

ESC Announces Public Service Employment

By: Charles M. Ingram
Mrs. Elizabeth H. Grant, Manager of the Kenansville Office of the North Carolina Employment Security Commission, announced this week that a program to provide Public Service Employment (PSE) has been funded. The PSE program is intended to provide incentives to government agencies and nonprofit organizations to train and hire personnel. These personnel will be recruited from the recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) through the Work Incentive Program (win), which is jointly sponsored by the Federal Government and the North Carolina State Government.

Under the PSE program an agency or organization may be reimbursed for 100% of the trainee's salary and fringe benefits during the training period, which may be from eight weeks to twelve months, depending upon the skill level of the occupation. The trainees are hired under the same conditions as all other employees hired by the employer. Trainees will receive the minimum starting wage rate as the normal entry wage. An agreement between the employer and the Employment Security Commission will identify the training occupation and training period. The job should meet an unprovided public service need.

The employer's obligations consist of hiring and training the employee, providing adequate supervision, maintaining and attendance records, submitting monthly invoice for reimbursement, and continuing the employment upon successful completion of the training. The employers' sole cost is the cost of supervision. Employers' benefits consist of contract reimbursement of trainee's salary and fringe benefits during training period, the satisfaction of assisting a disadvantaged person become a taxpayer, and the contribution to community social betterment.

Mrs. Grant stated that any interested employers can obtain additional information by contacting the Employment Security Commission Office, located in the Old Welfare Building, on Seminary Street, in Kenansville. The telephone number is 296-4791.

SAFETY TIP

Pesticides should always be locked up when not in actual use or under the watchful eye of a responsible person. North Carolina State University extension specialists caution that you should not use an insecticide indoors unless it is recommended on the container label for indoor use.

GLASS FABRICS

Glass fiber fabrics are quickly washed, rinsed and used again without ironing. They are especially popular for window treatments.
