Pre-Registers At Chapel Hill

CHAPEL HILL--Doc Brinson of Kenansville, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Brinson of Box 8, Kenansville, N. C., has just completed a day-long pre-registration session at the University of North Carolina here.

Entering students are encouraged to participate in pre-registration prior to their coming to the University in the fall. Other days designated are July 10, 13, 20, 27, and 21, and Aug. 3.

During pre-registration, students take placement tests, prepare their course of study, and familiarize themselves with the campus. It is co-sponsored by the Office of Undergraduate Admissions and the General College.

The University of North Carolina is the nation's first state university, chartered in 1789 and open to students in 1795. The cornerstone of Old East, the University's oldest building and now a national shrine, was laid in 1793.

The University is composed of 14 colleges and schools and more than 70 departments. The student body enrollment is expected to exceed 18,000 in the fall--more than 2000 of these are freshmen and 1,000 are transfer and new students. There are nearly 1500 faculty members.
