percent of the Whites in 1950, and, in 1960 was only forty six percent, indicating that the gap is widening, not becoming narrower. Cording had already pointed out that Duplin County was listed as one of the 168 lowest income counties in the nation

After some discussion, the group recommended that the executive committee establish committees in the areas of employment, health, streets and sewage, law enforcement, and Community Development. In other action, the Council implied that grievances of a municipal nature be documented and presented to town councils prior to bringing it to the good neighbor council. The council in its organizational meeting last month adopt-ed as its objectives: to study problems in the area of human relations; to provide equality of opportunity for all citizens; to promote understanding, respect and good will among all citi-zens; to provide channels of communication; to encourage employment of qualified people without regard to race; to encourage youth to be better tr-ained and qualified for employment; to enlist the cooperation and assistance of all state and local governmental officials in the attainment of the objectives of the council.

Hunters

Continued From Page 1 to them when they arrive and after they have eaten their fill and registered themselves and their dogs, the hunt begins. On this particular hunt 87 dogs were registered and hunters were from Kinston, Mount Olive, Macclesfield, Benson, Wallace, Goldsboro, Beulaville, Pink Hill, Teachey, Seven Springs, Farmville and New Bern.

The wind was a bit high and it was hard to keep up with the dogs when they were turned loose. Men were hovered around small fires at the edge of the woods in anticipation.

At one place on the road, the dogs were really on the chase. Everyone stood around all but paralyzed waiting to see the dogs chase the fox across the road. Just as they were almost in sight, all sound ceased and was a few seconds later, which seemed like minutes, when the dogs started barking in opposite directions. The hunters seemed to sigh with relief and said the dogs were chasing two foxes instead of one and had not lost the fox. Then everyone started moving again toward

Trucks with dogs were riding along the roads, and the dogs were impatiently waiting to get in the race. Occasionally a dog in the truck would start barking and seemed to be offering encouragement to the dogs in the chase

In talking to Mr. Smith, I asked him how long had it been since hunters in this area rode horses in a fox chase. said he believed it had been at least 25 years or more. He regretfully told me that he had had to give up keeping his fox dogs, as he didn't hunt much anymore, Mr. Smith further said that the annual fox hunt had meant much to the community. With the funds received from the breakfast and the dinner served after the chase, they have helped build the community build-ing and have supported other worthwhile projects in the community. And then too, it was just a "plumb" good time for everyone,

Steed Of Warsay Included In Book

The Junior Chamber of Com-merce of Warsaw, North Carolina announced today that J. Frank Steed, Jr. of Warsaw, has been selected for inclusion in the 1966 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America. These men were nominated earlier this year by the Jaycee Chap ter and have been selected by a thirteen man National Board of Editors for the publication.

Doug Blankenship, Past U.S. Jaycee President (1962-63) who is serving as chairman of the Board stated that men were selected between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-six who "had distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor to the point of being outstanding."

Outstanding Young Men of America is an annual biographical compilation of approximate-ly 10,000 young men of our-standing rank throughout the country. Nominees for the book come from many sources. However, the majority of the no-minations are made by Junior Chamber of Commerce Chapters and College Alumni Associations.

"This book," states Henry Ford, II, "serves as more than a tribute to those it is meant to honor, it calls attention to the great capabilities of our young men and their capacity for getting things done,"
