothes and household furnishings. The Kenansville Fire Department was called and saved part of the house.

The Kenansville Fire Department, in an effort to help the family, is making an appeal to anyone who would like to give, in the way of bed linens, clothes or furniture or anything that will help, to contact them at the fire department or to leave gifts with Joe Quinn or Billy Stevens.

Living in the home were Mr. and Mrs. Whaley, their son and their three year old grand son.

SurveyOffice In Beulaville

The Employment Service Mo-bile Team, which had operated in Kenansville since November 15th, moved it's offices to Beulaville this week and began registering the citizens of that area for the Duplin County Manpower Survey. Initial response has been good. The Team is attempting to register every person in Duplin County 16 years of age and over in order to get an overall view of the Manpower available for new and expanding industry. The offices of the Mobile Team are in the Old Bank Building in Ben-laville where they will remain for some five weeks. During for some five weeks. During the week of February 14 through 18 representatives of the Mobile Team will take registrations at the Fire Station in Chinqua-

pin. In addition to the regular registrations, applications for employment at the new Reeves Brothers plant are being taken by the Team. Everyone 16 and over is urged to register as soon as possible.