CART COMPANY TO THE REAL

VOL XXXIV NO. 37

Bob Herring, who is renovat-ing Liberty Hall, took us on a tour of the house Monday after-noon. It is really getting ex-citing now. They were putting on the first coat of paint in several rooms. The mouldings, which are beautiful, have all been put up. All of the mantels are now up and the hearths are white, rose and black marble, in the different rooms.

rose and black marble, in the different rooms. It looks now as if it will not be too long before they can start putting furniture in the rooms, it was most exciting. In one of the window panes is an inscription which must have been cut into it with diamond by Emily Kenan, "Tell me not in mournful numbers, life is but an empty dream." It has been, and still is, a long and tedious project. I told Bob he should write a book on re-storing old houses.

Well, for you mothers and fathers, who have not had the fathers, who have not had the experience yet - you really have something in store for you when you take your daughter to college. The first year is bad enough, but by the second year they have figured they can take everything in the house but the litchen stove and fit it in one bed room shared with another gtrl. After you have loaded the car to the point that nothing else could possibly be squeezed in, and only leave enough room for the driver, the passenger and a peep hole to see out the back window - then off to college to unpack. For two years my daughter has been on third floor. Up and down, up and dagater has been on third floor. Up and down, up and down, the steps you go. Then start loading the car again with the things that would not get into the room. You do all of this to the squals of greetings as the girls meet one another for the first time since last spring. I ran into Marshall and Jean-the Brock who lived in Kenass nie Brock who lived in Kenans-

Beulaville Baptist Church will celebrate Homecoming Day combined with Harvest Day, September 24, 1967. All friends and former members are in-vited to attend this grand occasion. For many years it has been the dream of many of the present and former members to have a beautiful new Sanc-tuary at the Beulaville Baptist Church. This special day is believed to be the beginning of the fulfilment of this dream. The Rev. Tom Greene of the Baptist State Convention in Raleigh will be guest speaker for the day. There will be an abundance of good music and good food. You are invited to make a special effort to attend the September 24 Homecoming at Beu-laville Baptist Church.

Ross charging Tredwell with assault on an officer and resisting arrest. Miss Ezzell told officers that Tredwell followed her car into the National Spinning Company parking lot, near warsaw. As she left the car he called her and said he wanted to talk, She told him she did not have time as she had to report for work, and walked away. Tredwell drove his car past her and at gun point, forced her into his car inflicting a se-vere bump on her head. The guard on duty at the industrial plant saw the scuffle and tried to close the mechanical gate, but was too late. Upon falling to trap Tredwell the guard no-tified the Warsaw Police Department and the Duplin County Sheriff's Office.

Miss Ezzell told officers that Tredwell drove around until he complained of a severe pain in his abdomen and she suggested that they go to her place and call doctor. At her trailer residence she escaped taking the 22 caliber pistol with her. Later she, purned it over to Gienn Jernigan.

Tredwell was later picked up inside the city limits of Warsaw Assisting Jernigan and Ross in making the arrest were Deputy E. E. Proctor, Constables Bob Emory and Bursell Holland and Harold McCullen of the Warsaw Police Department Police Department.
