I heard this week of a Methodist girl marrying a Baptist boy in a Universalist Church by a Presbyterian minister. What denomination could their children be?????

Picked up this little poem from the Tuscarora Boy Scout paper. I think it is splendid.

THE CHILDREN'S CREED

If a child lives with criticism, He learns to condemn

If a child lives with hostility,

He learns to fight.

If a child lives with ridicule,
He learns to be shy.

If a child lives with jealousy,

He learns to feel guilty.

If a child lives with tolerance,

He learns to be patient.

If a child lives with encour He learns confidence.
a child lives with praise,

He learns to appreciate.

If a child lives with fairness,
He learns justice.

If a child lives with security,

He learns to have faith. If a child lives with approval, He learns to like himself. If a child lives with acceptance

Attended the Exhibit at James Sprunt Institute on Sunday after noon. It was lovely, On exhibit were ceramics of all shapes, sizes and designs. The oil paintings were lovely also dome of the prond ladles were there showing off the dresses and suits which they had made. One lady who had a beautiful dress said that she had never sewed anything before in her life. You would not have believed your eyes when you believed your eyes when you looked at the beautifully knitted sweaters. I'll bet there were at least 25 sweaters which were at least 20 sweaters which were on display.

Also the flower arranging exhibit was lovely. Both live flowers and artificial flowers were used and they showed much artistic art.

Think I shall enroll at James

Woman Dies: Excessive Use Alcohol

A Magnolia woman, Mrs. Net-ie Lee Smith, met death from "excessive use of alcohol" according to information released by Coroner H. B. McNiel.

Found dead in bed at her home Monday afternoon by a daughter who feared foul play, the coroner was called. The dead woman's face appeared to have been beaten, but autopsy performed at James Walker Hospital revealed no fractures or brain injury. The woman was reported to have been drunk since Friday of last week.

Charlie Smith, husband of the dead woman, also in a drunken condition, was released after the autopsy report.

which conducts studies for the assembly between blennial sessions, were proposed in both the House and Senate last Thursday. In the House the introduction of the bill was by Rep. Hugh S. Johnson of Duplin and in the Senate by Sen, Robert Morgan of Hamlet,

The bill would appro-priate one million, two hundred thousand, dollars for the two year budget period '67-'69 to the State Board of Education to be expended by the Board on a grant-in-aid basis, to about 22 diploma nursing schools in North Carolina. These schools have three year programs leading to R.N. degrees such programs are required in order to be accredited by the North Ca-rolina Board of Nursing and are conducted in hospitals approved by the North Carolina medical care commission. and to exchange ideas in an effort to bring the light and strengthen wearnesses of the services.

The group had as its theme, "Faith in Ourselves and in Our Work." Serving as co-chairmen of the group were Mrs. Rebecca Judge of Beulaville, Duplin County and Mrs. Hilda Worsham, Smithfield, Johnston

Present at the meeting were six nurses from Pitt County, four from Lenoir County Schools, two from Sampson County, one from Clinton City Schools two from Wayne County, two from Johnston County and the six nurses of the Duplin

Mr. O. P. Johnson, Superintendent of Duplin County Schools was introduced to the group and he responded with words of Welcome and encouragement, Remarks were also heard from Mr. D. B. Teachey, Assistant Superintendent and Mrs. Sallie Ingram, ESEA Project Direc-

The nurses then engaged in a lively discussion which proved beneficial to all.

The group adjourned for a delicious luncheon at the Country Squire Steak House, Favors were donated by local mer-chants and business firms.

Attorney for Mrs. Dora Betty Bell who sued State Senator and Farm Bureau Leader Le-Roy Simmons for $50,000 as damages for Slander, today announced in open Court, upon the call of the calendar, that the plaintiff was submitting to a voluntary non-suit, and would pay all court cost, thereby terminating one of Duplin County's oldest and most bitterly contested lawsuits.

Superior Court Judge, R. I. Mints, presiding over this dis-trict had ordered the 100 oldest cases placed upon the calendar for disposition when the announcement ending the matter was quietly made, sharply contrasting with the heated and bitter arguments that had come to be accepted as normal pro-cedure in this litigation.

In December of 1956, the $50,000 law suit was filed by Mrs. Dora Betty Bell against LeRoy Simmons.

Mrs. Bell, Duplin ASC Former office manager and secretary of the County Farm Bureau, filed the suit after LeRoy Simmons, president of Duplin's Farm Bureau, released a news observer, saying that "Farm Bureau records were missing.

Simmons said he discovered the records were missing when he went to the office (ASC office) to find out why home demonstration club members had not been paid for work in last (1954) membership vear's drive.

Simmons said the discovery was made October 3, 1955 and that in the presence of Eugene Carlton, Tai Herring and Arthur Whiti d. Il of the lin County, Mrs. Bell told him the records had been missing "for some time." As a result, Mrs. Bell on November 6, 1956 filed a law

B&J Station Robbed

B and J Esso Station in Kenansville was broken into Sunday night and robbed of an undetermined amount of cash.

The station, now operated by Mr. and Mrs. Billy Whitfield, was entered from a window. A trash barrel belonging to the Duplin Times-Progress Sentinel was used to reach the window. Apparently the amateur departed by the same window, using a step ladder inside the station.

Police chief W. T. Bostic said the damage to the window probably exceeded the amount of cash taken. He fixed the time of the robbery just past midnight.
Assisting in the investigation was Sheriff Deputy E. G. Chestnutt. Investigation is continuing.

The North Carolina Little Symphony will appear on March 20 at 8:00 p.m. at the Wallace-Rose Hill High School Gymto-rium. The concert will be spon-sored by the Tar Heel Fine Arts Society.

Presently touring the state during its 22nd annual tour season, the North Carolina Symphony has already played to more than twice as many North Carolinians as compared to last year's attendance records. This increase in audience response has occur-red in both adult evening as well as in the children's con-

An international flavor will be an added feature in the Symphony personnel. Four musi-cians are from outside North America: Eriks Klavins and Anthony Conolan, both violinists from Australia; Herr Bernhard Breuchle, a French hornist from Munich, Germany and Sha-lom Ban-Uri another violinist from Israel.

Also complementing the Symphony's artistic personality will be Dr. Swalin's versatile wife, Maxine, who plays keyboard instruments and commentates for all the educational matinees at State schools. Mr. William Kirschke, assistant symphony con-ductor, first violinist and memductor, first violinist and member of the new Symphony Chamber Music Players Group and his wife, Eleanor Fell Kirschke, har p soloist will also perform.

Dr. Benjamin Swalin has been mastero with the Symphony for all of its 22 consecutive years of State Tours and this year is leading the Orchestra to evoke a tangible vote of confi-
