1928 Class Reunion

Out of a class of seventeen, there were twelve members present when the class of 1928 of Beulaville High School met for a luncheon on Saturday, April 20, 1968. The reunion was held in the private dining room of the Rose Hill Restaurant. A former teacher, Ralph Carlton, and Mrs. Carlton joined the group for their anniversary meeting. Also present were eight husbands and wives of class members.

For the luncheon, the twenty-two guests were seated at an L-shaped table which was centered with a massive arrangement of spring flowers. There was no special program planned by the group. Instead, their time together was spent visiting and in reminiscence.

The class members not present were: Mrs. Millard Williams, Wilmington; Mary Jackson, Jacksonville; Mrs. Maurice Cassidy, Northport, L. I. New York; Mrs. D. M. Albertson, Beulaville; Mrs. Virginia Wilson.

Correction

In last weeks paper the following was accidentally left out of the article "Youth Arama a Great Success".

On Thursday night the pastor of the Beulaville Pentecostal F. W. B. Church, Rev. Condayre Ellis based his message on the thought of "What is Life?"

Personals

Head Start

The monthly meeting of the Beulaville Head Start Parents and Teachers Group met at the Beulaville Head Start Center, Beulaville, with about forty parents and staff members present.

Mrs. Vernell Judge, president of the parents group led the business session. Some of the needs of the center were mentioned; curtains, a mixer for the kitchen, and large spoons. A collection was taken for the mixer at the meeting and 12.0 was raised. Donations of money or other items are welcomed.

Some of the mothers meet at the center Tuesday at 1:00 for a sewing class. Mrs. Edith Sumner, a guest at the meeting, is holding beginning sewing classes at James Sprunt Institute, Kenansville, Tuesdays and Thursday, 7:00 to 10:00.

Another problem concerning the parents and teachers is that the children often get on the road around the Center.

There was a great deal of discussion and all present agreed that a fence is needed. A committee was selected to study the matter regarding costs, materials, etc. The committee members are: Mrs. Bobby Wayne Smith, Smiths Township Mrs. Rogers Outlaw, Pink Hill, and Mrs. John Williams, Beulaville.

Mrs. Linda Smith, Director of the Beulaville Head Start Center then introduced the speaker, Mr. Thomas Hall, Director of Technical and Vocational Education at James Sprunt Institute, Kenansville.

Mr. Hall traced the development of Community Colleges in North Carolina and told of the various and vocational programs, leading to a diploma, extension programs, the Learning Lab (to enable anyone over 18 to earn his high school diploma), a cooperative program with the Neighborhood Youth Corps for high school drop outs, and a cooperative program with the N. C. Department of Correction for prison inmates. A Learning Lab is being considered for Beulaville if enough interest is shown.

Following adjournment, punch and cookies were served.

Cabin F. W. B. Youth Night

The young people of Cabin Free Will Baptist Church had complete charge of the Sunday Evening Worship Service on April 21 at 7:00 o'clock.

Connie Rhodes led in the song service and George Norris had charge of the welcome.

A congregational song "Stand Up for Jesus" was used followed by the Y. F. A. and A. F. C. watchword and Motto. The Youth Choir then sang "If you Know the Lord?" and "To God Be the Glory." Gwyn Rhodes read the scripture and Calvin Richard Mercer led the evening prayer.

Special music was rendered by Patricia Dunn using the song, "Jesus Use Me."

The Cherubs had a special place in the service and sang several Choruses.

Boys from the A. F. C. group acted as ushers and collected the offering with Alicia Swinson giving the offertory prayer.

Mr. Gene Mercer of Mt. Olive College had charge of the devotions and gave a very inspiring illustration with candles each representing Christ and the twelve disciples.

The service ended by the Congregation singing "Let Others See Jesus in You". The benediction followed and was offered by Mr. Mercer.
