Honored On Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Norwood King honored their daughter, Beth, on her 10th birthday, Saturday afternoon March 31st with a party at their home on Rt. 1, Faison.

Games and refreshments of cake, ice cream, do-nut holes, potato chips and drinks were enjoyed by the following: Mrs. Clifton, Phyllis Blackmon, Cindy Anders, Kaye Anders, Kathy Weeks, Diane Weeks, Debbie Harrell, Carol Harrell, Felicia Bass, Booky Oliver, Maria Cruz, Diane Hinson, Anita Waters, and Jenifer Foster. Beth's sister, Mary, led the group in games and assisted her mother in serving refreshments.

Sewing Festival

The whole Spring 1973 home sewing picture will be yours to view at the Sewing Festival announces Mae H. Spicer, Duplin County Extension Home Economist. Drapery making, slip covering, and making curtains will be among the features spotlighted in the sewing for the home category.

National, state, and local Home Economists will show the latest sewing techniques in Greenville, April 10, at the National Guard Armory from 1 to 9 p.m.

Fashion Reviews for the entire family, special classes in zipper application, and creativity with scarves will also be featured.

Homemakers in Duplin County have the opportunity to take a bus to Greenville on April 10. The bus will leave the Agricultural Building in Kenansville, Tuesday, April 10, at 10 a.m. and will leave Greenville to return home around 5 p.m. The transportation cost is $2 if the bus is loaded. Reservations are now being taken at the Home Economics Agents Office on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The Sewing Festival is sponsored by the N.C. Extension Service in cooperation with the Northeastern District Extension Homemakers Association.
