In The "Good Old Days"

About 1927 the fifth grade in Rose Hill had a pretty young teacher named Miss Mamie Gresham of Beulaville who was really liked a great deal by these cute little folks pictured above. We are awfully sorry she wasn't in the picture taken of them that year.

(Left to right): On the front row are the following: Thelma Rochelle, who must have moved out of our area, for we can't find out where she is now; Rachel Herring, now Mrs. W. B. Hood of Charlotte comes home often; Oscar B. Turner Junior, now of Bethesda, Md. expects to retire in Rose Hill. He is Regional Manager for a division of General Motors for the middle Atlantic States and is preparing for it. Paul Newton Jr. joined the navy and served on a submarine, now deceased; Ellie Marshburn is next and he is living in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, doing construction work. His wife and daughter are with him. The little boy with one knicker fastened above his knee and the other hanging to his shoe is Bruce Teachey, Jr., and is officially His Honor, the Mayor of Jacksonville, N. C. Kathleen Savage, next, with the curly hair and bangs has moved away and we do not know her address; Maggie Pearl Scott married Bob Bradshaw and they live in Richmond; last in the row is Annie Thomas Lanier, now Mrs. Johnnie Knowles, and still lives in Rose Hill.

Second row: Cute little Leroy Wood looks like he is fixing himself to say a speech. He is now a teacher in Miller-Motte Business College in Wilmington. He teaches Accounting, Business Law and other serious minded subjects and his students say he is good. Benny Frank Mallard, next, is now the Manager of National Air Lines in Melbourne, Florida and says he was not named for Benjamin Franklin. His mother's brother Benjamin and his father's brother Franklin were honored to be the men he was named for. If you ever fly into the Melbourne Air Port, look him up. Ludy (for Ludendorff) Lockerman is also living in Florida, at Cape Coral, and she is Mrs. James Porter, Leanna Knowles, standing by Ludy, still lives nearby. She is Mrs. Ralph Sheffield of Magnolia, Norma Cottle lives in Suffolk. She is Mrs. Samuel Pope, and has two children. By Norma, Eunice Teachey is standing. She is Mrs. Percy Teachey and lives out in the "Teacheytown" Community, a mile or two from Rose Hill. Mary Effie Beach comes next and she is also still in the county. She's Mrs. Fulford and lives out from Warsaw. The goodlooking tall girl next is Maybelle Register who is now Mrs. Norman Brooks of Magnolia. Ethel James Young, next, married Felton Rackley and lives in Rose Hill. She teaches in the Wallace Elementary Schools now. Mattie Turner is next, and then Lena May Cavenaugh. We wish we knew their names and addresses but do not. Rachel Lee Fussell, last on the row married Carroll

Club Hears Historian's Report

At the recent Rose Hill Women's Club meeting the following Historian's Report was presented. This report of the club year 1967-68 was prepared by Mrs. C. F. Hawes, Sr., Historian.

The 1967-68 season of the Rose Hill Woman's Club, its forty-second year, came to a close with a membership of 27. Under the capable leadership of Mrs. C. R. Mosback, many worthwhile projects were successfully accomplished.

During the fall the club was hostess to the annual meeting of District Eleven. On the night preceding the meeting, state and district officers were entertained at supper. The District President, Mrs. E. P. Blanchard, and the District Secretary, Mrs. D. J. Fussell, are members of the Rose Hill club.

At the Open House held in November at the Dobbs Farm Girl's Home in Kinston, members of our club assisted as hostesses, besides donating cookies for the occasion. Some of our members acted as hostesses at the Old People's Home in Kenansville during Beauticians - Hairdressers Week. We have also been asked to serve as hostesses at the dedication of the new Rose Hill Post Office.

Instead of having a regular meeting and program meeting in December, the members along with their children and grandchildren, enjoyed a Christmas Party at the Community Building, with a covered dish supper, Christmas carols and a visit from Santa Claus.

Pecans were donated to the Red Cross for soldiers at Christmas. Magazines and catalogues were taken to O'Berry Hospital for the patients, and a $7.00 donation was made for a party for the patients. Birthday gifts were made for inmates of correctional institutions. A donation of $7.00 was made to friends of Wilmington College for a book for the library. As a memorial to Majorie Yokley, State President, a donation of nick-named "Moon", and Moon Sellars is now a truck dispatcher in Lancaster, S. C., we hear. Joseph Gresham next, lives with his mother in Scotland Neck. He has never married. Next is C. Carter, who now lives with his family near Castle Hayne. I. L. Hawes, Jr. lives in Schenectady, New York with his wife and daughter and is working with General Electric. Last on the top row is Graham Horne, who still lives in Rose Hill, and has helped to identify many of these young people.

We also thank Julia Chestnut Robinson, Ethel James Young Rackley for helping, Dallas Herring loaned the picture to us, and we hope you have enjoyed it as much as we have. Look through your old photos and see if you can't find one that would be of interest for our readers.

$10.00 was made to the Sallie Southhall Cotten Loan Fund.

A great loss to the Rose Hill Club was the death of one of its members, Mrs. J. M. Jerome, who had been active in club work for many years, having been president of the local club, and local club Woman of the Year.

For several years the class for the Retarded has been included in the club budget. In March this class was invited to a dinner with the club and participated in the club program. Members of the club also assisted the work of this class by donating cakes for the sale at the Poultry Festival.

