Easter Sermon Emphasizes Dr. King's Principles

At the Rose Hill Second Baptist Church an Easter Sunday Rev. Godwin used the words "Behold the man Jesus" as his subject. He emphasized the principals of Dr. Martin Luther King and called on the people to live up to the peaceful principles that Dr. King preached and died for. The traditional Easter hymns sung by the congregation, and the old favorite hymn "Amazing Grace" emphasized the message the minister brought.

In The "Good Old Days"

In 1923 the graduating class of Rose Hill High School contained only six students -- four girls and two boys, one of whom was absent when this picture was made. This was the first class to be graduated after Rose Hill High School was accredited, and these pupils went as high as the 10th or, perhaps, 11th grade and attended school only 8 months each year. This was a big improvement over the past and it had taken much work to bring it up to this standard. Mr. S. E. Leslie was principal, and with three ladies who also taught, the faculty of the High School was complete.

In the picture we see, on the front row, the members of the class, who are, left to right: Eima Murphy (Now Mrs. J. C. Drew of Magnolia), Ruth Delilah Teachey (Now Mrs. E. G. Murray, Sr. of Rose Hill, Frances Southerland (Who later was Mrs. Albert Lanier of Rose Hill and is now deceased), Eleanor Teachey (Now Mrs. Waldo Early of Clinton), and Vernon Hawes (Now an M. D. practicing in Ramsey, New Jersey), Emmons Sheffield, also a member of the class, was absent.

Standing behind the class were Mrs. S. A. Leslie, Mr. Leslie, Mrs. T. W. Lee and Miss Louise Davis, all of whom were faulty members.

In the second picture we see the basketball team of that year, with their coach. We had no gymnasium and basketball was played in a court marked off on the school yard, as were the other schools in the county. Our team played other schools, and a member of this team remembers that we won from Wallace that year.

On the bottom row we see Cornelia Crump (who was Mrs. Inez Boney's sister and lived with her); Olive Geddie (Now of Four Oaks); Mildred Bradshaw (Now living in Fruitland, Md.); Ruth Teachey (Now Mrs. E. G. Murray, Sr. of Rose Hill); Edna Fussell (Now of Wilmington); and Louise Bradshaw (Now of Florida).

On the second row are Miss Louise Davis, coach; Caroline

Kindergarten Class Visits

Johnson Hatchery

On Tuesday morning the Calypso Kindergarten class visited Nash Johnson and Sons chick hatchery--Accompanying them were the school principal, Mr. Roberts, and several mothers, and teachers. The group also visited one of the farms where eggs are laid for the hatchery.

After their tour the group returned by the Blizzell Johnson home and were served hot dogs and drinks by Mrs. Johnson, who was assisted by Betty Rouse and Hilda Register.

About 60 children were guided in the visit by Fennell Smith, who explained the various sights they saw to them.

The children expressed their thanks for a most enjoyable trip, and one they said they would never forget.

Judge Boney Comes Home

Judge Harvey Boney of Jacksonville, native son of Duplin and Rose Hill, has been visiting around the county and his old hometown campaigning for one of the four judicial seats we will vote for judges to fill in the May primary. We note that seven men are in the running for the four judges to be elected and three of them are native sons of Duplin -- Besides Harvey, Robert West and Russell Lanier are also campaigning. Duplin, Jones, Onslow and Sampson make up the district, and we figure that all three of our Duplin men, with a fourth from another county as a good will gesture, could amply look after our judicial affairs for this area!

Missing Animal

There is a mystery in the Rockfish section near Rose Hill. A young cow on the farm of James Ward was tied out to graze on Monday, April 15. She got loose, and took off across the field, and has not been seen or heard from since.

The calf was purchased by Bobby Mosback as an Agriculture class project. She was being kept on his uncle's farm. She had gotten loose several times before, but was always found nearby. This time she seems to have vanished.

Men and boys have combed the fields and woods nearby for a trace of the missing animal. There seems to be no tracks, no bushes broken, no noise.

The hunt continues, and if anyone can produce the slightest clue, or give any suggestions it will be greatly appreciated. She was last seen across the woods from Byrd's Chapel, and may have gotten tangled in the bushes between the Ward place, and the Hufham place.

Mrs. John Cooper presented the program on "Art and Identity". Her talk was illustrated with color slides. Mrs. Cooper was assisted by Mrs. J. W. Blanchard and Mrs. W. T. Blanchard.

Mrs. Rouse closed the meeting with prayer. Cherry crunch with whipped cream and coffee was served to the ten members and five visitors present.
