Duplin Country Club, serving the Warsaw, Kenansville, Faison area, is located on rural paved road 1300 between Kenansville and Warsaw. This Country Club received wide recognition for being the first recreational facility financed with a FHA Loan, and the comments from large daily newspapers drew fire from the local editors when they commented that the gentlemen farmers in the area needed a place to play golf.

The facility represents an investment of more than $100,000. A sixty acre tract of land was donated for the site which now contains a home for the pro, driving range, swimming pool, tennis courts, and pro shop. The club house which doubles as a ballroom has a seating capacity of 300.

The club has more than 200 active members, with membership fee set at $200.00, and $12.00 monthly dues. Greenfees are $3.50 on holidays and week ends and $2.50 during week.

The nine member board of directors are elected for a three year period which allows three new directors each year.

W. M. (Gib) Buck is president of Duplin Country Club and Bill Igoe is vice president. Directors are: Roy Barwick, Bill Potter, Sam Godwin, Benny Thigpen, John Hall, Phil Kretsch and R. D. Johnson.

Underground housing for chickens? It may happen, some experts believe. The demand for the land for growing crops and for other purposes could be a factor in moving the chicks underground. There, their environment would be precisely controlled.

In egg production, efficiency is the watchword. To achieve maximum efficiency of housing facilities and labor, some producers have put in double-decker laying cages. North Carolina, which ranks sixth in the nation in the sale of eggs, has annual gross sales of over $102 million.

Individuality Counts

The East Duplin Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met March 18, in the school cafeteria. At this time the FHA girls were privileged to hear Mr. David Hansley of Beulaville speak on the subject of "Individuality Counts. I wanted to do things like people but not be like other people" was Mr. Hansley's opening statement.

In other words, he wanted to be an individual.

He said that the things that count in life are being able to answer such questions as who am I, where am I going, and what do I want in life. We must answer what do I expect of myself, and what do others expect of me in order to find out how much we are worth. Conformity is necessary at certain times, but we still must remain an individual. The important point is to "be what you are - but be yourself." Mr. Hansley then very realistically gave a skit on "everybody's doing it, everybody's wearing it, and everybody has one." He emphasized the fact that when wearing a mini skirt or wig, drinking, or smoking, we are trying to be something we are not. This is wrong.

Mr. Hansley closed challenging us again to be ourselves when he said, "You cannot be anybody or anything else as well as you can be yourself." Yes, individuality does count.
