

Charity High Homecoming November 2

Preparation for Charity High School's gala Homecoming set for November 2 at Legion Stadium in Wallace is nearing completion, according to Mrs. H. M. Jordan, chairman of Homecoming Committee at Charity. Kicking off the homecoming festivities will be a Pre-Homecoming Dance to be held in the Charity High Gymnasium on Wednesday evening, November 1, at 8:00 o'clock. Christine Lanier, Homecoming Queen for 1967 will reign during the dance. Her attendants, Wanda Chasten and Patricia McKenzie will be her honored guests. On Wednesday afternoon, a special chapel program honoring MISS Homecoming and her attendants will be presented. During the program, students, alumni and friends will hear greetings from Wanda Wilson, President of the Student Body,

YELLOWJACKET QUARTERBACK:

Pictured above is Terry Usher who may see limited action against the Mt. Olive Tigers on Thursday night.

A pep meeting will follow these programs. The big football game between the Charity High Yellowjackets and the Carver High Tigers of Mt. Olive, N. C., at Legion Stadium on Thursday night will conclude the homecoming festivities. According to Coach L. A. Ramseur, the team is expected to be up to full strength. This is good news for the fans since the Charity Yellowjackets have been plagued with injuries for about four weeks. The big task, however, is that of finding a starting quarterback who can fill the shoes of Terry Usher who is still out of the lineup because of an injury. During halftime Christine Lanier, will be officially crowned for Miss Homecoming for 1967. The Carver High Band will join The Marching Yellowjacket Band to complete the half-time program. Save the date, November 2. All roads lead to Legion Stadium on November 2, at 7:30 p.m.

WILL THEY HALT THE TIGERS?

Coach L. A. Ramseur is depending upon Dudley Hooks, Ronnie Williams, Matthew Frederick, Bobby Rhodes, Cardell Johnson and Thurman Tuggle to stop Carver High's forward wall on Thursday, November 2, for Charity High.