At the Arts Festival in Clinton our women won several awards, two of which were first place.

Early in the year one of our members, Mrs. Ercey Lanier, volunteered her services for the library; accordingly, the club has not had the usual expense of paying the salary of a librarian. Fifty-three books have been added to the library by club members and friends, and circulation of the library books has been substantially increased.

Funds for the various projects has been obtained through dues, the sale of cards, and a Game Party held at the Community Building.

The annual scholarship offered to a high school senior has been awarded to Katherine Benton for use at the Baptist Hospital School of Nursing, Winston-Salem. Under the leadership of the Fine Arts (Music) Chairman, and award was offered to the student in the elementary school showing the most improvement in music. The club president presented this award at the music recital to Karen Teachey.

For several years the club has been working on plans for town beautification in the Community Improvement Program, negotiating with other local clubs and with the town government. This spring these plans are materializing. Work has already begun on the block along Railroad St., between Main and Church Streets. The club takes pride in the work accomplished toward this project by our club member, Town Commissioner, Mrs. E. P. Blanchard.

As we look back over the year, we feel that we really have accomplished something toward the Administration Theme: "Build with youth for a Better Tomorrow".

News of Rose Hill

The Rose Hill Junior 4-H Club observed its annual 4-H Club on Sunday, May 19, at St. Phillip's A.M.E. Church at Rose Hill.

The music was furnished by Miss Deborah Jones. The offertory prayer and opening sentences were read by Jeffery McCallough, president of the 4-H Club. Scripture was read by Katrina Kenan and the invocation was given by Randy Dixon. Billy Dixon delivered the Welcome Address. Lorenzo Kenan explained the meaning of the 4-H Club emblem, Brenda Lanier gave a resume of the Dedication of the 4-H, followed by an instrumental solo by Carolyn Costin.

Several 4-H members spoke on the following leadership topics: "What is Leadership" -- Lauren Rogers; "Do Not Confuse Leadership" -- Rebecca Lanier; "Characteristics and Skills of Leadership" -- Donald Rice; "Benefits of Good Community Leadership" -- Thessa Rice;

Mrs. Patricia Potts introduced the speaker, Mr. W. F. Johnson, principal of Rose Hill Elementary School No. 2.

Following Mr. Johnson's talk the 4-H Club members sang the 4-H Club song. Mr. Wilkins, County Farm Extension Agent, gave a few timely remarks.

John Highsmith sang the "Thank-You" Song which was followed by a prayer and Benediction which was read by Mr. Alex Jones.

Shirley Tyler, James Farrior, Jr., Linda Hall, James Newdirk, Breluh Carlton and Brenda Boney served as ushers for the meeting.

The encouragement of Mrs. Willie N. McKoy made this event possible.

Our Privileged

President Kennedy once said to a graduating class "We are the privileged, and it should be the ambition of every free citizen to express and expand that privilege so that all of our countrymen and women share in it".

How do these words apply to Duplin County graduates in 1968? Here's how:

They have had the gift of a high school education--and its a great gift. They have had the privilege of sharing their teachers education, training and experience. Some of them loved the study and the learning during the world that was theirs for four years--for a few others it was just a grind, with no inspiration. Most of them discovered new avenues of strength in favorite subjects, some love the entire variety of learning, and about all have developed a base for their hopes, dreams and plans for their future.

It's been a great privilege to make some wonderful friends in the years when life was so complex that it was often puzzling. These friends have shared your joys and sorrows, and some of them will last a lifetime, becoming more cherished as you grow older. Other friendships will float away to become distant memories or perhaps forgotten. But all have helped to develop each student's personality and to teach that you give of yourself by being a friend in order to make one.

They are privileged to have had their parents in these years. Their influence has been most important and a word of encouragement or direction has helped no matter if you groaned now and then at the direction, in the end it was worth while.

As President Kennedy said, graduates are indeed privileged and their desire will be to use this privilege as a beginning to share them with their world.

Our American poet, James Russell Lowell gave words to it: "Not what we give, but what we share."

For the gift without the giver is bare; Who gives himself with his almshouse feeds three; Himself, his hungering neighbor and ME."

(from The Vision of Sir Launfal, Part III)

School No. 2

Mr. Archie Kenan, 8th grade teacher of Elementary School No. 2 in Rose Hill has resigned his work here and accepted a position with the Employment Security Commission in the Durham office.

Mr. Kenan began his new work on April 19th. We wish him success in his new position.

5 Elected To Order of Star

Five Rose Hill Boy Scouts have been selected to membership into the Order of the Arrow. This is a National Brotherhood of Scout Honor Campers. A scout must be elected by other members of his troop or post to become a member.

The following new members passed the Ordeal on Saturday, and were taken into the Order of the Arrow: Troop #45, Bruce Herring and Billy Souder; Post #245, Dennis Knowles, Clarence Brown, Jr., and Larry Smith.

Other Rose Hill Scouts who are members of the Order of the Arrow are: Jeff Carter, Jimmy Jerome, Harry Rivenbark, Alfred Ward, Bill Butler, David Savage, Charles Savage, and Mr. Walter J. Thomas.

Traffic deaths and injuries were down slightly in 1967, but, according to a spokesman for The Travelers Insurance Companies, "52,200 deaths and 4,200,000 injuries in one year is small cause for rejoicing."
