McKenzie Is Rotary Speaker

The Warsaw Rotary Club speaker on Thursday, April 18, was Mr. Howard M. McKenzie, Regional Director, Small Business Administration, Charlotte. Mr. McKenzie was originally a bank examiner with the N. C. Banking Department; and prior to his appointment as a Financial Specialist in the Charlotte Regional Office in 1958, he was Executive Vice President of the Bank of Carolina Beach. In May 1958, Mr. McKenzie was named Manager of the S. C. Branch Office at Columbia and later was promoted to Regional Director of the South Carolina Office. In October 1966, he was named Regional Director of the North Carolina Office in Charlotte. Under the leadership of Mr. McKenzie, the Charlotte Regional Office was named the number one office in the nation for 1967.

In relating the services of SBA, Mr. McKenzie said that it was created by Congress in 1953 to make loans to small business firms which were unable to secure finances from other sources. He said SBA had made over $8 billion in loans to businesses considered in the "marginal or grey area" security-wise and that the charge-off record due to business failures was less than 2% which he said was better than for most banks. Mr. McKenzie said that 95% of the business firms in the U. S. were small according to SBA standards and that of 4.5 million small businesses in the U. S., over 75,000 were in North Carolina. He said that a retail firm with sales of $1 million or less or a wholesale firm with $5 million or less were considered small, and that manufacturing classifications were determined by number of employees.

Mr. McKenzie emphasized that loans were made to firms where there was a reasonable chance of survival and that the owner could make a profit as well as increase employment opportunities in the area. He said that no businessman ever "plans to fail" but quite often they "fall to plan" and that his office tries to counsel with prospective borrowers in order that loans made will be for a sound venture.

Guests of the Club were Mr. Amos Brinson and Mr. Garland King.

Social Security

The social security amendments of 1967 have made many changes and improvements in the medicare program.

One important change, is that more people will be eligible for hospital insurance benefits. Under the old law, people who reached 65 in 1968, and were not entitled to monthly social security or railroad retirement benefits, could not get hospital insurance benefits unless they had 6 calendar quarters of coverage or about 1 1/2 years of work under social security. Now, under the new law, this requirement has been reduced to 3 calendar quarters, or about 9 months of work.

The amount of work needed to qualify for hospital benefits after 1968 increases by 3 quarters each year. Eventually, for those reaching 65 in future years, the amount of work required for hospital insurance protection will be the same as that required for monthly cash benefits.

However, if you qualify for monthly benefits as a dependent or survivor of an insured worker, you will not need any work under social security.

Play it safe. If you're nearing 65, get in touch with your social security office and get the facts.

Persons who plan to continue working when they reach 65 should also apply within the three months prior to the month in which they have their 65th birthday. By applying for social security, they will be covered by hospital insurance and can make their decision on voluntary medical insurance coverage. Later on, when they retire or have reduced earnings which will permit payment of benefits, monthly checks can be started without delay.

Patrol Charged 2000 Motorists In March For DUI

RALEIGH -- The State Highway Patrol charged nearly 2,000 motorists with driving drunk during March, establishing a record for this offense for a single month.

Lt. Col. Edwin C. Guy, Patrol executive officer, reported arrests for driving under the influence were up more than 500 over February of this year.

"This also represents an increase of 845, or 82 percent, in DUI arrests over March a year ago," Guy said. "Of the 1,864 persons arrested for DUI in March, a Breathalyzer test was administered to 1,273 or 68 percent."

Carolina State University. Featured on the program will be Dr. S. W. Simmons of the National Center of Communicable Disease, and Wilhelmina M. Lombardy of the Food and Drug Administration.

Dr. Carlyle Marney, director of Interpreter's House at Lake Junaluska, will be the luncheon speaker.

In the afternoon, the Daco Southern Fire Brigade of Waynesville will demonstrate the effectiveness of fire extinguishers.

The Safety Council will present six plaques and five certificates for outstanding accomplishments in safety, according to President Leo Wagoner of Durham.

The second ranking Patrol officer said conviction rates for those persons tested with the Breathalyzer continue to run considerably higher than those not tested.

"It was also encouraging to note that we had considerably fewer charges reduced to a lesser offense than in the previous month," the executive officer said.

According to Patrol reports there were 1,239 DUI cases tried during March. Of that total, 1,108 persons were found guilty. However, 267 of these convictions were for lesser offenses than DUI.

Col. Guy pointed out that court cases disposed of during March cannot be matched against arrest reports due to the fact that crowded dockets and defendant requests for postponement forces case to be carried over for many months.

It has generally been agreed upon in recent years that the drinking driver is involved in about 50 percent of the fatal accidents. However, many safety experts believe this figure may now approach 80 percent.

A breakdown of the arrest figures for March indicated 1864 persons charged with driving under the influence, 1273 administered Breathalyzer tests, 336 refused test, and the test was not available for 219 persons.

"It should be noted here," the Patrol officer said, "that of the total number of persons arrested for DUI, there was 36 persons who were actually too drunk to take the test."
