Viet-Nameese Credit Official Visits Duplin FHA Office

In North Carolina to review loans made and to appraise loans in process by opportunity Corporation Association Loans was Mr. Harvey A. Gifford, second from right of FHA Loan Division, Washington, D. C. Standing on the scales of The Southeastern Farmers Grainery Association, Inc., are: left to right, A. B. Lanier, Rose Hill; E. M. Loan, Supervisor for FHA; Henry Carter, Wallace, member of Board of Directors; Joe Cash, Economic loan specialist State FHA office staff; Jim Gardner, manager; Doane Cottle, member of Board of Directors; E. R. Carlton, president of Southeastern Grain Association; Mr. Gifford; and Rhone Sasser, Duplin County Supervisor.

Mr. Truong Quang Canh, Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Credit Office, Saigon, Viet-Nam, recently visited Duplin County to study the operations of the local Farmers Home Administration office in administering credit to rural families. While in Duplin, Mr. Canh visited families which were recipients of Emergency and Rural Housing repair loans.

The purpose of Mr. Canh's visit was to seek methods which might be helpful to the Viet-Nam Agricultural Credit Office in administering a more effective loan program to the farmers of Viet-Nam.

Mr. Canh is a graduate of the University of the Philippines, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi. He later studied at North Carolina State University where he received his Master's Degree in Statistics with additional studies in Agricultural Economics. He has also studied economics and statistics in France and Holland.

Mr. Canh related that the average family farm in Central Viet-Nam is about one acre in size. The size of the average family farm in lower Viet-Nam would be six to seven acres. The main crops grown are rice, rubber, tobacco, tea, and coconuts. Some hogs are grown commercially. Most farmers work for landlords. However, the Viet-Nameese government has limited the maximum size of farms which may be owned by an individual to 100 acres. The Government bought the balance and sold it to small farmers, allowing them several years to pay for the farm. It was interesting to note that the rate of interest charged by the Agricultural Credit Office was 12 percent for short-term loans.

Mr. Canh remarked, "I am very impressed with the Farmers Home Administration Rural Housing Program. Other things which impress me about your agency is the EO Loans, the kind of supervision that is given farmers, the way you keep track of borrowers, and assist them in keeping records. It is very hard to work with borrowers in Viet-Nam because those who are educated are in the army, and the war makes transportation and communication difficult."

Henderson Announces Plan To Dredge Topsail Inlet

Congressman David N. Henderson announced that the House today appropriated $100, 000.00 for a project to dredge Topsail Inlet. The Public Works Appropriation Bill now goes to the Senate where Senator B. Everett Jordan has long been a supporter of the project and is hopeful that the measure will be approved there.

The project which is of long standing, was authorized earlier this year following a study by the Corps of Engineers made under authority of Section 107 of the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1960, and normally projects under section 107 are funded from a lump sum appropriation of 1 1/2 million dollars set aside for such projects nationwide.

Henderson, however, was fearful that Section 107 funds might be exhausted for other projects and hence pushed for a specific appropriation for Topsail Inlet.

"I agree," Henderson said, "That some of these tremendous multi-million dollar projects possibly should be delayed by the Administration as an anti-inflation move, but there is no justification for holding up a small one such as this, particularly when it has been such a long struggle for us to get it authorized and funded."

ESEA Benefits School Lunch Rooms

By: Ruth B. Wells

Lunch in a school lunch room today will compare favorably with lunch in any good restaurant. No longer is the menu a hit or miss proposition, using what ever is most plentiful. ESEA has provided a Food Service Director, Mrs. Shelby Kilpatrick, to work with the school lunch rooms. Mrs. Kilpatrick plans a standard menu a month in advance to be used in each lunch room in the county. The individual lunch room may add to the menu, deduct items, or substitute but results must be a Type A lunch. This simply means that the lunch provided must contain milk, protein, Vitamin A, Vitamin C as well as bread and butter.

This lunch is served at a nominal fee of 30¢ per plate per child. In past years the charge per plate was 25¢ but increase in cost of food has forced an increase in charges.

The Federal Lunch Room Program reimburses the local lunch room on foods that they sell at a lower rate than purchase price. An example of this is milk. Some government commodities are also furnished. The Kenansville unit has received since September 1, chicken, dry milk, rolled wheat, rice, apricots and flour. Last years government commodities were less than the previous year and it is anticipated that this years allotment will be about the same as last year.

The Kenansville School has an enrollment of 303 children in-

A Poultry Jubilee ... Yes!

By: Snodie B. Wilson, Agricultural Extension Agent

The fourth annual Poultry Jubilee in Duplin County promises to be the biggest and best one yet. The Poultry Jubilee is an important event in Duplin County because it salutes the poultry industry in this county as well as surrounding counties. It is an important event in many other ways, but the most basic one is that the Poultry Jubilee is held during the harvest season when we should most humbly bow and thank our God for the bountiful rewards He has given us.

The poultry industry is thankful in that it has raised the income in Duplin County from $500,000 to $22 million in eleven years. All segments of the poultry industry are to be congratulated because no other agricultural industry in Duplin can claim more progress. Even though this has been a sizeable increase in poultry income, the real value has been a higher standard of living for our farm people and economy impact of the poultry industry.

Duplin County poultry industry is continuing to increase in production. The biggest increase will be in broilers and turkeys. Also some expansion in commercial layers is taking place. It is anticipated that the income from poultry this year in Duplin County will exceed the $22 million dollar poultry income of 1965. Poultry prices have been very favorable this year, thus far, and poultry products continue to be one of the better protein food buys for the consumer even while poultry prices have shown an increase.

One of the biggest problems facing our poultry producers in Duplin County at the present time has been the shortage of labor. Many of the Duplin County poultry producers are reacting to farm labor by mechanizing. The installation of mechanical feeders is one of the measures that is being taken toward the solution of labor ills. Mechanization has opened the door to expansion and has created a more favorable attitude among our poultry producers in poultry husbandry.

The future of the poultry industry in Duplin County looks good, as long as the cooperative attitude among our producers continue. Cyclical fluctuations in both production and price levels will continue, but as long as a cooperative attitude prevails these cyclical fluctuations can be overcome.

As we celebrate the fourth annual Poultry Jubilee, we in the poultry industry should remember that it is a food processing industry and that poultry is competing with thousands of other food items.
