But it is important not to let these feelings overshadow the tremen-dous worth of the majority of America's

Take a look around you - at the 4-H members in this community and at the 4-H pro-gram throughout the nation. We took that look and found an impressive and encouraging sight. About two and a quarter million 4-H'ers live in the United States and Puerto Rico. Four hundred are from our own Duplin County.

These young people are directing their energy and talents toward building for tomorrow.

Each member is involved in one or more projects for which he, and he along, is responsible. Although members receive counsel and guidance from volunteer which he was a proposed to the beautiful and guidance from volunteer while he desired. and guidance from volunteer adult leaders, the value of the finished project is up to the individual. Through the supervision of the County Ex-tension Service, a part of the State land-grand university, young people are learning responsibility and dedication for the challenge

This is National 4-H Week, an opportunity for all of us to take a better look at the fine work of these young people, also to salute this outstanding informal educational program for its contribution to America today and tomorrow.

A discussion of U.S. Foreign relations will always draw controversy from spokesmen from here and abroad. But one bit of Americana has been widely and favorably adopted throughout the world.

I am speaking of the rural youth organiza-tions in more than 75 countries patterned after the ideals and principles of American

Whether these organizations go by the name of 4-D, 5-V, or 4-S, all are based on the learn-by-doing concept that has characterized American 4-H work for more than fifty years. 4-H is aiding scores of developing countries in the free world by introducing new agricultural techniques and better methods of homemaking. It is encouraging rural young people who have never been motivated before to live better.

We are proud of the 4-H program in this county and we join in observing National 4-H Week, September 24 through October 1, by saluting 4-H work around the world.

THE smart little hat with lots of news for fall offers strong incentive for putting hats back into fashion popularity. This "Year Rounder" beret is one of a group in a new soft velour of "Antron" nylon, bonded to foam for lasting shape retention and almost feather-light weight. The fabric resembles suede, with all of its beauty, but has the added plus of economy and practicality. In six sparkling bright colors, as well as black, are all the popular shapes - the toque, visor, turban, Breton, pillbox, and cloche. Budget-minded gals with a nose for good fashion will also like the economy prices of four to eight dollars, depending on
