

Opera To Be Presented

Italy, whereas Donizetti is sung in German in Germany. American opera lovers are also delighted at the facility with which they can follow the subtleties of plot and humor when they are exposed to good English translations. Familiar arias such as the Toreador song from CARMEN AND Figaro's aria from THE BARBER OF SEVILLE take on new meaning when every word can be understood. Other opera companies, recognizing this development, are presenting more of the standard repertoire in English, and good English translations are becoming available. Television and radio programs are now programming a good percentage of their opera selections in English. This is increased interest on the part of workshop and local groups throughout the country in good translations of the old favorites, and American composers feel that, at last, their work has an opportunity to be heard.

The information that "Nemorino" has just inherited a large estate causes the village girls to take a sudden interest. Nemorino thinks the magic Elixir is really working. This scene from the National Opera Company's production of the Donizetti comedy, THE ELIXIR OF LOVE, in English, to be presented at Wallace Elementary School, Thursday, February 2, at 7:30 p.m.

their home in Kenansville where they are active in the Methodist Church.

When asked about plans for the future, Mrs. Taylor said "one word will explain in detail all my plans and that one word is rest."

"Mrs. Taylor has done a magnificent job in her department and her resignation is a tremendous loss to Duplin County," stated a spokesman.

spacing, weed control, insect control, and yield results of the various hybrids.

Duplin County is one of the leading corn growing counties in the state, but we are not producing enough corn to feed the poultry and livestock produced in the county. The average normal yield of corn in Duplin County has been 80 to 90 bushels per acre. The 1966 yield was much lower than this, due to dry weather. Corn is normally planted on about 80,000 acres in Duplin County, and the normal production has usually been about five million bushels. We need about eight million bushels to feed the poultry and livestock in the county, and as poultry and livestock increase, there will be demand for more corn.

A goal of 100 bushels per acre has been set by the Duplin County Extension Advisory Board. The goal can be reached if all corn producers will do the best possible job on their farm.

All corn producers and other interested people are invited to attend the meeting on February 9.

Mr. Newton's interesting talk was further enhanced by a showing of several colored slides to the group. He also distributed brochures on the Old Burying Ground and the Beaufort Restoration, to each member present.

Ivey; Kenansville, Mrs. O. P. Johnson.

The speaker, Mr. John Newton of Beaufort was introduced by Mrs. Claude Hunter Moore of Turkey, who described him as an avid collector of old maps as well as being president of the Beaufort Historical Society.

Mr. Newton, aware of the fact that the local Historical Society is a newly formed organization which has yet to chart its course, devoted the first part of his talk to factors which must be taken into consideration when planning a restoration project. He advised first that the focus must be on the future and that restoration of a house, or community of houses, cannot be accomplished in a day or a year. A restoration that does not promise to hold interest both now and in the future in an unwise venture. He advised the society to consider uniqueness. The Beaufort Historical Association feels that Beaufort has this quality and hopes to recreate a portion of the town as it would have appeared to the seafaring men of the 1700's as they sailed through the old Beaufort Inlet. Although 1200 people viewed the Beaufort Restoration this past summer, the speaker warned that a restoration project should not be undertaken as a money making venture. He referred to the fact that Williamsburg operates at a loss each year although well publicized, unique, and of a great historic interest.

After stressing the sober side of the picture, Mr. Newton spoke with enthusiasm of the benefits which accrue to an area from restoration.

An interest shared by the citizens creates a bond between them and makes for good will and understanding. He also said restoration helps an area gain dignity and this in turn gives a feeling of worth to its citizens. He described pride in a region as a valuable human resource. His parting advice was to find a job for every interested person, and to appeal by means of a local fund drive to every citizen of the county.

selected in each of the 26 districts to represent the mothers of each of the districts in the selection of the State Mother of the Year by a state selection committee, of which Miss Ruth C. Wilson, 1121 Harvey Street in Raleigh is chairman. Other members are chosen representatives of Statewide organizations.

The nominations for State Mother of the Year is not a popularity contest. She must have already earned the acclaim by those who have known her and her family through the years. All nominations must be in the hands of the district chairman by February 25, 1967.

passage of the section of the Taft-Hartley Act that allows states to pass right to work laws. Largely through his effort legislation was passed providing rehabilitation of the physically handicapped; federal state training programs for home economics and agricultural teachers; establishment of three eastern Carolina Military bases providing federal funds for public school near military bases; and providing standard pay for all North Carolina teachers.

Barden retired in 1960 expressing a desire "to go home." He wanted to catch up on his fishing and boating. He wanted more time with his family. Three years later he suffered a stroke and had been in declining health since.

A former school teacher, he had been a Judge in Craven County and served in the state legislature. He served in the Navy in World War I and graduated from University of North Carolina in 1920 with a bachelor of law degree.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. David Sabiston of Durham; a son Dr. Graham A. Barden, Jr. of New Bern, several grandchildren and two brothers J. J. Barden of Warsaw, and Joel Barden of Wallace.

Funeral services were conducted at First Presbyterian Church in New Bern at 11 a.m. Tuesday with burial in Cedar Grove Cemetery.
