

From L.A. Archibald

A delightful tale of unexpected happenings during a snow storm in North Dakota is found in THE SNOW PARTY by Louise Schenk de Rogiers. It tells of a "little old woman" and a "little old man" who live in a "little old farmhouse". They are extremely poor, and during the snowstorm they are very lonely. The woman wishes she could have a party -- her wishes are fulfilled as several travelers find their cars snow-bound and must seek shelter until the snow plow comes to help them out. How 84 grown-ups, 17 children, 7 babies, 8 dogs, a cat, a parakeet, a canary bird, and a little pet rabbit all fit into the farmhouse and how they are all fed and have a wonderful party is an interesting story of the unexpected for both children and adults.

ALL IN A SUITCASE by French Morse is a book for children which uses the letters of the alphabet to describe and depict various animals such as the Aardvark, the booby bird, cod, dolphin, and flamingo. Each letter of the alphabet is put into a small rhyme, for ex.: My relatives in Boston Have never seen a horse I'll take them one, though they'll insist It's mythical, of course.

The simple plot of the story is a trip to Boston, where the narrator will take all the animals via a suitcase. He ends by saying: I am going to Boston, And because I am so smart, I think I have my letters All by heart.

All in my suitcase, unless I forget, I have learned my alphabet.

A charming tale which is colorfully illustrated and which will not only aid children in learning the alphabet, but also teach something about the different types and unfamiliar types of animals.

The Duplin County Library has recently acquired a series of 12 musical books for young people. One volume includes various instruments and a description of their use in an orchestra or band; another volume describes places of musical fame such as New York's Lincoln Center for the performing Arts, Carnegie Hall and the Metropolitan Opera House, the history, architecture and use of Philadelphia's Academy of Music, Washington's Constitution Hall, Boston's Symphony Hall are discussed in an interesting and easy to read style. Finally, famous European and foreign music halls and opera houses are described. Of the Staatsoper in Vienna, the author states: "Vienna is an unusual city. In no other place in the world has music been so important and have so many composers and musicians lived and worked. Such outstanding men as Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Wagner, Richard and Johann Strauss have all made Vienna their home. In this music-minded city most opera performances are given at the Staatsoper, or the State Opera." The book also includes a description of the Bolshoi Theater in Moscow and the Kabuki in Tokyo.

The volume on "The Story of Musical Notes" describes methods of writing music both ancient and modern. It also deals with the basics of music theory. These books are excellent for junior high and senior high students interested in music and wishing to know more about this field. Well written, easy to read and understand so that both adults and young people will profit and be enriched by reading these books.
