In The "Good Old Days"

In about 1932 the above good-looking children formed two classes in the Rose Hill School and we are not sure whether they are both 7th graders or perhaps combined with the 6th or 8th graders. They are a handsome group and we have spent about as many hours trying to learn their names and present locations as we could possibly give to the effort, and we've done pretty well, but, still, some are unknown to us. If you are on here and we can't name you, we are truly sorry, for we really tried to find you all.

First row, left to right, and all the information may not be accurate: Lucile Drew, the dainty Miss who is first in now Mrs. David Register of Warsaw; next is Marie Merritt now Mrs. Ray Johnson of Wallace; Juanita Merritt is Mrs. Kyle Hogan and lives in St. Paul, N.C.; Margaret Wood, present location unknown; Annie May Rivenbark is the wife of Col. Larry P. Bostic, Sr. and lives in Beulaville now, we hear; Florine Edwards, probably lives in Florida; Dorothy Dean of Teachey is Mrs. Sam Rivenbark of the Charity Community lives in Florida; Dorothy Dean of Teachey is Mrs. Sam Rivenbark of the Charity Community; Gerlie Sanderson is now in Colonial Heights, Va.; Black haired Betty Johnson is Mrs. James Ezzeel of the Delway neighborhood; Nelly Gray Knowles is Mrs. E. B. Danford of Burlington and Rosa Knowles the cute little girl on the end, is now Mrs. Maxwell T. Waters and now lives in Grifton, N. C.

On the second row, left to right: Ben Tillman Watson has made a career of the navy and now lives in Norfolk, Va. we think; the chubby little fellow next to Ben is Aaron Fussell, now Supt. of Wake County Schools; Robert Knowles next, lives near Teachey and Wallace now; the little fellow peeping between the girls is W. T. Batts now of Raleigh; the girl next to W. T. is Kathleen Brown, now Mrs. Carl Lohland lives with her Marine Corps husband in Cherry Point; Joseph Hard-son recently died; Eris Worsely, who sang "atistek, atalist" and danced as she sang is now Mrs. E. C. Burles of Virginia Beach, Va.; Reba Young is now Mrs. Bill Eubanks of Houston, Texas and I know she will be glad she gets this paper when she sees all these old school friends; on the very end of the row is Raymond Bradshaw, still of the Charity Community who wants to see this picture, he says:

On the third row: Della Cavenaugh, a pretty girl with brown curly hair is now Mrs. Ernest Rooks, of Watha; isn't the next girl (right haired) named Moore? Next to her is Martha Lee Walker who moved to Wilmington; Mary Teachey Falcloch, next is Mrs. Beaufort Longest of Rose Hill, who found this picture and identified many on it and is now a pretty artist and grandmother; Doris Fussell married Bob Boaz and lives in Wilmington; Jeannette Murphy is now Mrs. Joe Pane of Hampstead; next is Hedy Scott, with her brand new Shirley Temple permanent. Hedy is now Mrs. Jack Foley of Trumbull, Conn. and has just received the gift of a subscription to this paper. We hope she will let us know if she sees this picture. The boy next to Hedy is not identified, but the next boy is Dorwood Baker who now lives in New York and is a Railroad man. His brothers here identified him for us. Last boy on the third row is George Sanderson and now lives in Richmond. We could not identify the young lady sitting on the steps.

Fourth row left to right: Mary Bell Bland is now Mrs. Poon of Columbia S. C.; Vera Lee Dixon, next, is deceased; Elizabeth Thomas, with her face partly hidden is Mrs. Edward Owens of Wallace; David Radclay works with the Worsley Oil Co. and lives at Teachey; next boy is unidentified; Ben Jr. Herring lives in Wilmington and gets home to see his parents often; Rosa Lee Young; next girl with head partly hidden is Ruth Futrell; Karine Register, next lives in Rose Hill and is Mrs. J. C. Kissner. She helped to identify many of you and was glad to show you to her pretty seven year old little girl; after Karine is Virginia Floyd who is now Mrs. French Hunter of Chinoquin and we hope she sees this picture, and last on the row is Reginald Fussell, now a V. A. official and lives in Burgaw. Right behind Reginald is Eudie Knowles, now living near Wallace.

