Prognostications grow from three newspapers in 1967 to just under 200 newspapers in 1965. His rather fantastic football "snowball" now appears in newspapers of all sizes..... dailies, weeklies, and college publications..... in 47 states.

Harmon uses a formula to arrive at the rating for each of the more than 650 football teams that he follows each fall. The score that is predicted is simply the interpolated difference between the numerical rating of one team and the numerical rating of its opponent.

And, though boasting a college forecasting accuracy equal to any in the nation, The Harmon Forecast makes no wild claims of unbelievable guessing percentages. Harmon has a proven accuracy over the past nine years of between 75.2% and 77.9% (his pro forecasting average is between 68.3% and 70.1%).

Robert S. Harmon, born in Marshall, Minnesota, in 1921, is a 1943 graduate of the University of Minnesota. While he was in high school and college, the powerful Gophers, under their great coach Bernie Bierman, were national champions five years out of eight.

Now, after four years in service and nine years teaching school in Minnesota, the six Harmons live just outside Middletown, New York.

of the supply centers in the county as well as at the county agents office. Pick up one of these today, read it, and pass it on to your neighbor growing soybeans. This is a producer organization, managed by producers, paid for by producers and is designed to aid the producer. It will be your money that is collected and spent for this program.

The North Carolina Soybean Producers' Association, Inc. is a dynamic expanding crop in North Carolina.

Did you know that we grew 23,000 acres of soybeans last year with an average yield of 23 bu/A for a total value of $1,296,000 dollars. Just five years ago in 1960 we grew only 12,000 acres. Yes, soybeans have come a long way in Duplin County, but they still have room to grow. Do your part to keep the soybean a growing crop in North Carolina by voting on September 9 for an active soybean association for North Carolina.

Each exhibit at Home Federal has, thus far, had a personality of its own. The exhibit this month is no exception. It demonstrates brilliance both in color technique and in design. Those who are fascinated with the interplay of compatible colors will especially enjoy the September exhibit. Color and design are so totally interwoven that an interesting effect is achieved.

Prices are available on request for those who would like to purchase any of these works. Home Federal will be glad to supply the address of the artist to anyone who is interested in acquiring any of them.

The general public is invited to view this new and fresh exhibit during all hours that they are open for business. It will be on display, as has been stated, during the entire month of September.

like a debutante, and a debutante doesn't sound much like a good description of a cow. To Ronnie Roberts of Route 1, Magnolia, the nouns and adjectives didn't make much difference but his 7 months old Jersey heifer was tops in her class. The honor was awarded the classy looking animal at the 15th Jr. Dairy Cattle Show in Kinston last Wednesday. Ronnie's entry was one of nearly 50 animals exhibited at the five county affair.

The calf, a registered Jersey, purchased as a 4-H project from the Billmore herd near Asheville, looked every ounce a purebred according to the judges.

Other Duplin youth participating in the show were Carnell White and Darnell Sharpless who showed 18 months old Holstein heifers, purchased from the Sam Miller dairy of Warsaw.

Proceeding the show, all exhibitors and their parents were guests of Kinston Banks at a banquet setting in Kinston. Dr. F. A. Williams of A. & T. College, Greensboro, North Carolina addressed the group. Success breeds success in 4-H club work according to R. E. Wilkins, Extension Agent for Duplin County. Ronnie, not satisfied with one, says he is going to start preparing now to make stronger competition for the coveted showman ship award next year.
