

Miss Mallard At NCTC

TAMPA, FLA., July 7 - Mrs. Elizabeth K. Mallard from Wallace, N.C., and Miss Tiny Hammond from Trenton, are among some 350 teachers from all parts of the nation who are taking part in the 23rd National Classroom Teachers Conference here on the campus of the University of South Florida. Theme for the meeting, which continues through July 15, is "Opportunity for Responsibility - Organizing for Innovation." The conference follows a lecture-discussion pattern with morning and evening general sessions and small afternoon work groups.

Among the many prominent speakers delegates have heard in the general session meetings include the president of the University of Florida John S. Allen; DCT president Charles F. Deubel of Freeport, N.Y.; Cecil J. Hannan, assistant executive secretary for professional development and welfare of the National Education Association; Margaret Stevenson, DCT executive secretary.

Many of the teachers attending the conference are applying for credit hours through the University as they study in the various clinics and workshop sessions.

Hall Wins Contest

Leighton Hall, General Agent, in Wallace for the Franklin Life Insurance Company, Springfield, Illinois, was a recent winner in the Company's Summer Sales Contest.

Hall, who joined Franklin Life in 1953, received special recognition from Company President George E. Hatmaker for his outstanding sales performance.

Franklin Life, with over $6 Billion Insurance in force, is the world's largest legal-reserve stock life insurance company devoted exclusively to underwriting individual Ordinary Life and Annuity plans.

WINDOW-FUL NEWS

Casement fabrics have a brand new look. New airy, open-work weaves in fabrics made with Creslan acrylic fiber come in a fresh-looking selection of solids, hazy plaids, and tweeds. Colors are clear and vibrant, such as lime green with turquoise, or gold with orange. Even black and white are combined effectively in these handsome new casements.

North Wing, J. S. I. On Way To Completion

The University of North Carolina may be the first state university in America to open its doors, back in 1795, but ten years before that The General Assembly chartered historic Grove Academy in Kenansville, as a preparatory school.

During its long and useful career it graduated such famous North Carolinians as Vice President William Rufus King, Senator Fernfold Simmons and William Rand Kenan, Sr., whose family have been benefactors of the University for many years.

During the mid-nineteenth century Dr. James Sprunt, a Presbyterian minister from Scotland, was headmaster of the academy and later a related institution for girls was established and named in his honor. With the advent of public high schools during the early years of this century the old institution closed its doors.

But Duplin people have now revived the school and named it James Sprunt Institute in its honor. It is a unit in North Carolina's growing Community College System.

The building of the James Sprunt Institute was paid for by the citizens of Duplin County which is unique as not any state or federal funds were used in its construction. The institute has been operating from temporary quarters for the past few years. During the year just ended it gave instruction to over thirteen hundred students. Full time students expected for the fall quarter will be in excess of 450. They will be able to get a college degree in accounting, executive secretarial, business administration and commercial art design beginning this fall. Dixon Hall, who resides in Kenansville, is the Institute President.

Civil Service

A new examination for Immigration Patrol Inspector has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, for filling positions paying $6,269 a year with the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the U. S. Department of Justice.

These positions offer young men interested in immigration law enforcement an opportunity to begin a career in such work with on-the-job training opportunities of greater responsibility. No experience is required for these positions. To qualify, applicants must pass a written test of verbal abilities, judgment, and aptitude for learning a foreign language; those who pass the test will be interviewed to determine if they have the personal qualities needed for the work. Since the duties are arduous, applicants must be in sound physical condition.

Full information is given in Announcement No. 398 B. Applicants who file by July 15, 1966 will be scheduled for the first test on August 20, 1966. Three additional tests have been scheduled. The final date for applying is February 15, 1967. Applications should be sent to the Board of Examiners, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Washington, D. C. 20536. Announcements and appropriate application forms may be obtained from many post offices throughout the country, from the Board of Examiners above, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C. 20415.

"BALLAD OF HOPE"

Burl Ives, practically a full-time resident of North Carolina these days, recorded some television spots for the North Carolina Heart Association a few weeks ago at Durham. An ardent heart funder, the well-known balladeer sings a catchy tune, especially written for the heart group, which pays tribute to the heart, "wonder engine of the body," and the "heart and torch of hope."

Title of the Ives ballad: "Hope for Hearts."