Sixth row, left to right: Mr. Thurman Denning teacher is now Supt. of Schools for Sampson County; Felton Baker, brother of Dorwood (third row) is now Superintendent of the Customs Building in Wilmington; Clifton Ward, who works for the Coast Line now lives in Richmond, Va.; next is unidentified, next is Wood, but we aren't quite sure which one he is or where he is now; next is unidentified; Edward Teachey, next, works at Camp Lejeune, we hear; Jack Mobley, while at the air force base at Casper, Wyoming when he was in service, married a girl there and has settled in that state. He works for an oil company. Mrs. Vick, teacher stands at the end of the row.

There you are folks, and the best we can count, that is 56 people.

One other member of this class who moved to Rose Hill the following year, was Cleo Sanderson, who has helped, also, to identify many of you. Why don't you have a class reunion?

Here Comes The Bride

June is here and June is the month for brides and for weddings. If you plan to attend a wedding this month you might like to know how some of our wedding customs and traditions came from.

They come straight from folk lore and are as old as time. The old rhyme that "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue" is to be worn by the bride is usually observed faithfully and has been a folk-habit for many years both at home and abroad. The "something old" is often a piece of heirloom jewelry or veil, the "something new" is usually articles of clothing. Something borrowed can be hoisery, a handkerchief or any sort of trivvia, and "something blue" is often a blue garter, which the bride sometimes tosses in addition to her bouquet. To the above rhyme many add "and a shiny drive (or sixpence) in the brides shoe". This rhyme is a very popular tradition and its a well known belief that the "Shiny drive" worn in her shoe brings the bride wealth as well as love.

Other customs and traditions abound in folk lore beginning with courting traditions. Star sapphires are used as love charms. Many charms have to do with the hair of a loved one to attract him (or her) to the lover. Formerly there was much trade in love powders in North Carolina. There are hundreds of ways to find out whom you will marry, name the posts of a new bed with your choice of lovers and the first one you look at in the morning will carry the name of your future husband, or put a pulley-bone over the door and the first boy who walks under it is your true love--who hasn't done this?

Never wear an opal engagement ring. It brings bad luck. Sleep with a piece of wedding cake under your pillow and you will dream of the person you will marry. And that's why a tiny piece of cake is given in a dainty little box at the reception.

When should the bride marry? The old traditions says "On Monday for health, On Tuesday for wealth; Wednesday's the best day of all. On Thursday for losses, On Friday for crosses, Saturday is no day at all".

Another old, old saying is "Happy is the bride that the sun shines on"---and we do actually hear this each beautiful wedding day. That the person who catches the brides bouquet will be the next to marry is the reason for the bride tossing her bouquet.

Old shoes and rice bring good luck. No one knows just why, but we all give the bride a shower of rice and tie old shoes to the car---and it works!

A newly married couple should not enter their new home until a Bible and a broom are placed inside to bring happiness in their home life.

Did you know that if either husband or wife have the toe next to the big toe that is the longest, that person will be the boss in the new family?

In some places in North Carolina it is a folk belief that if a husband or a wife should stray from home the other should burn seven persimmon sprouts in the fire and the unfaithful one will have seven pains and return home.

Orange blossoms are the traditional scent for the bride. The old custom of bathing the bride in holy water and sprinkling perfume on her is for the purpose of attracting the spirits of good will to the couple. The wedding band is worn on the left hand third finger because the old belief was that the vein of love, runs from that finger directly to the heart and in 1579 Edward VI ordained the use of the left hand third finger for this reason. The ring, itself an unbroken circle, is the symbol of the eternity of the love of the couple.

The bride and groom cut the first slice of wedding cake together and share it, or drink from the same cup to symbolize the fact that they will hereafter share all their possessions. The old custom

Mrs. Lela Scott returned from Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill last week. She is getting along fine after having surgery there, and is recuperating at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Archie Snipes of the Waycross Community. She will return home after she improves still more. Her address is Mrs. Lela Scott, c/o Mrs. Archie Snipes, RFD, Magnolia, N. C. and we are sure a note or card from friends would be most welcomed.
